OBITUARIES.

Florida Conference.

WILLIAM M. FISHER came into our Conference by transfer at its last annual session, held at Fernandina. He was appointed to the Deland Charge, and commenced his work as pastor on Sunday, Jan. 23. He preached his last sermon Sunday evening, Feb. 28, doing so under great physical and mental pressure. Although he came to us as a man of fine physical proportions, and apparently in excellent health, yet in the eight short weeks after he came his work was ended. He was a man of beautiful Christian life, of earnest purpose, and profound faith in God. He gave evidence of great usefulness in our work, and when he fell so suddenly, it was felt that we were indeed bereaved. He was delirious during a great part of his illness, and yet he seemed always ready to respond to the name of Jesus, his last expression being, "Blessed Jesus!"

South Carolina Conference.

WILLIAM DARRINGTON was born in 1809, and died July 25, 1884, aged seventy-five. He acquired some knowledge of books during the time when it was considered a crime for a slave to know how to read, which was of great use to him in after years in teaching his people God's will as revealed in the Scriptures. Brother Darrington gave his heart to Christ in early life, and was an exemplar of piety in the community in which he lived. He held important offices in the Church before the war, and when God, through his providence, took off the shackles of slavery from him, he became one of the "pioneers" of the South Carolina Conference in re-organizing the "old mother Church" in South Carolina. He joined the Conference in 1867, and was appointed to Williamsburg County, where he succeeded in organizing fifteen churches. He was an honored instrument in God's hands of accomplishing a great work there in the salvation of souls. His work will only be seen in eternity's morn, when many shall rise up and call him blessed. He also filled quite a number of other important appointments acceptably and successfully. For two years or more Brother Darrington suffered greatly from poverty and affliction. Often he was without bread for himself and family of eight small children, but in these straitened circumstances he never forgot to go to his heavenly Father, who provided for him shortly in some unexpected way. Brother Darrington was a man of strong faith, and ever trusted in his God. His sickness was quite protracted and painful, but he was greatly comforted in his last moments with the presence of his Master, and on July 25, 1884, he quietly entered into rest.

LEWIS RIVERS was born in Charleston, S. C., Dec. 25, 1846, and died at Pleasant Plain, Lexington County, S. C., April 26, 1884. His parents were free, but, like many others of his race, he was dispossessed of his freedom and forced into bondage until freed by the results of the war of the Rebellion. Almost his entire life previous to his emancipation was spent in the service of Capt. Boutelle, of the United States Coast Survey Service; and although entirely against his will, his years of servitude were those of fidelity to the trusts committed to him, and cheerfulness and hope for a future deliverance. It came to him in the year 1865, in Greenville County, where, in common with others of his race, he breathed the first air of freedom. His early educational advantages were, under circumstances, necessarily limited to the bare rudiments of knowledge, which he improved to some extent by his own unaided efforts. He was afterward a student at Baker Theological Institute. Brother Rivers was converted in his youth in Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Charleston; and although his surroundings on shipboard were not calculated to assist him to a broad spiritual development, yet he ever clung to the cross as the sheet-anchor of hope that could defy the raging billows and storm of life. He was admitted into the Conference on trial, December, 1868, and into full connection, January, 1874. He also taught a day school, both in this State and in Florida. Brother Rivers contracted a severe disease in his comparative early life, which caused him many hours of deep sorrow, pain, and suffering, and which to some extent hindered his usefulness as a minister of the Gospel. He well deserved and largely had the charity of his brethren in the ministry. To the writer he said, after the close of the last session of our Conference: "Brother Jimmy, I am dying slowly. I don't think I can hold out this year, but I will go to the work assigned me, and die at my post." And the sweet singer of our Conference literally "died at his post"—the post of duty to God and humanity. O what heroism, poverty, and even death awaited him! "But none of these things moved him." He was a good preacher and a superior singer. Let us inscribe upon the tablet erected to his memory this epitaph, "He died at his post."

North Carolina Conference.

MATTHEW ALSTON was born in North Carolina nearly three quarters of a century ago. He was converted in early life, and learned by stealth to read the word of God. When the long-prayed-for freedom came, and men of inferior qualities sought the emoluments which come through political favors or barterings in trade, and others the purer sentiment of a Northern clime, he remained in poverty with his benighted freedmen that he might hold up the banner of the Immanuel and win them to Christ. He showed by the example of his own godly life the efficacy and power of the Gospel which he preached. An elder said of him: "I have been intimately acquainted with him for forty years, and the Christian character of Matthew was above suspicion." He entered the active work of the ministry in 1865, and was ordained, according to the missionary rule, by Bishop Payne, of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, at their Southern Conference, held in Georgia, May, 1866. He was subsequently elected to elder's orders, and ordained by Bishop Wayman at a Conference in Wilmington, N. C. He served acceptably and successfully on the station in Greensborough, N. C., and when that Church severed its connection with the African Methodist Episcopal Church and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, he cast in his lot with them, and was received by Bishop Simpson, at the Conference in Lincolnton, N. C., in 1870, and appointed presiding elder over Central District. He was removed and appointed over the Raleigh District, at the Conference in Charlotte, by Bishop Ames, in 1873; the following year he was appointed over the Charlotte District. In the choice of delegates for General Conference, in 1876, at the Conference held in Winston, Brother Alston received twenty-one of the thirty votes cast. He continued to preside over the above-named district until the Conference at Raleigh, in 1881, when, on account of failing health, he was relieved from that duty, and appointed to Kernersville Circuit by Bishop Warren. In 1882 he served, in great feebleness of health, Mount Tabor Circuit. His health was poor for several years, but he continued to preach and held his charge with the assistance of young men. Conscious that his work was done, he applied for and obtained a superannuated relation at our last Conference. He bore his illness with Christian patience and fortitude, ever solicitous for the welfare of the Church and the Conference. He suffered long, but was finally relieved by death, and sank peacefully to rest on the bosom of his God, on April 1, 1884.

Mississippi Conference.

A. K. Davis.—[Obituary not received.]

George W. Barney was born in 1837, in the city of Baltimore, Md. He came to this State in 1865 and settled in Clarke County, near De Sota, at which place he remained for some years. He joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1867, under the pastorate of Rev. Jesse Fern, and in 1868 he was licensed to preach by the late Rev. James Lynch. He did efficient work as a local preacher until 1863, at which time he was admitted on trial into the Mississippi Conference, held at Canton, by the late Bishop Simpson, from which he was appointed to Brookhaven, where he remained for three years, gaining many souls for the glory and honor of God. During one of his revivals at this place seventy-five were converted and added to the Church. In 1866 he was appointed to Enterprise, from there to Enterprise Circuit, where he remained three years. In 1871, at Holly Springs, he was ordained deacon by Bishop Scott. In 1874, in Aberdeen, he was ordained elder by Bishop Merrill. His next appointment was Shubuta, where he remained two years. From there he was appointed to Macon, Ga. There he remained three years and did a great work. From there he was appointed to Yazoo City; he remained there for two years, working day and night, trying to complete the brick church commenced by Rev. G. Brooks. In 1882 he was appointed presiding elder of the Greenwood District by Bishop Peck, where he remained two years, doing a successful work. In 1884 he met in Conference in the city of Jackson in great feebleness. Many of the brethren asked him to take a rest, but he declined. After Conference he returned to his home, in Yazoo City, where he remained until Feb. 9, when the weary wheels of life stood still to move no more.

Jacob Cannon was born in Newberry County, S. C., in 1812, and died at Benton, Miss., Oct. 19, 1884. He had been a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church for sixty years, and a minister of the Gospel for forty-nine years. In 1871 he joined the Mississippi Conference at Holly Springs, Bishop Scott presiding. His first appointment was on the Shugulak Circuit, where he remained three years. He received regular appointments from the Conference until 1883, when he took a superannuated relation. Brother Cannon has gone home to the rest prepared for the righteous.

Levi Clayton died Dec. 8, 1884. He joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1876, in Lauderdale County, Miss., having been for some years a licensed preacher, in good standing, in the Baptist Church. He became a very successful minister. His first appointment was Paulding Circuit, where he did a grand work, bringing many souls to God. He remained there three years, to the great delight of the people. Then he was appointed to Brooksville, and preached there three years. Shugulak was his third and last appointment. At this place he died as a hero in the service of Christ. His last words were: "It is a good thing to die in the service of Christ. O it is good to wait on the Lord! I am not afraid to die!"

Isaac Mosley was born in 1833, in North Carolina. In 1855 he was converted and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in which he remained until the close of the war. In 1871 he was ordained deacon by Bishop Scott. His first appointment was West Point, where he remained three years. He was then appointed to Starkville, where he also remained three years doing a good work; thence to Crawford, after which he was re-appointed to West Point. While serving on Columbus Circuit, in the latter end of 1884, his health became impaired, from which he never recovered, and on Dec. 28, 1884, he was called from labor to reward. Before he died he said to one of his brethren, "Tell the brethren that I will meet them in the General Conference in heaven." He was a faithful pastor, a loving husband, and a good Christian.

Gilbert Harden was born in 1799, and died at his home, in Natchez, Miss., June 21, 1884. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Simpson, Jan. 10, 1869, in Canton, Miss. Brother Harden was a faithful minister for about forty years, and died in the triumph of faith. Before he died he said: "I feel that I have fought a good fight."

Baltimore Conference.

Wilford Downs, son of Wilford and Sarah Downs, was a native of Virginia, born near Lexington, March 12, 1827. He was converted at a camp-meeting in 1849, and was given an exhorter's license Jan. 2, 1850; the Quarterly Conference of Fincastle Circuit granted him license to preach August 19 of the same year. At the Conference held at Winchester, Va., March, 1851, he was received on trial, and from thence until the contraction of his fatal disease he continued in the effective ranks, abundant in labors, fervent in spirit, serving the Lord; and on Oct. 12, 1884, after a period of thirty-three useful, laborious years, he quietly fell asleep, in the city of Baltimore, in the fifty-eighth year of his age. He had served the Church in the following appointments: Moorefield, Va.; Augusta, Va.; North Baltimore Station, Baltimore; Altoona, Pa.; Lock Haven, Pa.; Boonsborough, Md.; Frostburg, Md.; Frederick City, Md.; Lewiston, Pa; Jefferson Street, Baltimore; East Baltimore Station, Baltimore; Strawbridge, Baltimore; West Baltimore District, Baltimore; South Baltimore Station, Baltimore; Waugh, Washington, D. C.; and Monroe Street, Baltimore. As a preacher, Brother Downs was scriptural, practical, intensely earnest, and generally hortatory. He was clear in his statements, and made out what he had in hand. He was possessed of a powerful voice, which, when fired by emotion, was clear as a silver bugle. He was a most successful worker in revival meetings, and at camp-meetings was frequently put forward at the evening service when the battle was fully on. As an administrator, he was exceedingly careful. Honesty of intention appears on every page of record touching his acts as pastor. His accounts are kept with great exactness. Every detail of pastoral work is attended to and noted, even down to his own liberal and constant contributions to the various benevolences of the Church. He seems to have been a peace-maker, stilling strife, but his own convictions of right and wrong were never subordinated to policy. He was united in marriage to Miss Martha Cornelius Feb. 5, 1857. She made his home beautiful, was an admirable helpmeet, and he frequently attributes his success in life largely to her loving and constant co-operation. She survives him, with seven of the nine children whom God had given them. One of these children, our young brother Howard F. Downs, has caught up the Gospel trumpet as it fell from his father's nerveless hand, and goes forth into the great harvest field admirably equipped for his glorious work. God send him a double portion of his father's spirit! At the very last his devoted wife asked, "Is Jesus precious?" To which, with great emphasis, he replied, "He is very precious; precious; precious!" When speech failed he raised his hand in answer to the same inquiry, and at ten o'clock in the evening he was not, for God had taken him.

Central Pennsylvania Conference.

N. S. Buckingham was born in Montgomery County, Va., Sept. 13, 1821, and died in Lewisburg, Pa., Sunday, April 27, 1884, aged sixty-two years. He was licensed to preach in 1843, and, joining the Baltimore Conference, was appointed to Front Royal, where he remained one year. The following is a complete list of his subsequent appointments: Front Royal, Bellefonte, Northumberland, Lexington, Jersey Shore, Berwick, Havre de Grace, Shippensburg, Mifflin, Huntingdon, Highland, Concord, Mifflin, Carlisle Circuit, Frostburg, York, Shamokin, Bloomsburg, Danville District, Bedford, Harrisburg, Vine Street, and Lewisburg, where death found him as he entered upon the labors of his third year, after forty years of faithful and abundant labors in the Gospel. Blessed with good health, and a strong and vigorous constitution, he was able to accomplish an amount of work that would have been fatal to many of his brethren; but there is a limit beyond which the strongest cannot safely go. Into the work of the Master he threw all his force; and when the great revival in his charge at Lewisburg drew to its close, and the scores of rejoicing converts swelled the ranks of the church, and gladdened the hearts of all, it became evident that the pastor had overtaxed his strength. The end came very quickly—a few weeks of physical prostration, and then, almost before his friends thought of imminent danger, he passed away. His death was a fitting close to a life so well spent. To his wife's remark, "You will soon be with Jesus," he at once replied, "Why, of course, where else could I be?" His last words were, "God is now my eternal refuge." As a minister of the Gospel he was a faithful, energetic, and constant worker. He was especially gifted in prayer, and was at home while talking with God; so much so that those who listened could not but feel that they were in the audience chamber of the Deity.

Abram M. Creighton was born near Lewiston, Pa., April 16, 1831, and died at Philipsburg, Pa., July 7, 1884. In his nineteenth year he was drawn to Christ. His conversion was very clear, and soon he grew into a strong and vigorous Christian. All his after life brought forth the fruits of the Spirit. He was licensed to preach by the Quarterly Conference of Newville, and in 1857 was admitted into the East Baltimore Conference. His first appointment was to the Concord Circuit. The following places were subsequently blessed with his ministry: Lock Haven, Warrior's Mark, Beaver Meadow, Sunbury, Montoursville, Ashland, Trinity Church, Danville; Renova, Montoursville, Hazelton, and Philipsburg. On the completion of his third year at Philipsburg, with failing health himself, and a wife gradually going down in weakness, he asked to be relieved for a time from the responsibilities of the ministry. His request was sorrowfully granted by his brethren, and returning to Philipsburg he engaged in business. Down to death he commanded the respect and confidence of the public. In September, 1882, his faithful wife was called from their home here to the home above. Ten months later our brother followed her. Side by side they rest in the old burying-ground near Gray's Church. Brother Creighton was a man of noble and commanding appearance, with a face beaming with kindness—the expression of a large heart overflowing with love and sympathy. His religion was practical rather than sentimental. He excelled in practical things. This disposition found expression in all his pastoral work and in all his preaching. He aimed at immediate results in saving men and in building up the Church. His works do follow him. In all his charges he has left the impress of his practical hand.

John W. Cleaver was born in England, July 3, 1836. He came to America with his parents and settled in Baltimore in 1844. His father, who was a local preacher in England, joined the Jefferson Street M. E. Church, Baltimore. At the age of twelve years John was happily converted. He had presented himself at the altar of prayer during the day in the Sabbath-school, and that night, while on his bed repeating the Lord's prayer, when he came to the petition, "Thy will be done," he felt that he was uttering the sincere desire of his heart, and immediately the burden was lifted, and he realized very clearly that God's Spirit bore witness with his spirit that he was a child of God. He at once connected himself with the Church, and soon after became impressed that it was his duty to preach the Gospel, and began to prepare himself accordingly. In 1858 he was received on trial in the East Baltimore Annual Conference. His respective appointments were Manor Hill, M'Connellsburg, Westernport, Concord, Saxton, Newport, Half Moon, Milesburg, Williamsburg, Martinsburg, New Bloomfield, and Mount Union. In 1883 he took a supernumerary relation, and moved with his family to Bedford, Pa., where he died Dec. 3, 1884. Brother Cleaver was an intense sufferer for several years. He consulted the most eminent physicians of Philadelphia, Baltimore, and other places, but all failed in giving permanent relief. Physicians differed as to the nature of his ailment. An autopsy revealed that a fatty degeneration and enlargement of the amentum and mesentery folds caused his death. Brother Cleaver's social qualities and conversational powers were of a very high order. He possessed a vast store of general information, and this, combined with his cheerful disposition, rendered him a most enjoyable companion. As a minister, he was faithful, earnest, and successful. In every field in which he labored sinners were converted and believers strengthened and built up in the faith of the Gospel.

New Jersey Conference.

Joseph Ashbrook, A.M., son of Joseph and Margaretta Ashbrook, was born in the city of Philadelphia, Jan. 5, 1808. He was converted to God in 1826. The following year, 1827, he was licensed to exhort by Rev. William Thatcher, and two years later, June, 1829, received license to preach from Rev. Charles Pitman, and was sent as supply on Cumberland and Cape May Circuit, to assist Rev. Waters Burrows. After testing his qualifications for a time in the ranks of the local ministry, he was recommended to the Philadelphia Conference as a suitable person to be received into the traveling ministry; and in 1830 was admitted on trial in that Conference, which then included portions of Pennsylvania and Maryland, and all of Delaware and New Jersey. Of his classmates, Josiah Canfield, now in the West, and Dr. Lewis alone remain. Brother Ashbrook's first appointment after entering the Conference was Camden, as junior preacher, having William W. Foulk as colleague. His subsequent appointments were St. John's, Philadelphia; Reading, Pa.; Cape May Circuit. In 1836, the Conference having been divided, he became a member of the New Jersey division and was stationed at Pemberton, and returned in 1837, when he was again sent to Camden, then to Paterson; Haverstraw, N. Y.; Elizabethtown, Burlington, Princeton, Flemington, Gloucester City, Woodbury, Pennington, Lambertville, Harrisonville, Millville, Cedarville, Sharptown, Penn's Grove, Bridgeport, Blackwoodtown, South Amboy, Crosswicks, and Bridgeborough. While at Bridgeborough he was called to part with his beloved wife, who died in great peace, April 5, 1877. In 1879 he was appointed to Windsor, his final charge. In 1880, after fifty-one years of effective relation to his Conference, without a single break in the whole period, he concluded that it was now time for him to step aside and give place to younger men. He accordingly accepted a supernumerary relation, settling in Burlington, N. J., one of his former appointments. In 1878 he was united in marriage to Miss Abbie Dewson, of Bridgeborough, an excellent Christian lady, who has been to him a faithful and loving companion. In 1883 he moved to Camden, and connected himself with the Quarterly Conference of Third Street Church, the scene of his labors fifty-three years before. Here he rendered the pastor timely help in the work of a large and important church. When his health permitted he was ever ready to preach the word (which he frequently did, to the great gratification of the people), to visit and console the sick, and to bury the dead. In the prayer and class meetings, and in revival services, he was a tower of strength, possessing remarkable power in exhortation and song, which he was always ready to use to the Master's glory. Thus, in the supernumerary relation, he proved himself no idler in the vineyard. In the spring of 1884 he was quite sick, and for some weeks was confined to the house, but his vigorous constitution prevailed, and he was able to be about again, though it is doubtful if he was entirely recovered. This condition of his health, together with that of his wife, led him in the summer of 1884 to go to Island Heights, N. J. Here he became much interested in the camp-meeting held there, and rendered valuable service not only in preaching to the people, but in his soul-stirring gospel hymns. None who were present at the closing exercises of that camp-meeting will ever forget his singing "Palms of victory, crowns of glory," and the blessing which descended, not upon the singer only, but upon the entire assembly. He received a gracious baptism on that occasion, and, in speaking of it a few days afterward to J. B. Graw, D.D., he said: "I would as soon die here as anywhere." He preached his last sermon in the church at Tom's River, Sunday morning, August 24, from the text, "As I live, saith the Lord, I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked." All who heard him were greatly delighted and profited. As a man, Brother Ashbrook was finely developed, both physically and intellectually, and as kind and genial in spirit as any we have ever known. As a Christian, he was an Israelite, indeed, in whom there was no guile. As a preacher, he was plain, evangelical, and earnest, never failing in his discourses to impress his hearers with the fact that he fully believed the truths he proclaimed in their hearing, and keenly felt the responsibility that rested on him to warn the people of the wrath to come. As a pastor, he was kind and sympathetic, yet ever faithful to his trust, and to the souls committed to his care.

David Duffell was born in Camden, N. J., September, 1801, and died in Clayton, N. J., July 11, 1884. He was converted and joined the Church in 1832. He was connected with the old Third Street Church, Camden. He was class-leader, exhorter, and local preacher, and was admitted into the New Jersey Conference in 1839. He became supernumerary in 1866, thus spending twenty-seven years in effective work, and for six years of his supernumerary relation he was regularly employed in preaching. Brother Duffell was extremely diffident and retiring in spirit, and only entered upon the work of the ministry because God called him to do so. He was a man of more than ordinary eloquence, and his preaching was frequently attended with unusual power. The work of the ministry occupied all his time, and challenged the utmost of his ability, and it was a great trial to him when compelled by physical disability to retire from active service. He was dignified, but unassuming, and although, because of his natural timidity, somewhat difficult to become acquainted with, when thoroughly known he was one of the most kind and genial of men. Always full of love and sympathy for his brethren in the ministry, he in turn was held in high esteem by all who knew him. One who knew him well, after expressing his personal regard for him, says: "But who did not love him? and his talents and fine qualities commanded admiration. His every expression was eloquence; the dignity of his character was very impressive, and his soul appeared to be filled with the spirit of the Gospel." Five years ago, on February 19, he was stricken with paralysis, and for some time his life was despaired of; but it was the will of his Father that he should remain a while longer. He lived in daily expectation of death, and while he had a fear of the struggle of death, his prospect for the future was bright. On Friday, just one week before his death, he said to his wife: "Dear, I don't know but it would be desirable to be taken out of the world quickly." She replied: "Don't think of those things so much; they give you trouble, and it is not well for you to do so." He replied: "You know, and I know, it can't be far off, and I want to familiarize myself with the subject." On Saturday night following he seemed to have a premonition of the end. While preparing for bed, quietly but distinctly, he said: "Dear Jesus, don't leave me in this hour of great extremity." That night a second stroke of paralysis came, and with it the beginning of the end. He lingered, calm, peaceful, resigned, and conscious, until Friday, February 11, when he fell asleep. He leaves a wife to mourn his removal from her side; several children also, one of whom is a local preacher, are saddened in the death of such a father.

Samuel T. White was born, Nov. 18, 1857, at Oceanville, N. J. He was early impressed with his duties to God, but not until Feb. 19, 1872, did he yield to the Spirit's influence. At a cottage prayer-meeting near his own home he was soundly converted to God. At this early age he made himself useful in class-meetings, prayer-meetings, and in exhortations. He had the call of the ministry upon him, and felt that he must be better prepared for his life-work. In 1876 he entered Pennington Seminary as a student. He improved rapidly in his studies, attended faithfully to his religious duties, and was highly esteemed for his religious character. His influence and life are remembered to this day, both in the church and in the seminary. In the spring of 1880 he was employed by Rev. W. W. Moffett, presiding elder of Trenton District, and appointed to Pennsville. On June 2, 1880, he was united in marriage to Miss Hannah R. Adams, who has been a true and faithful helpmate to him, and who, with one son, survives him. In the spring of 1881 he was sent to Groveville, where his labors were blessed with a glorious revival. While stationed here, in the spring of 1882, he was received on trial in the New Jersey Conference. In 1884 he was admitted a member, and ordained deacon by Bishop Harris, and appointed to Mullica Hill. Though his health was giving way, he entered upon his work zealously. About the first of September he was confined to his bed. He was a great sufferer, but he endured as a good soldier for Jesus, never murmuring or complaining of his lot. When told that he could not live long he was greatly surprised, and said, "I had no idea that I was so near death. I thought I would get well and preach the Gospel again; but if it is the Lord's will to take me, I am ready and willing to go. I feel that I am fully prepared by faith in the blood of the Lamb." At one time when in great agony he asked, "How long do you think I shall live and suffer?" And when told only a few days, he smiled and said, "O, it is a joy and a comfort to my soul to know that I am so near my heavenly home." Again he said, "Tell my dear old mother that Sammy died in the faith, and breathes a prayer that God will sustain and comfort her." He passed away in great peace, Dec. 28.

Philadelphia Conference.

William M'Combs was born on Jan. 31, 1808, near Newark, Del., and died at his home in Philadelphia, surrounded by his loved and loving family, on Sept. 20, 1884. In the fourteenth year of his age he sought and found the Saviour, and at once united with the Church of his parents. Sixty-five years of service he gave to his Redeemer, forty-six of which were spent in the ministry within the bounds of the Philadelphia Conference. To him the Gospel was not a myth, but a divine revelation of grace—"the power of God unto salvation." He tested it, and through his personal consciousness he knew it to be true. He believed it to be needful for all men, suited to all men, sufficient for all men, and that he was divinely commissioned to proclaim it to all men. The Gospel that he proclaimed was not one of doubt, but of assurance. No truth was so gloriously true as the truth in Jesus. He proclaimed it with boldness and constancy. He did not seek outside of the Gospel for pulpit themes "suited to the times." He found in the Gospel that which is suited to all times and all peoples. The aim of his preaching was not to amuse, not merely to entertain, or even to instruct, but to save men from sin, and to lead them to perfect holiness in the fear of God. His labor was not in vain. God greatly blessed him in his work, and gave him encouraging success. During his long and faithful ministry he turned many to righteousness; but how many will only be known "when the books are opened." Brother M'Combs was a man of clear perceptions, sound judgment, strong will, deep affection, and unswerving friendship. He entertained a profound respect for the personal rights and constitutional privileges of all his brethren. He felt a sincere and ardent interest in the Conference of which he was a member, in the districts over which he presided, and in the pastoral charges committed to his oversight, but he did not believe that their welfare could be promoted by the oppression of any individual under the plea of the general good. Hence, he studiously aimed so to exercise the power that his official relation gave him, that the rights of each individual should be equally protected. He enjoyed and deserved the confidence and affection of his brethren. Thrice they elected him as one of their delegates to the General Conference, and his judicious counsels and diligent attention to business amply justified the wisdom of their choice. During the last six years of his life he was greatly afflicted. He had strong reasons for believing that the affliction would not end until the heart should end its pulsations. Thoughtfully and seriously he looked forward toward the issue. Brother M'Combs was twice married; Jan. 11, 1841, his first wife died in great peace. May 9, 1843, he married Elizabeth C. Shelmerdine, eldest daughter of Dr. Robert C. Shelmerdine, of Baltimore, Md., and afterward of Philadelphia, who made for him a happy home, and who, with two sons and one daughter, survives him.

Michael D. Kurtz was born in the city of Lancaster, Pa., Nov. 4, 1815, and died in Roxborough, Philadelphia, Nov. 4, 1884, on the sixty-ninth anniversary of his birth. He was the oldest effective preacher in the Conference, having served the Church for nearly forty-seven consecutive years as a minister, surviving the entire class with whom he entered the Conference, with the exception of Brothers Gasaway Oram and Joseph Mason. His parents dying while he was but a boy, he was left to carve out his own way under the direction of that Providence without whose notice not even a sparrow falls to the ground. Thus directed he came to Philadelphia and found employment, and although trained and taught in the faith and forms of the Lutheran Church, yet such was the influence of the conversion of his older brother, and his uniting with the Methodist Church in Lancaster, on his mind, that he sought out St. George's Church in this city, where he heard the Gospel preached with so much power as to produce deep conviction and a determination to find the pearl of great price, and consecrate himself to the service of God, which he did very soon thereafter, at Union Church, and at once became one of its members. Very soon he was found to possess more than ordinary abilities, and to excel in exhortation and sacred song, qualities that he retained through life. In due time he was licensed as a local preacher. In 1837 he was called out by Rev. James Smith, presiding elder of the North Philadelphia District, to assist Rev. Caleb A. Lippencott on the Germantown Circuit, where they were favored with one of the most powerful revivals ever witnessed in that town. In 1838 he was admitted on trial in the Philadelphia Conference, and appointed to Reading and Pottsgrove Mission; then with Rev. William Torbert to Nottingham Circuit, after which he received the following appointments: Church Hill, Dover, Tolbert, Easton, Church Creek, Centreville, Dorchester, Radnor, Marietta, Ebenezer, Philadelphia; Wharton Street, Philadelphia; West Chester, Easton, St. John's, Philadelphia; Twelfth Street, Philadelphia; Elkton, St. George's, Philadelphia; Salem, Philadelphia; Pottstown, Oak Street, Norristown; Cheltenham, Memorial, Philadelphia; Union, Philadelphia; Central, Roxborough, where he closed his ministry, and "ceased at once to work and live." Brother Kurtz was a model Christian minister, kind and mild, yet firm in his disposition, winning the confidence and esteem of all with whom he came in contact, and his memory is embalmed in the hearts of the thousands who have been committed to his pastoral care. As a preacher, he was not sensational, nor specially eloquent, but a pure Gospel preacher, with clear, strong exposition of the Scripture, applied with an earnest spirit to those who heard him, and we are not surprised that his ministry was a great success, and that revivals nearly always crowned his labors. He was married in 1842 to Miss Sally Ann J. Smithers, by whom he had two daughters, one of whom survives, to almost worship his memory. Later in life he married Miss Annetta C. Jones, of Church Creek, Dorchester County. In October, 1884, he was very ill, and in the short space of nine days passed from labor to reward. Every step of the way down into the valley was illuminated by the divine Presence, so that he said to visiting ministerial brethren just before his death that "his head and heart had been right, and that he was unspeakably happy." Thus he entered into rest. We shall no more hear the sweet music of his voice, nor see the brilliant flash of his eye when filled with the rapture of divine love, till we see him in the glory of the first resurrection.

John E. Kessler was born in Strasburg, Lancaster County, Pa., Sept. 20, 1832. He was converted and joined the M. E. Church, September, 1851. He was admitted on trial as a member of the Philadelphia Conference in March, 1858, and served the following charges in the succession here recorded: Fulton Circuit, St. George's, Second Street, Vine Street, Harrisburg; Halifax, Safe Harbor, Coatesville, Grove, St. Peter's, Reading; Cumberland Street, and Belmont, where on March 11, 1885, he closed life on earth in the last week of the Conference year, having served the full term of limitation in every charge since his reception into full connection. He was a man of good mind, studious habits, godly life, plain, practical, and sometimes powerful as a preacher. He sought as the one work of his life the conversion of souls, and was blessed in no small degree with success in his much-loved work. Many were added to the Lord in every one of his charges. His life was one of devotedness to God. His private life, social intercourse, and public ministry impressed all familiar with them with the conviction that he had exalted conceptions of Christian dignity and ministerial responsibility. As a faithful pastor, he discharged his duties with a loving heart and great tenderness of spirit, bearing to the afflicted words of consolation, and wise counsel to those who needed his pastoral oversight. His personal experience was greatly enriched during the summer of 1866 at a camp-meeting in Dauphin County, Pa. There he received a wonderful baptism of the Holy Ghost, and a clear sense of the cleansing power of the blood of Christ. During the fall and winter of that year, and the succeeding year, the most marvelous success attended his ministry; hundreds of souls were converted. He was only permitted to spend a day or two at Conference, although it was the closing year of his term. In his home he was all a devoted husband and loving father could be, while firm in discipline, never harsh, ruling his household without the feeling of pressure; with great gentleness of spirit he impressed his family with his own views of right and wrong. Nearing the close, he turned to his wife, who was trying to hide her tears, and said, "O, darling, think of the better land!" His last words were to his precious boy, as he took his hand and said, "Good-bye, my boy, God bless you!"

South-west Kansas Conference.

P. P. Wesley was born, March 31, 1849, in Pulaski County, Ky. While yet a boy, scarcely fourteen, he caught the spirit of the war. Yielding to the inspiration of patriotism, he laid his young life upon the altar of his country as a sacrifice, if need be, for the cause of the Nation. He served out the term of his enlistment, and was honorably discharged in December, 1864. The war not being ended, he again offered himself, and was re-enlisted in the State cavalry, in which service he remained until after the close of the war. In the fall of 1866 he was converted and joined the M. E. Church. His religious experience was clear and satisfactory. His conversion marked both his spiritual and intellectual quickening. From that time he applied himself with persevering diligence to his mental improvement. On April 14, 1867, he was married to Miss Susannah Godby, who proved a faithful and helpful companion. His widow and seven children he leaves as wards of this Conference, in the confidence that we would not let them suffer for the comforts of life. In the fall of 1872 he was duly licensed as a preacher of the Gospel. In the spring of 1873 he was employed to supply the Williamsburg Circuit of the Kentucky Conference. The following spring he was admitted on trial, doing efficient work in all the charges to which he was appointed until his transfer to the South Kansas Conference, in 1880. He was stationed two years at Sedgwick, during which time he served that charge to great profit. At the time of the division of the South Kansas Conference he was appointed to the Canton Circuit, which he served one year. In the spring of 1883 he was stationed at Great Bend, and re-appointed to the same charge at the last session of our Conference. He was serving this charge successfully when death called him hence. As a preacher, he stood fair in the estimation of those who knew him. In preaching he was more intellectual than emotional. His appeal was more to the judgment and conscience than to feeling. At times, however, he deeply moved his hearers with some affecting incident of his observation or experience. His sermons gave evidence of careful preparation. Usually they were written in full; always practical in application, methodical in arrangement, clear in statement, correct in theology, and saving in influence. On Sept. 22 he quietly fell asleep in Jesus.

Northern New York Conference.

P. D. Gorrie was born in Glasgow, Scotland, April 21, 1813, and died on Sept. 12, 1884, in Potsdam, N. Y. When quite young he went to Vermont and spent some time in teaching. It was about this time that he was converted and called to preach the Gospel. The Church acknowledged his call, and he was licensed to exhort by the Rev. David Poor, of the Troy Conference. He soon left Vermont and came to New York State, when he joined the old Black River Conference, and received the following as his fields of labor: Canton, Fort Covington, Bombay, Bangor, Norfolk, Jordan, Camden, Ogdensburg, Potsdam, Canton, Adams, Potsdam District, and Potsdam. He was a delegate to the General Conference in 1856 and 1860. In 1860 his health obliged him to give up preaching, and he has lived most of the time since then in Potsdam. The four years he spent on the Potsdam District were marked with great prosperity, and gave general satisfaction to all concerned. As a preacher, he took a high rank. His sermons were sound, evangelical in doctrine, systematic, logical, clear in statement, and will long be remembered as models of excellence. At the annual sessions of his Conference he was placed on important committees. It was during his second pastorate in Potsdam that the present church edifice was erected, and, by his untiring energy, he was very efficient in its erection, as he was also in the erection of a church at Adams during his pastorate there. His ministry was often attended with revivals. Such was his anxiety in this direction that he frequently called to his aid not only his brethren on adjoining charges, but the labors of evangelists. As a pastor, he was attentive to the interests of those under his care. His parishioners, attracted by the deference they had for his judgment, turned to him as a father in matters pertaining not only to their spiritual, but to their temporal, welfare. His services on funeral occasions were often called for among his older brethren long after his pastorate among them had ceased.

E. C. Brown was born in Vernon, Oneida County, N. Y., Oct. 2, 1811. When about seventeen years of age he was converted, in days when meetings were held in school-houses and barns. He very soon felt called to the ministry, and was given license to exhort. He was ordained deacon while a local preacher by Bishop Soule in 1841. He commenced traveling as a supply in May, 1842. In August of the same year he joined the Oneida Conference, and by change of boundaries he successively fell into the Central New York and the Northern New York Conferences. He was married in January, 1843, to Miss Anna Kern, of Pine Woods, Madison County, N. Y., a lady who, in her long association with him in domestic life and the itinerant ministry, has demonstrated her eminent fitness for the position. He was ordained elder by Bishop Hamlin in 1844. His fields of labor, in nearly all of which he served the full disciplinary term, were as follows: Georgetown, Truxton, Lenox, Vernon Centre, Verona, Smyrna, East Hamilton, Marcellus, Fabius, Aurora Street, Ithaca, Cortland, Manlius, Pratt's Hollow, Union Springs, Port Byron, Cleveland, Albion, New Haven, Earlville, Deansville, and Maynard. In 1883 he was superannuated at his own request, feeling, as he expressed it, that "fifty years in the effective ranks would do." He was a laborious preacher, often delivering three sermons on the Sabbath, and never using notes. The Rev. Dr. Bush, who knew him in his early ministry, testifies of him as follows: "His preaching ability was somewhat remarkable. I have heard him preach sermons worthy of our most eminent men. Indeed, I have never heard him when he did not rise quite above mediocrity." His labors were often attended with powerful revivals. As a pastor, he was industrious, faithful, sympathetic. He verified the doctrine of entire sanctification in his own experience. He was a beautiful singer, retaining to the close of life the flexibility and sweetness of his voice, which he used to great effect in social meetings. His familiar conversation was characterized by a quaint humor, the outgrowth of a vivid imagination and a cheerful heart. He was passionately devoted to his family, who will ever revere him as a model husband and father. He loved all the institutions of the Church. His last sickness was of two months' continuance, during which he suffered much with great patience and fortitude.

George G. Daines was born in Randolph, Vt., in 1828, and died in Hamilton, N. Y., Aug. 3, 1884, after an illness of eleven days. He was brought to the saving knowledge of Christ, in Pittsfield, Vt., at the age of seventeen. After long and prayerful thought upon the subject he became convinced of his divine call to the Christian ministry. As soon as practicable he entered the seminary of learning in Springfield, Vt., and began the course of intellectual preparation for his life-work. In 1856 he entered the Wesleyan University at Middletown, and was graduated with honor in 1859. In July of the same year he married Miss Mary A. Fay. The first two years after graduating were spent in Amenia Seminary as principal There he daily trod in the footsteps of distinguished predecessors, among whom were Revs. Davis W. Clark, E. O. Haven, and Gilbert Haven, afterward Bishops of the M. E. Church. In 1863 he joined the Black River Conference, of which the Northern New York Conference is the successor, and was appointed principal of the Conference Seminary in Gouverneur, N. Y., in which position he continued for several years. On Nov. 25, 1866, he was united in marriage with Miss Celestia S. Burnet, the accomplished preceptress of the Gouverneur Wesleyan Seminary, who for many years has been to him a valuable counselor and help, and who, with two sons, survives to mourn her loss. Brother Daines's decided preference was for the pastoral work, but he was frequently diverted from it by the importunate calls of institutions of learning. The seat of the Conference Seminary having been transferred from Gouverneur to Antwerp, N. Y., he was urgently requested to take charge of it, which he did, having the aid of his cultured wife for preceptress, from 1873 to 1875, and again from 1878 to 1880. This closed his connection as a teacher with institutions of learning. In 1880–82 he was stationed at Central Square, N. Y., where he was instrumental in promoting a glorious revival and of building a new church on one part of the charge. In 1883 his appointment was at Hamilton, N. Y. Here, in the midst of his plans and labors for the church, in the second year of his term, he was suddenly bidden to exchange work for reward. Brother Daines was a man of dignified, manly presence. He was a favorite with his brethren, constant as a friend. He was tender and affectionate in his domestic relations; never more happy than when in the midst of his family. He was a good scholar, a patient and successful teacher. Many of his pupils were won to Christ by his holy example and his tender words. He was an excellent pastor. He carried every interest of his charges upon his great heart. Many, both adults and children, now rise up and call him blessed. He was a painstaking and instructive preacher. His long practice as a teacher naturally led him into a didactic style in the pulpit. His people learned to exprect something profitable from his lips, and they were never disappointed. He spoke from a heart surcharged with love to Christ and love for souls.

Wilmington Conference.

T. T. Cooper, D.D., was born in Dover, Del., March 16, 1806, and died April 12, 1884. When about twenty-three years old he was converted, and joined the M. E. Church. From that time on till the day of his death he led the life of a pure and devoted Christian. In the spring of 1834 he was admitted into the Philadelphia Conference. His first appointment was to Talbot Circuit. He was afterward appointed successively to Kent Circuit, Eighth Street, Philadelphia; Salem, in the same city; Chester Circuit, Dover Circuit, Middletown and Odessa, and St. George's. It was during this year that he attended his aged uncle, the venerable Ezekiel Cooper, in his last sickness and death, and contracted a violent cold which disabled him so that he did not take an appointment in 1847. He was stationed at Wharton Street Church in 1848, but in a few months was placed on the South Philadelphia District, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the election of the late Bishop Scott to the agency of the Book Concern in New York. In 1851 Dr. Cooper was appointed to Nazareth, in Philadelphia. Concluding about that time to leave the city for the benefit of his health, he purchased a lot at Village Green, and was appointed to that charge in 1852 and 1853. He was at Crozierville in 1854 and 1855, and at Union, in Wilmington, in 1856. His health having failed again he returned to Village Green, where he remained two years. His health improved, and being anxious to die in the regular work, he sold his place at Village Green, and was sent to Talbot Circuit in 1859, where a quarter of a century before he began his itinerant career. It was his last appointment in the effective work of the itinerancy. In 1860 he removed to Camden, Del., where he purchased a home and spent the remainder of his life. During the twenty-four years of his residence there he was at times a great sufferer, but whenever he was able he engaged zealously and earnestly in his Master's work—preaching, attending class, attending the Sunday-school, and all the means of grace. Thoroughly Methodistic in doctrine, he defended the tenets of his Church with clearness and ability. His faith in God and the atonement of Christ was unwavering, and his confidence in the higher attainments of Christian experience was bright and cheerful. Nothing delighted him more than to be in a religious revival, where he could mingle his shouts and praises with those of the redeemed, and counsel those who were seeking "to enter in at the strait gate." Dr. Cooper was an able and impressive preacher. He was a man of unbending principles, of positive convictions, and uttered his sentiments fearlessly, but with a dignity becoming the lofty character which he sustained. A warm advocate of temperance, and every progressive movement in moral reform, he was unswerving in his devotion to the cause he espoused. This characteristic gained him some bitter enemies, but attached to him true friends of the better type who loved him for his goodness and admired him for his manliness. In answer to a question asked by his son, Dr. E. W. Cooper, he gave a speechless signal that all was well. Thus he exchanged the suffering and solicitudes of earth for the bliss of heaven.

John L. Taft was born in the State of Virginia, Dec. 25, 1812, and died at his residence in Norristown, Pa., May 30, 1884. In 1829 he removed to Philadelphia, and in 1833 he was received on trial in the Philadelphia Conference. His appointments were: Snow Hill, Md.; Salem, N. J.; Mauch Chunk, Pa.; Norristown, Pa.; Bustleton, Pa.; Germantown, Pa.; Frankford, Pa.; New Castle, Del.; four years in Philadelphia; Port Deposit, Md.; Easton, Pa.; Pottsville, Pa.; and Manayunk, Pa. At Manayunk his health gave way, and the Conference, at his request, granted him a supernumerary relation, and he moved his family to Norristown, Pa. In 1865 Bishop Scott sent him as presiding elder to Richmond, Va., where he was very successful. In 1866 he was appointed to Northampton County, Va.; 1867, to Accomac and Northampton; 1868 and 1869, to Seaford, Del. In 1870 his appointment was merely nominal; 1871-74 he was presiding elder on Snow Hill District. At the end of his term as presiding elder he took a supernumerary relation, never again to enter the effective work. About 1876 he became totally blind, and in November, 1883, he was stricken with paralysis. After suffering in patient resignation the will of God for several months, he was received into rest. In person Brother Taft was of slight build, and in both manner and feature betrayed his French extraction. Socially he was affable and companionable, and it required no apparent effort on his part to maintain the reputation which entitled him "a Christian gentleman." As a preacher, his pulpit efforts were well received, and he was exceedingly happy in pastoral work. In this brief notice of a long term of active service in the ministry we note the faith and mark a few of the characteristics of the worker, but the man himself, the true measure of his endeavor, and of the value of his work, we can never know until we meet him in heaven.

John Shilling was born, Feb. 15, 1832, in Halstead Parish, England. He was converted and united with the M. E. Church in 1847. He subsequently removed to Delaware, and was among the first to volunteer in defense of the Union. His bravery and good conduct won for him early promotion. Called to the chaplaincy of his regiment, he was ordained during the session of the Philadelphia Conference in March, 1865, by Bishop D. W. Clark. Convinced that he must preach the Gospel, he was assigned work on Princess Anne Circuit in 1868. At the first session of the Wilmington Conference, March, 1869, he was received on trial and appointed to Brandywine, where he remained until 1871. His subsequent appointments were Princess Anne, Annamessex, Roxanna, Appoquinimink, Christiana, and Brandywine. In 1884, in Asbury Church, Wilmington, where fifteen years before he was received on trial, he was granted a supernumerary relation. Brother Shilling was twice married—in 1853 to Margaret Kirkbride, of whom he was bereft by death in 1867, after the gift of three sons; and in 1869 he was married to Emma Massey, who survives him, with four sons, to cherish his memory. He was an humble, pious, brave, and noble man of God. Always positive in his convictions, he was radical, and never conservative; indeed, he could not be conservative. To him there was no middle ground in any thing; to him every thing had the aspect of being virtuous or vicious. As he steadfastly supported the one he aggressively denounced the other. In his home, he was kind but firm; among the people, gentle and sympathetic, yet wise and trusty, preserving the poise of sanctified manliness. His religious experience was clear, permanent, and exultant. Less brilliant than many of his brethren, he was an earnest and acceptable preacher. Twice called to two charges, and spending in them ten of the fifteen years of his ministry, these appointments stand as a monument to his memory.

Henry Colclazer, son of Thomas and Elizabeth Colclazer, was born at Georgetown Heights, D. C., Sept. 1, 1809, and died, Dec. 18, 1884, in Philadelphia, Pa. In the spring of 1829 he entered the Ohio Conference, and was appointed to Wayne, Ohio. For a while he was known as "the boy preacher." In 1830 he was sent to Black River; in 1831 he was received into full connection and appointed to Ann Arbor, Mich. In 1832 he was sent to Detroit, then the most important station in Michigan. From there he was returned for six years to Ann Arbor, two years as pastor and four years as presiding elder. In 1840 he was sent to Detroit again, and for six years remained there, first as pastor of Detroit Station, then as presiding elder of Detroit District, and then for one year as Agent of the American Bible Society. On account of affliction in his family, in 1846, he asked for and obtained a location, but in October of that year he was requested by Bishop Hedding to take charge of the church at New Brunswick, N. J., made vacant by the appointment of Rev. William Roberts as missionary to Oregon. He came and remained until the spring of 1848, when he went to fill out an unexpired term at Wharton Street, Philadelphia. In 1849 he was re-admitted into the traveling connection by the Philadelphia Conference. The appointments he served in the order as named were: Cambridge, Md.; Pottsville, Pa.; Port Deposit, Md.; Nazareth, Philadelphia; and Milford, Del. In the spring of 1857 he was made presiding elder of Snow Hill District, serving the Church faithfully and wisely in that critical portion of the work during those unsettled years which preceded the civil war. In 1861 he was appointed to the pastorate of Centreville, Md.; next to St. Michael's, Md.; Dover, Del.; and then to Middletown, Del.; Newark, Del.; New Castle, Del.; Galena, Md.; Seaford, Del.; Georgetown, Del., in all which places his work was blessed in the conversion of souls, and the advancement of the Redeemer's kingdom. In 1882 he was sent to Bethel, Md., where he spent two years in the midst of an appreciative people. This was his last charge. At the Conference of 1884, having been in the active work for more than fifty-five years, he asked for and obtained a superannuated relation, and went to reside in Philadelphia. It was very apparent that the grand old hero of many a well-fought battle was still yearning for the active service, and hoping yet to do something toward vanquishing the hosts of the enemies of the Lord, but on Dec. 18, 1884, after a brief illness, throughout which he was sustained by that Jesus whom he had so long and so ably preached to others, he committed himself to Heaven's care and "fell asleep," going to swell the number of those to whom he so tenderly refers in his semi-centennial sermon as "our promoted fellow-workers." In 1840 Brother Colclazer represented the Michigan Conference in the General Conference, and in 1860 he was elected to the General Conference by the Philadelphia Conference. He was twice married—first to Asenath True, in 1835, in Ann Arbor, Mich.; then to Sallie A. Hicks, of Cambridge, Md., daughter of Thomas H. Hicks, then Governor of Maryland, who died in 1858. As a preacher, he was evangelical, pathetic, instructive, logical, full of striking incident, always interesting, and often grandly eloquent. As a pastor, he was watchful, faithful, tender, and his walk among the people every-where awakened profoundest respect. As a presiding elder, he was skillful, diligent, useful, full of sympathy for his brethren, and his quarterly visits were seasons of spiritual and social delight, and especially helpful to young ministers under his care. To his brethren in the ministry he always exhibited the character of the true, refined, polished, dignified, and considerate Christian gentleman. In and out of the pulpit his life was above reproach.

Newark Conference.

Sylvanus W. Decker was born in Orange County, N. Y., Oct. 18, 1807. In 1837 he was licensed to preach. In 1838 Rev. Manning Force, P. E., appointed him as a supply for Springfield. At the Conference in 1839 he was admitted on trial, and returned to Springfield. His subsequent appointments were as follows: Orange, New Prospect, where he was engaged in a glorious revival, and hundreds were brought to Christ; Vernon Circuit, Stanhope, Stillwater, Quakertown, and New Egypt; while at this last appointment he was made chaplain to the State-prison at Trenton, where he was continued two or three years. To sustain his growing family he engaged in mercantile business, and became deeply involved in debt. Greatly embarrassed, and under great mental depression, he withdrew from the ministry, saying, "How can I preach the Gospel when I owe $4,000?" He gave up all his property to his creditors, and moved to Jersey City, and, after earnest prayer, he again commenced business, promising, if success attended him, he would pay all his old debts. He was greatly prospered, and, though not legally bound, yet he felt himself morally bound to pay every debt, principal and interest, which he was able to do. This was a noble example of honesty. While in Jersey City, such was his godly life and his religious influence, that the preachers felt he ought to be restored to the Conference, and his name was re-entered upon our Conference roll as a supernumerary with work. He moved from Jersey City to Paterson, and spent the most of his later years in that city, where he was looked upon as a man of God, pure in life, and an efficient worker in the Church. He supplied a number of appointments in the vicinity, and was ever ready to work for Christ and souls. He was a generous giver, and regularly gave a tenth or more of his income to the Church and its benevolences, and to the poor. Two or three years since, his health utterly failing, he asked for and received a superannuated relation. He leaves a widow, the companion of his life, children, and grandchildren.

Edward Morrell Griffith was born in Elizabethtown, N. J., March 5, 1822, and died at Hilton, N. J., May 23, 1884. He was licensed to preach by the Burlington Quarterly Conference in 1843. The following year he was admitted to the New Jersey Conference, and was stationed at Tom's River—a circuit which comprised nearly the whole of what is now Ocean County, and which required four weeks to fill the round of appointments. As he was the junior preacher, and unmarried, he was expected to keep in motion; consequently he had no boarding-place, and tarried only a night. But the Lord was with him, and a remarkable revival at Crammertown rewarded his labor. In 1845 he was sent as colleague with Rev. James Long on the Tuckerton Circuit, which, like that of Tom's River, was thirty-five miles in length. Here again the Lord was gracious, and visited his people. In 1846 he was appointed to Columbus Circuit, with six places to preach. The next two years he ministered at Mendham and Bernardsville, and revivals broke out in both places. He was married, March 7, 1849, to Miss Marietta Kitchell, of Morristown, and the union proved a very happy one. This estimable lady survives him. During 1849 he was stationed at Caldwell, then at Dover, Middletown Point, Heightstown, and Belvidere. In the spring of 1858, when the New Jersey Conference was divided, his lot was cast with the Newark Conference, and he was pastor at Vienna during the next two years. In 1860 he preached at Rockland Lake, N. Y., and then, on account of broken health, he was in the supernumerary list until the spring of 1867, when he was stationed at Peapack. After this he filled the following appointments: Somerville, Woodbridge, Woodrow, Staten Island; and Frenchtown. Subsequently he moved to Hilton, near Newark, where he resided until death. Brother Griffith was a student. His sermons were carefully prepared, and, in the days of his strength, were delivered with energy and effect. They were logical. That was their prime characteristic, though they were not wanting in other qualities when occasion called them forth. Whatever of pathos there might be in his preaching was rather the pathos of earnestness. Revivals of religion were not uncommon in the charges where he ministered, and many souls were converted through his efforts. But his great work as a preacher was in the edification of believers and the establishing of the Church in the faith; and it is not too much to say that in this department of Christian labor he was abundantly successful. Dowered with a disposition to look upon the bright side of things, he enjoyed the lights of itinerant life, and was not depressed by its shadows. The disease which ended his days pursued him for many years, his parishioners unconscious that the beloved pastor was sometimes standing in peril to declare to them the unsearchable riches of Christ. But it was his meat and drink to do the will of Him who sent him. Thoughtful men enjoyed his ministry, and many thoughtless people were awakened by the truth he preached. Hundreds in his old charges will hear of his death with sorrow, and recall his labors of love among them with mournful joy.

Isaac Cross was born at White Plains, N. Y., Nov. 22, 1811, and died in the city of Washington, Nov. 21, 1884. In the year 1835 he was received on trial in the Philadelphia Conference. His active ministry was embraced within the bounds of the New Jersey and Newark Conferences. His appointments were: Mount Horeb, Woodbridge, Perth Amboy, Port Richmond, West Bloomfield, Hope, New Germantown, New Providence, Fairfield and Pine Brook, Asbury, Lafayette, Wantage, Fairfield and Pine Brook (the second time), Chatham and Livingston. In the spring of 1862 his effective work in the Conference ceased. For twenty-seven years he had stood with his brethren in the thickest of the battle, having proved himself a faithful soldier and true comrade. Thenceforth he moved in other spheres, and the relations of intimacy and friendship, so pleasantly sustained with his Conference, were largely severed. But his zeal for his Master never abated. He did not forget that he was still a minister of the Gospel. Few men have had a loftier view of the Christian ministry, a deeper conviction of its responsibilities. Making his home at Washington, immediately after his retirement, he served for several years, under appointment of the American Missionary Society, as missionary to the colored people. He also acted for a number of years as chaplain to the Freedmen's Hospital. In addition to these labors his services extended to the Washington City Almshouse and the United States Insane Asylum. The opportunities found for doing good in such fields were heartily embraced and faithfully improved. The subject of our sketch was an acceptable preacher. He was clear, strong, earnest, and practical. He made the best use of his opportunities. Not claiming to be a master in the sciences, he understood the Scriptures and knew how to handle them. Those who heard him preach heard the "word." He aimed at immediate results. On some of his charges his ministry was honored with large revivals. At no place where he labored did he fail of conversions. A glance at the list of his appointments shows that his first charge was the only one at which he did not remain to the full limit of the pastoral term. He was a faithful pastor. The extensive revivals which occurred under his ministry were largely promoted by his earnest labors from house to house. The good man was an ardent lover of the "word." He never read the newspaper or any other book in the morning before he had read his Bible. He was also a man of much prayer. He would permit no engagements, no pressure of work, to interfere with his devotions. When conversing with his family it has frequently happened that he would suddenly leave their presence, as if seized with some new idea, and, retiring to an adjoining room, prostrate himself in humble, earnest prayer. As he neared the final hour, with strength rapidly failing, the question was tenderly asked how he felt. With feeble voice he answered, "I hardly know, but I have such sweet peace in Jesus." Leaving such clear, bright testimonies behind him, the venerable servant of God passed from suffering to rest, from labor to reward.

George Winsor was born in Devonshire, England, Nov. 18, 1813. He died in Milford, Pa., on Sunday morning, Dec. 28, 1884, and was buried from the M. E. Church of that place. He was received on trial in the New Jersey Conference in 1839. Two years subsequently he was ordained deacon by the sainted Bishop Hedding, and in 1843 was ordained an elder by the same. When the Conference divided, in 1858, his lot fell among the brethren on the Newark side, with whom he has been laboring ever since its organization, sharing its vicissitudes and enjoying its honors. For forty-three years, without intermission, he was present at the calling of the Conference roll in health and vigor anxious and willing to serve the Lord and Master in any part of his vineyard. His pulpit productions gave evidence of thorough preparation and careful thought. Every sentence was chaste and marked with precision and grammatical accuracy. His lamp glowed with beaten oil, and from the treasury of a well-stored mind he brought forth things new and old which failed not to minister grace to the hearers. Dignified and solemn, he was without austerity; sociable, without levity. Strictly devoted to his calling, and, feeling the vows of God were upon him, he never turned aside to secular pursuits nor worldly emoluments. His piety shone more like the radiance of a fixed star than like the sudden bursts of the meteor's flash. He was free from the gush of feelings in their uncertainties, and chose duty because it was duty, and followed the right because it was right. Yet was he not a stranger to those lofty emotions which sometimes thrill the soul and carry the spirit beyond its normal condition. He was a firm believer in the doctrines, discipline, and economy of the M. E. Church, and kept them for conscience' sake, believing it was under God the best system ever devised by man for bringing lost souls to God; and he counted it the highest honor to be called by the great Head of the Church to the work of his holy ministry. His appointments to various fields of labor in the cities and rural districts attested the appreciation of his talents by his brethren, in all of which he gave full proof of his sincerity in bringing souls to Christ, and in building up the Church of God. Every appointment was received as from the hand of Providence, and many in the great day will rise up and call him blessed. On these various fields his name is an ointment poured forth, fragrant with precious memories. No stain of wrong or breath of suspicion ever soiled his pure robes nor tarnished his escutcheon, and his zeal knew no abatement amid the shadows and vicissitudes of life. In the year 1843 our brother was married to Miss Harriet Olmsted, of Milford, Pa. There were born to them two children, one daughter and one son. In the full measure of his ministry he filled the following appointments, giving forty-three years of unbroken service to the cause he held dearer than life: Rome and Wantage, Nyack Circuit, Milford, Flanders, Newton, Rahway, Stapleton, S. I.; Asbury, Pennington, Belvidere, Union Street, Newark; Plainfield, Bloomfield, Woodrow, S. I.; Mariner's Harbor, S. I.; Trinity, Newark; Fulton Street, Elizabeth; Palisades, Jersey City; Rahway, First Church; and Rossville, S. I. At the close of this year, full of hope and honor, he felt constrained to ask for a supernumerary relation, being debilitated from malarial influences contracted during his last pastorate on the island.

Edwin A. Day was born in New Providence, N. J., Jan. 8, 1828; he died at Eatontown, N. J., Nov. 9, 1884. He was converted under the ministry of his brother, the Rev. Mulford Day, in 1842, and at once joined the Church. His thoughts were soon turned toward the ministry, for which he began to prepare. In 1851 he was admitted into the New Jersey Conference, and appointed to Parsippany Circuit with Isaac Cross, after which he was on Bergen Station, Greenville, Bernardsville and Basking Ridge, Bound Brook, Irvington, Phillipsburg, Piermont, N. Y., and Plainfield, where his health failed, and he took a supernumerary relation. Retiring to his home in New Providence, in 1864, and seeing no probability of re-entering the active work, he entered into business relations with George Morrow, in Jersey City, which relations continued until his death. In all these twenty years he was the true friend of the Church, contributing liberally to its support, and attending faithfully whenever health permitted. Brother Day was a preacher of more than ordinary ability. He was an earnest student, grasping clearly the great facts and truths of the Gospel, and of other books, and storing his mind with them for use in his work. His preaching was intellectual, fervent, pathetic, and "with the Holy Ghost sent down from heaven." He was modest, and naturally timid, but when he rose to preach he spoke boldly the Gospel of God. He was greatly beloved in all the churches where he labored, and "many were added to the Lord."

New England Southern Conf.

Caleb S. Sanford was born in Homer, N. Y., June 9, 1812, and died in Mansfield, Mass., June 15, 1884. He was converted at the age of twenty-one, and united with the M. E. Church. Two years later he was licensed to preach, but did not enter fully upon the work of the ministry till 1853, when he united with the then Providence Conference, of which he remained a worthy member till his death. With loyalty to God and the Church of his choice, though in feeble health for several years, he did what he could for the cause of the Master. Going to his appointments cheerfully, and laboring faithfully, he was beloved wherever he was called to labor. Holding the superannuated relation for several years, he was a great help to the pastors where he resided. He labored in the capacity of leader, Sabbath-school teacher, and also preaching when needed, as his health would allow. Brother Sanford may not be remembered as one who by sprightliness and dash gained the large appointments, and gathered around him admiring crowds; but he will be as one who, at the call of duty, laid aside a good financial business to preach the Gospel, with prospective poverty before him. He was a true man, a consistent Christian, a sound and earnest preacher, and a good husband and father.

Charles Morse was born in Providence, R. I., Feb. 19, 1821, and died in Putnam, Conn., April 1, 1885, aged sixty-four years. In 1842 he was licensed as an exhorter, and in 1843 as a local preacher. His success in this capacity confirmed his convictions and convinced his brethren that he was called to preach. In 1845, at the age of twenty-four, he was received into the Providence Conference, now New England Southern, as a probationer, and in 1847 was ordained deacon by Bishop Hedding, and in 1849 elder by Bishop Hamline. His appointments were, in 1845-50, Square Pond and Willington; subsequently at East Hampton, Conn.; Hazardville, East Glastonburg, Greenville, West Thompson, Willimantic, East Hartford, Rockville, Stafford Springs, Burrillville, Worth, and Rehoboth. From this time, 1864 to 1865, he was superannuated till the time of his death, with the exception of the year 1876, when he was stationed at Attawaugan, Conn. He was an indefatigable worker—attending to every part of the work required of a minister, but especially was he intent on laboring for the conversion of sinners, bringing them into the Church, and building them up in Christian knowledge and holiness. In a great revival in West Rehoboth his work was so intense and continuous that he utterly broke down in body and mind. A whole year was a blank to his memory; he had to be treated as a child; all expected he would die of softening of the brain; he seemed a perfect wreck at the early age of forty-four. But in twenty years in the ministry he had done the work of a life-time twice as long. But, contrary to all expectation, he began to improve, and removed to Putnam, Conn., bought a small farm, began to do a little work on it, and in a year or two ventured to attend church and some social meetings, and slowly improved so as to do considerable work on his farm, and so occasionally to preach in the neighboring churches, Methodist and other evangelical denominations; but he never recovered his health so as, with the exception of one year, to engage in the effective work. But he did not live in vain even in these years of weakness and suffering. His godly life and his useful and very acceptable services endeared him to all Christian people in Putnam and in all the surrounding towns. He was married in 1838 to Miss Almeda Bolton, of Stafford, Conn., who has been a helpmeet for him in all his labors and trials for forty-seven years. They had eight children, five of whom survive him; two of them, Rev. George A. and Rev. Charles S. Morse, are esteemed and able ministers of the same Conference with their father, and all of them members of the Church. He was an able and acceptable minister of the Gospel of Christ.

Theophilus Byram Gurney was born in Greenwood, Me., March 22, 1824, and died in East Bridgewater, Mass., Sept. 24, 1884. In 1844 he was licensed to preach. For a time he was a student in North Bridgeton Academy, in his native State. In 1847 he was received on probation in this Conference. He was ordained deacon in 1850 by Bishop Morris at Providence, and elder in 1853 by Bishop Baker at New Bedford. On March 25, 1849, he was married to Miss Rebecca R. Newcomb. For twenty years he was in the effective ranks in this Conference. In 1867 he was granted a supernumerary relation with work, which relation he sustained four years, when he was made effective and transferred to Georgia Conference Five years later he was re-transferred to this Conference, where he did effective work until our late session, when, because of failing health, he was granted a superannuated relation. His pastoral record is as follows: East Harwich, Hyannis, South Wellfleet, Truro, Mansfield, South Abington, Northwest Bridgewater, Quarryville and Andover, Somers, East Hartford, Uncasville, Portsmouth, Cumberland, East Blackstone, East Thompson, Satilla Mills, Ga.; Rome, Ga.; North Tisbury, Marion, Barnstable and Yarmouthport, Cochesett, and Marshfield. He preached several times in the five months preceding his death, the last three Sundays at Abington. The night after his last sermon he suffered a severe attack of his disease—rheumatism—but was taken home the next day. On Tuesday a physician was called, who thought he would be about again in a few days. Early Wednesday morning he remarked to his son that the pain seemed to have changed. The son asked whether it was more or less severe, to which he made an indefinite reply, and was gone. Brother Gurney's sermons were well prepared, clear, and thoughtful, and so delivered as to impress his hearers that he believed and felt the Gospel that he preached. He was a faithful pastor, who left tokens of progress in the charges he served. He was a true man, a faithful friend and brother, a devout Christian, and a fearless servant of God.

East Maine Conference.

A. S. Townsend was born July 19, 1833. He was a good Gospel preacher, a practical man, and one who knew men and things. He was quick to see, prompt to decide, positive in his opinions, and frank in uttering them. He took good rank in his Conference, and was delegate to the last General Conference. His influence and usefulness were never greater than at the hour of his death; and probably life never looked pleasanter or more hopeful to him than then. His charge was an enjoyable field, and he was successful in it. With improved church edifice and a hopeful church, he was looking on with interest to the Conference session. But in the midst of it all death found him, and without a goodbye or the doing of an undone thing, he was with the undying.

Nathaniel Norris was born at Dorchester, N. H., March, 1797, and died at Groton, N. H., Nov. 10, 1884. There is but slight data for tracing the long life just closed or of forming an estimate of its character and worth. His official record is covered by a few items. The Minutes indicate that he joined the Maine Conference in 1825, and the list of his appointments for fourteen years is given. He was stationed at Sandwich, Milton, Broxton, Fayette, Waterford, Hampden, Readfield, East Vassalborough, Windsor, Woolwich, Boothbay, Searsmont, and Soper. Here the public record closes, save the fact that at the division of the Conference, in 1847, he fell into the eastern division, but there is no trace of his work thereafter.

Hiram Murphy was born in Appleton, Me., July 11, 1809, and died in Friendship, Me., July 18, 1884. At the age of nineteen years the Church recognized his call to Gospel labor. In 1857 he was received on trial by the East Maine Conference. He was admitted to membership in the Conference, and ordained to deacon's orders by Bishop Ames. He received ordination to the office of elder by Bishop Scott. His appointments were as follows: Clinton Charge, Lincolnville and Hope, Knox Circuit, Friendship and Cushing, Washington and Appleton, North Waldoborough, and Washington,. In 1866 he was made supernumerary on account of feeble health. The remaining eighteen years of his life were passed in supernumerary and superannuated relations to the Conference, and in equal divisions of time. In these relations he served the Church as health and opportunity permitted, ever cherishing a warm heart toward Christ's cause. Brother Murphy was devotional in spirit and noble in character. In his superannuation he contributed annually to the benevolences of the Church. He was an earnest, able preacher, a faithful, loving friend, and an exemplary citizen. He died in the full triumph of that Gospel which he had preached to others, declaring, as his last testimony, "All is peace."

Vermont Conference.

Nathan F. Perry was born in Violet, Province of Quebec, Oct. 15, 1840, and died in Saint Albans, Sept. 17, 1884. He became a member of Vermont Conference in 1872, and filled successively the following appointments: Ludlow, three years; Brattleborough, three years; Springfield, three years; Bellow's Falls, one year; Saint Albans, three years. As a pastor, he was uniformly acceptable and successful. As a man and minister of the Gospel, he possessed many excellent traits of character which greatly endeared him to the people and to his brethren in the ministry. He was characterized by great purity and blamelessness of life. His daily conduct was a beautiful illustration of the Gospel he preached. But for his unassumed modesty he might have said, with great propriety: "Ye are witnesses, and God also, how holily and justly and unblamably we behaved ourselves among you that believe." He was a man of great gentleness of spirit. He had distinct opinions and strong convictions, but in giving expression to them he manifested a thoughtful regard for the opinions and feelings of others. When necessary he could rebuke sin with great plainness and vigor, but he always did it in the spirit of meekness and love. He was a man of marked zeal and devotion. After once deciding to enter the ministry he sought to qualify himself for that work, and having entered upon it, he gave himself wholly to it. All his time and powers were devoted to his sacred calling. His preaching, praying, and personal admonitions were all aglow with spiritual ardor. He was a man of unusual discretion. His zeal was great, but it was yoked with equal wisdom. By his judicious management he was always master of the situation, and held an easy restraint over others as over himself. He controlled men by reason rather than by authority or assertion. He was faithful to the word of God as the standard of doctrine and duty.

Believing most heartily in the inspiration of the Holy Scriptures, and in their sufficiency as a rule of faith and practice, he was never guilty of the folly of substituting "the enticing words of man's wisdom" for the words of God's own testimony. He was withal a truly genial and companionable person. The cheerful and contented spirit within him beamed forth in his countenance, and made him a pleasant companion and a helpful friend. His godliness was not of the sour kind. In the pulpit, the prayer-meeting, the families of his parishioners, and his own family, he manifested the same gentle, loving spirit of the genuine Christian.

Gary B. Houston was born in Walden, Vt., April 2, 1806, and died at Hardwick, Vt., Aug. 15, 1884. At the age of eighteen he acknowledged the divine claim to his life and service by surrendering himself to the Saviour. He entered the itinerancy by joining the New Hampshire Conference in 1831. In 1833 he was admitted to full membership, and ordained deacon by Bishop Hedding. He received ordination as an elder at the hands of Bishop Emory in 1835. For two years he was stationed at Derby, Vt., after which he served Barton, Derby, Lisbon, N. H.; Lyman, N. H.; Lunenburg, Vt.; Montpelier, Vt. In 1848 he was stationed at Pittsfield, Vt. Here failing health compelled him to retire from the active work of the pastorate. Subsequently, taking a superannuated relation, he secured a home in Hardwick, Vt., where he passed the remainder of his days—not in idle waiting, but calling the people of his neighborhood together, preaching to them the word of life. He was a good man, full of faith, and the Holy Ghost, ever abounding in the work of the Lord. To use his pastor's words: "Brother Houston was a royal character; a more faultless man in spirit and conversation I have not known."

Nathan W. Scott was born at Hartford, Vt., Nov. 4, 1801, and died at Glover, Vt., Nov. 8, 1884. At about twenty-one years of age he embraced religion, and in 1825 united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. The same year he was admitted on trial in the New England Conference, and appointed to Newbury Circuit, Vt. The next year he was stationed at Dorchester, Mass. At the proper time he was ordained deacon; then elder. Brother Scott was a man of undoubted piety, a good and successful preacher. For some time he was treasurer of the Conference funds. He was an affable Christian gentleman, highly esteemed, sympathetic, and benevolent. He was calm and peaceful in his last days. No fear or dread, but the utmost assurance that "all is well."

Daniel Lewis was born in Underhill, Vt., Feb. 8, 1832. He was converted to God at the age of fifteen. In the spring of 1856 he united on probation with the Troy Conference, and was stationed at Isle La Motte. In 1857 he was united in marriage with Miss Jane Phillips, of Westford, Vt., and was assigned to Montgomery, Richford, and East Berkshire Charges. He remained here for two years, and the church was blessed with a continuous revival. At the Conference of 1859 he was appointed to Wolcott. For two years he served upon Grand Isle and South Hero Charges. He was then stationed at Essex and Jericho, Addison and Panton, Burlington District, and Winooski. During the year 1867 he purchased a homestead and located his family in Hardwick. The following year he was appointed to Hardwick Charge. Here he served a term of three years with eminent success. From 1871 to 1875 he labored in West Concord, West Burke, and West Berkshire. He was again stationed at Hardwick, where he passed three years, after which he had a three-years' pastorate at Sheffield and Wheelock. At the Conference of 1882 he was appointed to the Newport and Newport Centre Charges. Here, on the 8th of December, 1882, in the midst of a revival service of abounding success, he was suddenly stricken down with paralysis. His work was done. In March, 1883, he returned with his family to his homestead in Hardwick, where he remained in declining health until July 5, 1884, when death released him from his suffering. As a servant of the Lord Jesus Christ, he earnestly gave himself to his work. As a minister, he was faithful and diligent; clear in intellect; strong in faith; warm in heart. He walked with God, and often his face was resplendent with the light received from above. He was a revival preacher, and nothing gave him greater joy than success in winning souls to Christ. The pulpit was his throne of power, and here he often preached in mighty demonstration of the Spirit, his words falling upon his hearers with thrilling effect.

New Hampshire Conference.

Amos Kidder was born in Dalton, N. H., Oct. 15, 1808, and died at Newport, N. H., Jan. 25, 1885. He was licensed to preach Aug. 19, 1829, and received as Conference probationer in 1830, at the first session of the New Hampshire Conference, then including Eastern Vermont. He was ordained deacon at Lyndon, Vt., Aug. 12, 1832, by Bishop Roberts, and elder, Aug. 10, 1834, at West Windsor, Vt., by Bishop Hedding. His appointments were as follows: Winchester Circuit, Guilford, Vt., Goshen, N. H., East Plainfield, Hillsborough, N. H., Petersborough, Charleston, Lancaster, Bethlehem, superannuated, Cornish, Enfield, Warner, East Sanbornton, superannuated again, Sandown and Danville, Chichester, Milton, Tuftonborough, Unity, and again superannuated until his death. July 14, 1835, he was married, at Hillsborough, to Mehitable Towner. April 22, 1837, Mrs. Kidder died at Petersborough, N. H. He was again married Aug. 14, 1838, to Esther Danforth, of Hillsborough N. H. The second wife died June 30, 1870. In 1875 Father Kidder moved to Newport, N. H., where he had a pleasant home, and was able to spend his last days in comparative ease and comfort. He was greatly respected and loved by all who knew him, and was remarkable for affability and sweetness of disposition. During his life Father Kidder was noted for his piety, his spirit of self-sacrifice, and his uncomplaining acceptance of whatsoever fell to his lot as an itinerant Methodist minister.

Silas Quimby was born in Deering, N. H., May 19, 1811, and died at West Unity, N. H., Jan. 25, 1885. He was received into the New Hampshire Conference on probation in 1881, at Sandwich, N. H. He was ordained deacon in 1833, at Northfield, N. H., by Bishop Hedding, and elder at Portsmouth, N. H., in 1835, by Bishop Emory. Brother Quimby received the following appointments: Rochester, Vt.; Strafford and Thetford, Vt; Springfield, Vt; Woodstock, Vt; Haverhill, N. H.; Charlestown; located, and supplied Alstead; re-admitted, and stationed at Unity; Winchester, Claremont, Canaan; presiding elder of Claremont District; Manchester, Keene, Northfield, Lebanon; transferred to Vermont Conference, and stationed at Newbury two years. Transferred back, and stationed at North and East Haverhill. North Haverhill, Warren, North Charlestown, Marlow, Peterborough, Grantham, Grantham and Croydon, superannuated and resided at West Unity. Brother Quimby was married, June 8, 1834, to Miss Penelope E. Fifield, who died Feb. 10, 1883, leaving one son and a daughter. Brother Quimby had been a very active and an industrious man for many years; he preached three and four times a week besides Sundays; attending class-meetings, visiting the sick, and from house to house; averaging more than eight hundred pastoral visits a year; in some towns he visited every family. He was a very successful preacher of the Gospel of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. He had revivals on most of his charges, and to win souls for Christ and build up the Church was the ruling passion of his life. He was in the active ministry forty years, and for thirty-six years he only lost six Sundays.

James Moores Young was born in Manchester, N. H., Oct. 24, 1809, and died in Manchester, Nov. 29, 1884. Brother Young was, in July, 1834, received on probation in the New Hampshire Conference, at West Windsor, Vt., when the New Hampshire Conference included New Hampshire and the eastern part of Vermont. At the Conference held in Montpelier, Vt., in September, 1836, he was received into full connection in the traveling ministry, and Sept. 4, 1836, was ordained a deacon by Bishop Hedding. July 16, 1838, he was ordained an elder at Danville, Vt., by Bishop Morris. His appointments were as follows; Rye, N. H.; Grantham, N. H.; Cavendish, Vt.; Barrington, N. H.; Stafford, N. H.; Barrington, N. H.; Seabrook, N. H.; Methuen, Mass.; East Kingston, N. H.; Milton and Wakefield, N. H.; Rye and Hampton, N. H. Here his health failed, and, at the Conference in May, 1846, he took a superannuated relation, in which he continued until his death. Since his superannuation he preached three years and a half at Chester, where he organized the society and built the church. He also supplied, as opportunity and his strength permitted, in several other places. He could not rest without doing all in his power to lead men to Christ. He had conversions on every charge, and on some there were remarkably powerful revivals. June 19, 1838, he was married to Eliza Betton, at Dover, N. H. Brother Young's life extended through three fourths of the century, which has witnessed the glorious triumphs of Methodism in this country; and he was connected with the ministry during one half of the century. During the past summer he conducted a prayer-meeting at his own house every Sunday afternoon, and souls were saved. Brother Young was a man of strong convictions, steady purpose, an earnest and forcible preacher, and possessed of great power in prayer.

Leon Chester Field was born at Southfield, Mass., Feb. 7, 1847, and died at Marlow, N. H., April 17, 1885. He was converted at Wesleyan Academy, Wilbraham, Mass., Sept. 5, 1864. His license to preach was granted Nov. 24, 1868, at Middletown, Conn. He was received as Conference probationer Jan. 17, 1874, in the South Carolina Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, at Columbia, S. C. He was ordained local deacon Jan. 19, 1874, at Columbia, S. C., by Bishop Gilbert Haven, and elder April 16, 1876, at Lebanon, N. H., by Bishop Matthew Simpson. He was transferred from the South Carolina Conference to the New Hampshire Conference in January, 1875. Brother Field was married Aug. 22, 1870, in Ware, Mass., to Miss Elizabeth C. Crowell. Before entering the ministry Brother Field was engaged in teaching in the Cazenovia Seminary, N. Y., and also in the Claflin University, Orangeburg, S. C. His ministerial work was as follows: In 1874 he was employed by the presiding elder in South Carolina. In 1875–76 he was appointed by the Bishops to Concord, N. H. In 1877–79, he was stationed at Grace Church, Haverhill, Mass.; in 1880, at Dover, N. H., and in 1881 at First Church, Concord, N. H. Since that time he has sustained a supernumerary relation to this Conference. Brother Field was a ripe scholar. His sermons bore the marks of extensive research and profound thought, and were delivered in a forcible and impressive manner. He was a man of great amiability of character, of positive religious convictions, and of deep piety.

Alba Briggs Carter was born in Littleton, N. H., September, 1844, and died at Great Falls, N. H., April 9, 1885, aged forty years. He was converted at the Bath camp-meeting in September, 1868. He joined New Hampshire Conference on probation in 1873. He was ordained deacon at Haverhill, Mass., by Bishop Gilbert Haven, and elder at Dover by Bishop Peck. He has received the following appointments: Derry, Milton Mills, Hampton, Raymond, and Great Falls. Thoroughly converted Brother Carter began at once to labor for souls. On his return home from the camp-meeting, he commenced to hold meetings in the school-houses in Lyman and West Littleton. Every night and on Sunday, during the entire winter, he declared to lost men the unsearchable riches of Christ. Out of his own deep experience he testified of the power of God to save from sin. And soon sinners began to come to the Lord, and for miles around, in the various localities where he labored, the fire of the Gospel burned brighter and brighter, until large numbers were saved, and rejoicing in a new-found Saviour. Backsliders were also revived and, renewing their vows, went out preaching the glorious Gospel. The same results followed his work upon his several charges. He had, from his conversion, a hunger for souls. He pleaded strongly, yet tenderly, with men to give their hearts to Christ. He was large-hearted and full of sympathy for all who were in trouble or sorrow. His genial, hopeful, temperament led him to look upon the bright side of life, and helped him to inspire others to do the same. He made friends easily and was true to them. He was strong in his convictions and fearless in defending them.

Maine Conference.

Parker Jaques, A.M., died in great peace at his home in Deering, Me., March 31, 1885, aged sixty-eight Brother Jaques was born and passed his early life in Newbury, Mass., now a part of Newburyport, receiving the advantages of the public schools of that place. At the age of sixteen he was converted in a Methodist meeting, and soon united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. Believing himself called to the work of the ministry, he left his father's home, in 1836, at the age of eighteen, and entered the Maine Wesleyan Seminary, to prepare himself for his chosen calling. While at the seminary, he supported himself entirely by his own earnings, thus acquiring a vigorous physique, as well as a thorough mental training, and laying the foundation for success in the hard service of the itinerancy. He was received into the Maine Conference on trial, in 1837, in a class of ten, of which only three survive; and none remain in effective service. His first appointment was Dixfield Circuit, embracing several towns. From that year onward, for thirty-eight years consecutively, his appointments were as follows: Calais, Machias, West Prospect, Camden, South Berwick, Cornish, Gorham, Saccarappa, Winthrop, Bath, Brunswick, Gardiner, Saco, Pine Street, Portland, South Paris, Auburn, Farmington, Winthrop, Kent's Hill, Skowhegan, Hallowell. From 1875, for six years, he served as presiding elder of Readfield and Portland Districts; in 1882, preacher in charge of Knightsville; in 1883, supernumerary, and retired to his home at Woodford's. During the last year, while supplying the Bridgeton Charge, he was compelled by sickness to return to his home where, after about three months of apparent convalescence, the disease suddenly assumed a serious form and terminated fatally. Calmly and trustfully he looked forward to the hour of his departure. To his pastor he said: "I have arranged my worldly affairs satisfactorily to my family, and I have settled my account with heaven. I have been reviewing my life. I have worked long and faithfully, but I count it all nothing; I rest alone in the merits of Christ." Brother Jaques had great physical and mental endurance, and accomplished an unusual amount of labor during his ministry.

Henry L. Linscott was born in Alfred, Me., in 1808, and died in West Baldwin, March 13, 1885, aged seventy-seven years. In 1835 he married Miss Trafton, and for fifty-one years they were happy co-workers in the vineyard of the Lord. In 1837 he joined the Maine Conference, and received the following appointments: Shapleigh, Lisbon, Porter, Hiram, Bartlett, Scarborough, and West Newfield. In 1847 his health failed, and for thirty-seven years his name has appeared in the superannuated list in the Conference Minutes.

Benjamin F. Pease was born in Nantucket, Mass., in 1823, and died in Cornish, Me., in July, 1884, aged sixty-one years. He was converted at the early age of fourteen, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. For several years he was an able and successful local preacher in Boston and its vicinity. His wife died, and with his children he came to Maine. In the spring of 1870 he was employed as a supply for Cornish Charge. Here he married. In 1871 he supplied at York, and later at Hollis. In 1874 he joined the Maine Conference, and was stationed successively at Standish, Falmouth, Paris, Bowery Beach, Naples, Bethel, North Yarmouth, and Industry. At the last Conference session he was in feeble health, but he went to his appointment, hoping for a speedy recovery. In a few weeks, however, he was compelled to leave the work he loved so well. He returned to Cornish, and in about two weeks, at the home of his wife's father, he triumphantly passed away. He was buried from the church in which he commenced his ministry in Maine. Brother Pease was an able preacher, and a faithful pastor. On all his charges he gave full proof of his ministry. In the varied relations of life he adorned his Christian profession by a "well-ordered life and a godly conversation."

Eaton Shaw was born in Paris, Me., Nov. 4, 1803, and died in Portland, Aug. 9, 1884. With few exceptions he was the oldest member of the Maine Conference. On Sept. 9, 1828, he was married to Miss Mary Roberts, of that city, a lady of refinement and high social standing, and who, for more than half a century, made his home a paradise, and now bears the burden of her bereavement, in joyful hope of a reunion, in the hope which knows no parting. In the year 1836 the Maine Annual Conference sat in Portland. From day to day he attended its sessions, his judgment still trembling in the balance as to his duty. Presiding elders and other brethren urged his joining the Conference, while he shrank from fear of failure. The last day of the session found him still undecided, when his wife came to the rescue and said: "Go; you would better fail in the attempt to preach, than to carry through life an unsatisfied conviction of duty." Bravely said! To her it meant an exchange of the quiet and beauty of home-life in her native city, which she dearly loved, for the privations of the itinerancy in Maine fifty years ago. This courage and faith of his noble wife enabled him to decide, and on the last day of the Conference he was received on probation, and stationed at Kent's Hill, the seat of the Conference Seminary. He filled the leading appointments of the Conference, rejoiced over the conversion of sinners in all his charges, and in some of them over revivals remarkable for their extent and power. In the year 1852 came the great trial of his life. After a ministry of sixteen years, in which he had been successful beyond all his expectations, and which had become his joy and crown, his health utterly broke down, and he was obliged to relinquish all hope of continuing longer in his work, and to retire to the superannuated ranks. The experience of his last days was the gentle outflowing of his life-long devotion to God. His last words were: "I am being lifted up! The Lord is calling me. Let me go." Soon after the affectionate husband and father, the devout Christian, the eminent minister of Jesus Christ, passed to his reward on high.

Delaware Conference.

William Phillips was born in Caroline County, Md., in 1802, and died at Harmony, Sept. 2, 1884. He sought the Lord in the days of his youth, and was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church for over fifty-six years. He was licensed to preach in 1858, and was received in the Delaware Conference in 1865. He filled the following appointments with great credit: Denton, Bridgeville, Snow Hill, Pocomoke City, and Saulsbury. At the Conference of 1877, held in Chestertown, Md., by his own request, he was granted a supernumerary relation, and two years after that his relationship was changed to superannuated, which continued until his death. Brother Phillips was a Gospel preacher, and a wonderful counselor for both young and old; a man who was always ready to assist in time of need. The Lord blessed him with wealth, and he was willing to distribute it among the poor. The church and ground known as the Harmony Methodist Episcopal Church, on the Denton Circuit, Caroline County, Md., was presented to that congregation by Brother Phillips. He has left four daughters, children of his first wife, to mourn their loss. He was married three times, and leaves a beloved wife to mourn, with his children, but their loss is his infinite gain. Brother Phillips died triumphant in the faith. When asked, a few hours before his death, how it was with him, he looked back, like Paul of old, and said: "My work is done; it is all finished; I am just waiting, waiting. Yes, I am waiting till my Lord shall come."

Philip Kennedy died in March, 1885. He was admitted on trial in the Delaware Conference at its second session, held at Wilmington, Del., in 1865, and was appointed in succession to the following charges: Hillsborough, Centreville, Wilmington, Marydel, Church Creek, Greensborough, all in the State of Maryland. In 1877 he took a supernumerary relation without appointment, and was soon after superannuated, in which relation he remained until he died.

George E. Snead died at his residence near Saint Peters, Md., March 30, 1885. The remains were carried to Burton's Chapel, Accomac County, Va., where the funeral services were conducted. The text on the occasion was, "I know that my Redeemer liveth." A few minutes before he died he said to friends around him, "I am steering my way to glory." Brother Snead was converted in his twentieth year, and united with Burton's Chapel in 1867. He soon came to the front as a useful young man, was licensed an exhorter, and soon after a local preacher. He was received on trial in the Delaware Conference in 1883, and appointed to Deal's Island, where he remained until removed by death. He leaves a widow and six children to mourn their loss.

New England Conference.

Thomas Gibson Brown was born in the town of Corinth, Orange County, Va., April 12, 1799. In 1828 he was admitted on trial in the New England Conference and appointed to Hebron Circuit, Conn. At the close of the year he was married. Hebron Circuit in that day was a wide field of labor in the literal sense. It included Glastonbury, Eastbury, Middle Haddam, Haddam, Lynn, Montville, Bozrah, Hebron, Colchester, and East Hampton. The distance around the circuit was nearly two hundred miles. The circuit furnished labor for three preachers. It took six weeks for each to complete the circuit. They preached from once to three times a day. At the end of the year the money that had been raised was divided, and each of the three had thirty-three dollars and thirty-three cents. In 1830 he was appointed to Martha's Vineyard, Mass., where he remained two years, which was the disciplinary limit at that time. In 1832 he was stationed at Middleborough, Mass. Here he remained two years, after which he was appointed to Eastham, Orleans, Monument and West Sandwich, Rockport, Marlborough, Mass.; Greenwich, Mass.; Southwick, West Springfield, Templeton, Phillipston, and Farmersville. In nearly every place many were gathered into the Church. While at Farmersville, in the second year, his health failed. He was released by the church and joined his family, which had preceded him to East Hampton, Conn. Sickness and other circumstances led him to take a superannuated relation in 1851, which he held to the close of his long and useful life. In 1863 he was appointed Chaplain of the Twenty-first Regiment of Connecticut Volunteers. He remained in this position till the close of the war, accompanying the regiment in all the battles in which it was engaged, caring for the wounded and praying with the dying. At the battle of Drury's Bluff he was in the thickest of the engagement. While he was kneeling and praying with a wounded soldier he was wounded by a piece of shell. By his bravery, fidelity to the sick and wounded, distribution of cartridges, etc., to the soldiers, he received the title of "The Fighting Chaplain." Whenever possible he held religious services in camp. Sometimes these were in tents, but more frequently in the open air. On one occasion, when preaching under an oak-tree, a shot from an accidentally discharged musket struck the tree just over his head. His hearers were greatly agitated, but the brave chaplain showed no signs of fear. Soon after he was discharged from the service he was attacked with rheumatism, which gradually disabled him for life. He suffered much, and bore it all with Christian patience, till March 28, 1884, when he was suddenly stricken with paralysis, which terminated in his death on March 31. He was affectionately borne to his last resting-place by eight of the noble veterans who had served in the regiment of which he had been chaplain.

N. S. Spaulding.—[Obituary not received.]

John N. Mars was born in Norfolk, Conn., June 22, 1804, and died in Athol, Mass., Sept. 17, 1884. His parents had been slaves, owned by a Presbyterian clergyman, but obtained their freedom about the year 1800. Soon after his conversion, at the age of twenty, he began earnestly to invite and urge others to become Christians, and held meetings in various places for that purpose. He was very soon licensed to preach by the Church authorities, and in due time was ordained by the New York Conference, and for several years preached in the State of New York. In 1840 he went to Salem, Mass., to assist Rev. N. S. Spaulding in protracted meetings, and many were converted. Soon after he settled in Salem as pastor of the church of the colored people, where he remained two or three years. He was then for a time missionary to the colored people of Canada, who had gone thither from the States to escape from slavery. After two years he returned to Massachusetts, and was for two years pastor of Zion Methodist Episcopal Church, in Springfield, and then was pastor at Hartford, Conn., for one year; he preached also for a church in Worcester for four years, and again in Springfield for one year. During these years he served many churches and assisted numerous pastors in very earnest and successful evangelistic and revival work. In the civil war he was appointed Chaplain of the First North Carolina Regiment, being the first colored commissioned officer in that fearful struggle to maintain the integrity of the nation. On his discharge from the army he returned to Massachusetts, and was received into the New England Conference at its session in 1864 and stationed at Clinton; but preferring to labor among the colored people, he was released from the work in Clinton, and did excellent service among the freedmen at the South for a year, when he took a transfer from the New England to the Washington Conference, then just organized, and in 1865 was stationed at Sharp Street Church, Baltimore In 1866 he was appointed presiding elder of Chesapeake District, Washington Conference, which office he filled for four years. In 1876 he was transferred to the New England Conference and stationed at Revere Street Church, Boston, for one year. In 1871 he was appointed Conference missionary. In 1873 he took the relation of superannuate, which he held till his death. He especially aided in introducing Methodist preaching into the adjacent town of Orange in 1874, where there is now a flourishing church and Sunday-school. He was a great physical sufferer during the last few years of life, but was always submissive, patient, and cheerful. The last year he seemed ever conscious that the end was drawing near, but looked forward to death with pleasure. He frequently said to his faithful wife, that for her sake he would gladly live, but aside from that he would much prefer "to depart and be with Christ, which is far better." When one in his presence was denouncing professors of religion, declaring he did not believe there was an honest man among them, Brother Mars stepped before him and said: "I am a professed Christian; you have known me for years; did you ever know any thing of me that gives you warrant for saying you do not believe I am an honest man?" The reviler was compelled to admit he did know one honest man who then stood before him.

W. F. Lacount was born at Lebanon, N. H., March 3, 1818, and died in Danvers, Mass., Aug. 12, 1884. He was converted at an early age. In 1846 arrangements were made with the presiding elder for Brother Lacount to take work under him at Sudbury, and this charge he filled with great acceptance for one year. An extensive revival marked his efforts in this place, and the people urged his re-appointment for another year. He joined the New England Conference in 1847, and was stationed at Concord. His later appointments were Rutland, South Royalston, South Deerfield, Gloucester Parish (where he was stationed twice, five years in all), North Andover, Newburyport, Rockbottom, Dudley, and Weston. His active work in the ministry extended over a period of twenty-five years. Many of his charges were discouraging in their outlook. Most of the churches were small, feeble in financial resources, and some of them struggling for an existence. The remuneration for the support of himself and family was but meager in the best of his stations. But his faith failed not. He felt that the "everlasting arms" were underneath him. Thus Brother Lacount toiled on until failing health compelled him to retire from the more active work of the ministry in the spring of 1872; but even after that, as long as God continued him the use of his mental faculties, he ceased not to preach and labor as opportunity offered and his strength would permit. Moving to West Somerville immediately after his superannuation, he was largely instrumental in organizing the Holland Street (now the Park Avenue) Methodist Episcopal Church in that city. He was leader of the first Methodist class in that neighborhood, organized in May, 1872. At the formal organization of the church his name appears among the list of stewards. Here he frequently preached during the first eleven months of the society's existence, while they were without a regularly appointed pastor. The work of himself and family in those early years of the history of this Church will long be remembered by those who were associated with them in their earnest and self-sacrificing labors. In 1862, while stationed at Cherry Valley, Brother Lacount enlisted for nine months in the Forty-second Massachusetts Regiment of Infantry, and went to the front to fight for his country as a private soldier; but even then God had higher duties in store for him, and a position more congenial to his taste. The chaplain of the regiment was taken prisoner in one of their early engagements, and Brother Lacount was detailed to perform the duties of that office. During the remaining months of service he filled this position in a manner that won for him the respect and the love of both officers and men. He counted this as one of the most useful periods of his life, and used often to speak of his work as chaplain with especial pleasure, finding, as he said, "men, in the midst of solemn surroundings, specially approachable on the subject of religion." He had reason to believe that many in his regiment, through his personal efforts, were led to the knowledge and service of Christ. Brother Lacount was a good preacher, earnest, plain, practical, looking ever to God for present results from his labors. He had conversions on every charge, and in many stations marked revivals of religion and ingatherings of souls resulted from his faithful efforts, as at Sudbury, South Deerfield, Rockbottom, and Newburyport. Added to his ability as a preacher, and his faithfulness as a pastor, was his special gift as a singer. Blessed with a peculiarly rich, sweet, and clear voice, he "sung for Jesus" with all the ardor that he evinced in his other work; and thus many were attracted to him, and to the truth which he preached, who might not otherwise have been reached.

William A. Braman was born in Pomfret, Conn., July, 1819. He was drawn to the ministry from the beginning of his Christian life by a deep spiritual conviction. He joined the New England Conference in 1844, and, favored with remarkable physical vitality, he had an uninterrupted ministry of forty-one years. To a naturally attractive personality he added a deep and consistent piety. As a preacher, he had a fine command of language, was a good thinker, and from a warm heart proclaimed the Gospel message. He occupied some prominent pastorates, and always secured the love and confidence of his people, seldom leaving until the close of a full itinerant term. He was twice married, was a kind and affectionate husband and father, and was much esteemed by all with whom he associated. He leaves four daughters to comfort the deeply bereaved widow. Of Brother Braman's death it may be said, "He was not, for God took him." On Saturday morning of the Conference session, April 11, 1885, he was with his brethren, attending to its business details. At its close he went with his wife into a hotel quite near, and while awaiting in the parlor the dinner hour, in just a moment of time, sunk down upon a sofa and departed to the home of the redeemed.

North Indiana Conference.

John Clark Mahin was born, Aug. 26, 1833, in Tippecanoe County, Ind., and died Feb. 6, 1885, aged fifty-one years. On Sept. 30, 1858, at the age of twenty-three, he was converted, and at once united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. The same day that he was received into the Church in full membership he was licensed to exhort. At a subsequent quarterly meeting he was licensed to preach. That same autumn he was received on trial in the North-west Indiana Conference. He at once took front rank as an earnest, eloquent Gospel preacher. He was filled with an ambition to meet the requirements of the New Testament standard of preaching. His appointments were as follows: Indiana Creek, Morocco, Medaryville, Sumption Prairie, Door Village, Shawnee, Plymouth, superannuated for six months, Brookston, transferred to the North Indiana Conference, and stationed at Goshen, Anderson, Peru, Wabash, superannuated. One year of his superannuation he was supply at Battle Ground, in the North-west Indiana Conference. Brother Mahin was married at the early age of twenty to Miss Lasa Ann Kious, who survives him. For some time previous to his superannuation he was not in robust health. His original trouble, an affection of the larynx, descended to his lungs, causing consumption. For sixteen months he was unable to speak above a whisper. During this time he suffered intensely, becoming very much emaciated. Yet he never complained, but always rejoiced. He realized that the time of his departure was approaching, and often conversed freely and triumphantly concerning it. He frequently said: "I would rather walk with God in the dark, than in the light alone." Speaking of the possibility of his recovery he said: "If God should say to me, 'Choose life or death,' I should say, I cannot; I might choose wrongly; O God, choose thou for me." His faculties were not impaired, his intellect was not dimmed, his hope was unfailing. The life, work, and success of Brother Mahin needs no eulogy. They speak for themselves. He was one of our best pastors and most eloquent preachers. He was a deep student, and his lack of early educational advantages made him insatiable in his thirst for knowledge. When in pursuit of a fact or truth he knew no rest until what he sought was found, or its finding was impossible. He was greatly interested in the natural sciences, especially their bearing on revelation. As a preacher, he was unsurpassed in ability, power, eloquence, and spirituality. His whole soul went forth in the message that the Holy Spirit gave him. He was emphatically "mighty in the Scriptures."

Charles Perry Wright was born near Xenia, Green County, Ohio, July 5, 1826, and died in the city of Logansport, Ind., April 29, 1884, aged fifty-seven years. He was converted in January, 1840, at the age of fourteen. As he grew older, he became convinced that it was his duty to preach, but being of a very diffident and retiring disposition, he did not run until he was sent. He was licensed to preach Aug. 21, 1853, very soon after which he came to Indiana, and was appointed by the presiding elder as a supply on Pendleton Circuit. He was on trial in the North Indiana Conference in 1853, ordained a deacon in 1856, and an elder in 1858. His fields of labor were Pendleton, Greensborough, Union City, Hagerstown, Whitewater, Lanesville, North Street, Indianapolis; Pendleton, Bluffton, Winchester, Union City, Muncie Circuit, Lima, Bluffton, Mishawaka, Elkhart, Market Street and Wheatland Street, Logansport; Conference Tract Agent for three years, and superannuated a few weeks before his death. One year of this time he was supernumerary. His service was thirty-two years in all. He was married, Dec. 25, 1854, to Miss Fanny Gerhart. For almost thirty years their married life showed two loving souls truly one, united by a tie which grew stronger each year. For several years past Brother Wright's health has not been firm. A disease of the heart made him aware that he might be called away at any time. Yet he would not cease from mental or manual labor, saying, "I want to work while I can." He was confined to his bed but a little more than a week before his death. He had so frequently spoken of his impending departure, that he said very little during his last week. Not a murmur escaped his lips. To every inquiry he responded readily, cheerfully, and with assurance, saying that all was well, and that he felt perfectly resigned and prepared for his departure. He fell asleep in peace, faith, and triumph, and was forever with the Lord. He was a man who strove to obey the whole law. He never spoke evil of any one, nor thoughtlessly criticised any one. Words of kindness always fell from his lips, and his face ever wore a genial smile. The friendship and love felt for him were universal. He was calm, gentle, serene, and exceedingly diligent. He was an equal, forcible, effective, and entertaining preacher. Churches always prospered under his administration, and revivals were frequent. He had an especial talent for bringing up the temporal interests of the charges to which he was sent, and built and repaired many churches.

Troy Conference.

Leonard S. Walker was born in Flemingford, Province of Quebec, Canada, May 25, 1831, and died in Castleton, N. Y., June 16, 1884. In 1855 he was married to Miss Sarah Shurtliff, of Mooers, Clinton County, N. Y. His marriage was soon followed by the conversion of himself and wife, and their union with the Methodist Episcopal Church, in Mooers, N. Y. This occurred in February, 1856, and led to an entire change in his plan of life. In 1857 his ability and zeal commended him to his pastor, Rev. I. C. Fenton, as one whom the Lord designed for wider usefulness in his vineyard. He received exhorter's, and soon after local preacher's, license, and rendered acceptable and efficient service in these relations. In 1858 he was employed by Presiding Elder John B. Stratton at Leicester and Goshen, on the Burlington District. In 1859 he was admitted on trial into the Troy Conference, and returned to the Leicester and Goshen Circuit. At the General Conference of 1860 the Burlington and the St. Albans Districts were transferred to the Vermont Conference, and remained in that connection until 1868. During this period he received the following appointments, namely: West Addison and Panton, Bridport and Shoreham, First Church, Burlington; Williston. In 1867 he was appointed to Middlebury. He had just begun his second year on this station, at the retrocession of the Burlington District to Troy Conference in 1868, and continued his pastorate upon this charge through his third year until the Conference of 1870. During his ministry at Middlebury an extensive revival was experienced, resulting in more than two hundred conversions. Since then he filled the following appointments: North Ferrisburg and Charlotte; Fairhaven; Johnstown; Greenbush; Sandy Hill; Castleton, N. Y. He had just entered upon the third year of his pastorate upon this, his last, charge. On Thursday, June 12, he felt unwell. On Friday his indisposition compelled his retirement to his couch. His intense desire to meet his Sabbath responsibilities led him to rise on Saturday, but he was soon forced to succumb. On Sunday he grew rapidly worse, and at half past three o'clock on Monday morning peritonitis had done its fatal work. Brother Walker had often expressed the wish that he "might die when others wanted him to live, and before a superannuated condition was reached." His wish was gratified. He died in the harness. His last work was to conduct the weekly prayer-meeting on Thursday evening. His joyousness was noticeable, and after the service was closed he tarried with a few others to sing some of "the songs of Zion." It was his last song-burst of praise on earth—the prelude to the immortal song in which he joins in heaven. In all the twenty-five years of our brother's ministry he was invariably known as the earnest and successful preacher, the devoted and laborious pastor, and the true and sympathetic friend. His associates of the Conference will ever remember him for his constant geniality, his sterling manliness, and his unswerving integrity. His stricken family, consisting of his wife, two sons, and a daughter, have sustained an irreparable loss. Yet, though the sense of loss was great, the thought of our friend's great gain transformed the funeral into a service of holy exultation. As the various qualities of the deceased were dwelt upon, his life was made to preach with power in that pulpit, where now his voice was silent. His body was borne to Johnstown, one of his charges, where his ministry had been signally blessed, for interment.

David P. Hulburd was born in Milton, Vt., April 5, 1816, and died in Waltham, Feb. 14, 1885. At fourteen he united with the Methodist Episcopal Church and became an active Christian. In 1834, when only eighteen, he was employed as a "supply." In this capacity he served the Church three years in Bristol and Pittsford Circuits, in Vermont, and in Argyle, in New York. In each of these appointments he was highly esteemed for his deep and uniform piety, consistent life, and able pulpit ministrations. In 1837 he, with his life-long friend, S. D. Brown, were admitted on trial by the Troy Conference. They were looked upon as young men of great promise. Both have finished their course, and the highest expectations of their most ardent admirers have been realized. Their memories are blessed. When admitted, Brother Hulburd was appointed to Brandon Circuit, where he remained two years. He was then admitted to full connection, and ordained deacon by Bishop Hedding, and appointed to Hinesburg Circuit. After laboring two years on this charge he was elected to elder's orders, and ordained by Bishop Soule, in Albany. His subsequent appointments were as follows: Ferrisburg and Monkton; Monkton; Ashgrove, now Cambridge, N. Y.; Vergennes, Vt.; Clintonville; Westport, N. Y.; Weybridge; Waterbury and Stowe; presiding elder of Burlington District; presiding elder of Plattsburg District; Congress Street, Troy; presiding elder of Burlington District (second time); supernumerary, but supplied Plattsburg Station; Jonesville; Baliston; North Chatham and Center; Williston, Vt. While on this last charge he was stricken with paralysis, from which he never recovered. At the Conference, 1874, he was returned supernumerary; and in 1875, superannuated. On this list he remained until called to the Church triumphant. On Oct. 18, 1840, he was united in marriage with Miss Elmira M. Hobbs, of Vergennes, Vt. She proved a true co-worker with him, ready for every good work. In his affliction she ministered to him with untiring care and tenderness. Her children rise up and call her blessed, and her husband did praise her. She, with an only son, an honored member of the New York Conference, and two daughters, lives to mourn her loss. He was three times elected a delegate to the General Conference — 1856, 1860, and 1868. Brother Hulburd had a very amiable spirit; among his brethren he was modest and unassuming. His piety was deep and uniform. His faith in God, as manifested in Christ, and in the doctrines of our holy religion, was unwavering. He was mighty in prayer, and was often at the throne of grace. Families, all through our Conference, remember his earnest pleadings as he led their devotions at their home altars. He was a good preacher. His style was textual, and his skill in analysis was remarkable. As a pastor, he was faithful in every department of his work. He visited the sick and the well, and never neglected the poor; and all his visits were religious. The children loved him, and for them he always had a good word. As presiding elder he was kind and considerate to all. In counsel and advice he was judicious. He was especially kind to the preachers on the poorer charges, often sharing his own small allowance with them. To the preachers and people his quarterly visits were a benediction.

Caleb A. Stevens was born in Enosburg, Vt., Jan. 11, 1814. At sixteen he was converted, and at once united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. He spent some years in teaching school, and though he felt the call to preach soon after his conversion, it was not till he was thirty-seven years of age that he consented to receive license. In 1839 he was married to Miss Tabitha C. Oakes, of Swanton, Vt., who shared with him the labors of his itinerant life, and in tears survives him. In 1852 he was received into the Troy Conference, of which he remained a member to the time of his death, except that from 1860 to 1868 he was in the Vermont Conference by the transfer of the Burlington District. His appointments have been as follows, and in this order: Isle La Motte, North Hero, Mount Holly, Johnsburg, Schroon Lake, Sanford's Ride, Mount Holly, Lincoln, Monkton, Salisbury and Leicester, Bristol, Hinesburg, Panton, West Lebanon. At the Conference of 1879 he retired from the active work and settled at Lansingburg, where he continued to reside until his death, on the morning of Nov. 1, 1884. His death was sudden. He arose that morning in about his usual health and took his breakfast with his wife, when, as they were about to rise from the table, his head drooped, and in a moment, without a struggle or groan, he was gone from earth; but only gone from earth to heaven—for he was ready. His religion was his constant life, and the ever-ready subject of thought and conversation with him. As a preacher, he was simple and earnest and successful. Every charge he served was favored with a revival under his ministry. He lived a true man and sincere Christian. He made full proof of his ministry.

Andrew Witherspoon was born in Leith, Scotland, May 16, 1808, and died in Williamsburg, Kansas, Feb. 9, 1885. He came to this country with his parents at nine years of age. Converted at sixteen, he united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. August 18, 1832, he received license to preach. One year later he was admitted on trial in the Troy Annual Conference. His first appointment was to Milton Circuit, Vt. May 6, 1835, he was married to Miss Mary Shedden, of Mooers, N. Y., a union which proved long and happy. He was ordained deacon August 30, 1835, and elder at Troy, N. Y., June 5, 1837. Brother Witherspoon soon took a front rank in Troy Conference, and (excepting three years, when by a change of Conference lines he was thrown into Vermont Conference) he remained an honored member of it till his death. He held an effective relation from 1833 to 1873. In 1873 he received a supernumerary relation, but continued to receive an appointment till 1877. He served two full terms as presiding elder, and was pastor of many prominent churches. He was a member of six General Conferences, at one of which he received a very respectable vote for the office of Bishop, but refused to allow his name to be used in that connection. In 1856 the University of Vermont indicated its appreciation of his literary and theological ability by conferring on him the doctorate. He, with characteristic modesty, declined the honor. It was repeated, however, by the same institution in 1857. In 1877 he moved to Kansas, and settled on a farm near Williamsburg. He there identified himself with all the interests of the Church, often preaching with great intellectual and spiritual power. Andrew Witherspoon was a splendid man in every way. Above the medium height, erect, full chested, and deep-voiced, he commanded the attention and admiration of men. Intellectually he had few superiors. His comprehensive mind reveled in the profound studies of psychology and metaphysics. As a preacher, he attracted men of thought, and yet did not fail to please and instruct the ordinary hearer. He was not so successful an evangelist as an instructor, educating his people in the knowledge of the word of God. He was a Methodist of the Methodists. Coming to the apprehension of our doctrines after careful study, he found his way into the kingdom of God, receiving the divine life and its precious manifestations in such large measures as to put out of sight forever the doctrinal effects of his earlier education. His character was spotless. There is no shadow upon the fair mirror of his Christian life. Genial, consistent, and manly he walked among men, commanding respect and love for himself, and for the cause of Christ which he so beautifully represented.

Wyoming Conference.

E. W. Breckinridge was born in Dover, England, Nov. 20, 1807, and died in Binghamton, N. Y., April 3, 1885, aged seventy-seven years. Brother Breckinridge enjoyed an early religious training in his English home, which eventuated in his conversion at a very early age. At fourteen he was left fatherless, and at fifteen he was commissioned a local preacher, thus showing that he had won the confidence of his brethren of the laity, and also secured a recognition of "gift, grace, and usefulness," rare, indeed, in one so young. In the year 1832 he emigrated to the New World, and after exercising his gifts for a few years in the local ministry, and securing the esteem and approval of his newly found American friends, he was recommended by the Church for the itinerant ministry, and joined the Oneida Conference in 1836 at the age of twenty-nine. For almost fifty years he was connected with the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church, thirty-eight of which he was in the itinerant work as a loyal, self-sacrificing, yet ever-joyous Methodist preacher. The Conference session just past would have been the fiftieth anniversary of his itinerant life and labors, and he had often spoken of it, and greatly desired to reach it, and enjoy one more annual gathering with his brethren. Brother Breckinridge was united in marriage in 1831 with Miss Mary Ann Adkins, of Ramsgate, England, a lady of rare ability and attainments. She died in 1867. In 1871 Brother Breckinridge was, again, united in marriage with Miss Luna H. Hall, of New Berlin, N. Y., who survives him. Of the life and character of Brother Breckinridge, it can truly be said that he was, as a man, good, upright, manly; as a friend, steadfast; as a Christian, sincere, cheerful, devoted; as a preacher, earnest, fearless, faithful, acceptable; as a pastor, abundant in labors, tender, diligent, caring for his flock as he that must give account to God. Hundreds within the bounds of this Conference have been and are glad to acknowledge themselves as his sons and daughters in the Gospel. "He fought a good fight." As the time of his departure drew near he seemed clearly to appreciate it, for he could readily discover that heart and flesh were failing. Sunday, March 29, the last public testimony of Brother Breckinridge to the value of the Christian religion was given at the love-feast, when he gave a testimony long to be remembered, witnessing to the power of the Gospel in age.

T. B. Rockwell, of the Wyoming Conference, died in Batavia, Ill., May 16, 1884. He was born in Ridgefield, Conn., Aug. 21, 1808. In 1836 he entered the Oneida Conference on trial. In all of his appointments he was blessed with gracious revivals. In 1854 he contracted a chronic difficulty. He spent the years of 1854-55 at the sea-shore, in the hope of regaining his health. In the fall of 1855 he was stationed at New Woodstock, but soon his disease returned, and at the following Conference he asked for a superannuated relation. By advice of physicians he removed West and settled at Batavia. In a few years he was so far improved as to be capable of light work, and supplied several places in the bounds of the Rock River Conference. In the local church of Batavia he was very useful and much beloved. He was twice married: first, in 1828, to Miss Caroline Hyatt, who died in 1872. In 1875 he was married to his second wife, Miss Laura C. Curtis, who survives him. He was the father of three sons and one daughter. His daughter he gave, years ago, to the missionary cause—Mrs. Downey, afterward Mrs. Thoburn, who died in India. His youngest son follows his father in the ministry, and is a member of the Genesee Conference. The last end of Brother Rockwell corresponded with his life; he died well. About three years ago he received a partial stroke of paralysis. Since then his mental and physical powers have been shattered; but in the midst of it all he maintained an unwavering trust in God.

King Elwell was born at Factoryville, Bradford County, Pa., in the year 1813. At eighteen years of age he united with the Methodist Episcopal Church.

In 1835 he was received on trial in the Oneida Conference, in 1837 ordained deacon, and in 1839 elder in the Church of God. Both ordinances were under the administration of Bishop Hedding. In 1836 he was married to Miss Catherine Bull. As a preacher, Brother Elwell was original. His sermons were convincing and riveted attention, arousing the lukewarm and encouraging the weary. He was a faithful pastor, visiting from house to house. In the social circle he was very cheerful, and at home kind and hospitable. He had faith in humanity and never lost courage. Upon every charge served by Brother Elwell revivals attended his pastorate.

ERASTUS D. SMITH.—[Obituary not received.]

RICHARD VARCOE was born in Cornwall, England, and came to this country in the fall of 1864. In the spring of 1865 he supplied the Oregon Charge with marked success. In 1866 Brother Varcoe united with the Wyoming Conference in full connection, as an elder, after presenting proper credentials from the Reform Church, of which he had been a traveling preacher. Brother Varcoe's sermons were clear and forcible, pointed and practical; he was a man of one work, devoting himself faithfully to the charges he served. There is no doubt that our dear brother died the death of the righteous, and such a death is glorious even to the believer himself; for, as the rose smells the sweetest when dying, as the sun appears most glorious when setting, so with the dying saint of God. The scene is holy ground; there the King of glory holds his court, while mortals cry, "A man is dead," and angels sing, "A child is born."

Missouri Conference.

M. T. KLEPPER was born in Hawkins County, East Tenn., June 15, 1822, and departed this life in Cameron, Mo., Feb. 25, 1885. Brother Klepper was converted and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1832; the same year he was licensed to exhort, and on Aug. 23, 1843, was licensed to preach. He entered the Missouri Conference in the fall of the year 1851, and was appointed to Gallatin, and about the close of the Conference year, Aug. 19, 1852, was married to Mrs. P. J. Roll, who remained with him as his faithful and devoted companion until his death, and who now mourns her loss. At the annual session of the Conference, held at Saint Louis, 1852, he was appointed to the Wyandotte and Delaware Indian Mission, Kansas Territory. In 1853 he was appointed to Saint Joseph Station; the following year to Jackson, where he served as pastor and also as teacher in the Methodist Episcopal Seminary located at that place. At the close of the year he was granted a supernumerary relation, which relation he sustained for three years and a half, during which time he pursued the regular collegiate course of studies at Asbury University, at Greencastle, Ind., and graduating, received the degree of A.B., afterward A.M. Returning again to the Missouri Conference, he was made effective and appointed to Memphis Circuit; the next year to Macon City, and returned to the same charge the following year. During this year his health failed, and he was granted a superannuated relation, which relation he sustained without aid from the Church until his death. For the past ten years he was so great a sufferer from asthma that he had to sleep sitting up in a chair. He lived for God, died in great peace, and is now at the right hand of God.

New York Conference.

JACOB CHEESEMAN WASHBURN was born in the town of Mount Pleasant, Westchester County, N.Y., Oct. 30, 1812, and died at Pleasantville, Sept. 13, 1884. His parents were Hicksite Friends. In 1841 he received local preacher's license, and in 1843 was admitted into the New York Conference, and has served the following charges: Pound Ridge, Eastchester, Greenwich, New Platz, Plattekill, North Newburg, Rondout, Montgomery, Middletown, New Windsor, Harlem, Forty-third Street, City Mission, Fiftieth Street, Forty-fourth Street, Central Park Mission, and Fordham, and in 1871 took a supernumerary relation, and moved to his farm at Pleasantville, where he resided until the time of his death. Brother Washburn did good work on these charges. He built new churches and parsonages, renovated old ones, paid some embarrassing debts, and was honored with many powerful and sweeping revivals, the fruits of which remain to this day. He was a man of marked individuality, somewhat eccentric, of strong convictions, unusual executive ability, a fearless and forcible preacher. He reared a large family of children, who, as honorable, cultured, Christian men and women, live to-day to do him honor.

ELI DENNISTON was born in the town of Kortright, Delaware County, N. Y., March 19, 1797, and died at his home, in Newburg, N. Y., August 20, 1884, aged eighty-seven years. Brother Denniston was converted in his boyhood. Soon after his conversion he felt his heart strongly drawn by the Holy Spirit toward the work of the "Christian ministry." At length his convictions of duty became clear and convincing, and after pursuing such literary and theological studies as came within his reach, he entered the New York Conference, in 1821, and remained in close sympathy with his brethren and the work of the Church to the end of a long life. When he entered the itinerant ministry the Methodist Episcopal Church was yet a small, struggling body. On Oct. 16, 1823, he was united in marriage to Miss Matilda Crofutt, a most estimable Christian lady—one who was, indeed, a loving helper to her husband in all his toils and cares. Her peaceful death, in April, 1876, was a crushing sorrow to her now aged companion, from the effect of which he never fully recovered. Brother Denniston's labors in the ministry extended over many wide and toilsome fields in the States of New York and Connecticut, and covered a period of more than sixty-three years. In 1862 the growing infirmities of age compelled him to retire from the effective ranks and take a superannuated relation. Soon after he settled in Newburg, N. Y. Here he was both happy and useful in the evening of his life. He was a willing and cheerful helper to his brethren in all the churches. In the month of October, 1883, he was stricken with paralysis, and his active labors on earth ceased. Waiting hopefully and suffering patiently were all that was left to him till the end came. The fruits of his ministry may still be found among the hills and valleys of Sullivan and Delaware Counties, on Long Island, and in Connecticut. He lived in the heroic age of the Church, when suffering, reproach, and want were no rare features of our ministry; but he was faithful unto death, and now lives in the eternal smiles of his redeeming Lord in heaven.

FRANK CLINTON MORGAN was born in Wilmington, O., Dec. 8, 1853, and died in New York city, Oct. 31, 1884. It was his good fortune to be reared in a religious home. The tender, loving instruction which he received, the Christian example which was set before him, gave him reverence for all that was pure and good and beautiful in earthly living; made him serious and thoughtful, conscientious and prayerful. At the age of sixteen he sought and obtained a bright and happy Christian experience, under the faithful labors of Rev. R. M. Stratton. Not long after his conversion he said to his mother, to whose faithful care he intrusted his secrets, "I feel that I must preach the Gospel." She said, "You know, my son, as Methodists, we believe in a divine call." To which he replied, "Mother, if any one ever had a call to preach, I have." He had graduated at the public school a year earlier than the required age to enter New York College, and having now accepted the call to the ministry he decided to enter Drew Theological Seminary, and was graduated with honors in 1877. On Nov. 26 previous he was united in marriage to Miss Anna E. Pinckney. This estimable and devoted Christian lady was well qualified to share the burdens of his itinerant life, and to influence in no slight degree his future successes. After his graduation at Drew he came to the New York Conference, prepared to take work; and as the Conference had decided not to admit any one on trial at that session, he cheerfully accepted work under the presiding elder, and supplied North Franklin Charge, on the Prattsville District. The next year, 1878, he was received on trial and stationed at Franklin Village, by the request of the official board of that church. He soon attracted the attention of the most cultured of the community, and the people generally were delighted and emphatic in their praises of the man and of the minister. His sermons were prepared with great care—were scriptural and Methodistic; his voice, manner, and delivery almost faultless. Always self-possessed, earnest, sincere; with his subject well in hand, with himself hidden behind the cross; the eloquent young preacher often moved his whole audience by his manly thoughts and tender appeals. He understood the importance of thorough pastoral work, and was ready to respond to its demands. In social intercourse his cheerful, intelligent conversation, his gentlemanly deportment, and Christian spirit, won all who knew him. Near the close of his second year at Franklin his health failed, and great was the sorrow of his people when they learned that they must give him up. And great, and never to be known, was his gratitude to the Conference for the cheerful manner in which he, a young man, broken in health, was received into full membership among us, and granted a supernumerary relation.

Thomas Edwards began his earthly life in January, 1808, at Amherstburg, near Malden, Upper Canada. His father was an officer in the English army, and was at that time assigned to duty on the Canadian frontier. The early childhood of Brother Edwards was passed amid the scenes peculiar to the semi-civilization of the border, frequent association with the Indians who visited the post to receive the annuities paid in goods by the British government and the stirring events of the War of 1812. His father and family were taken with other prisoners of war by the American forces, under Gen. Harrison and Gov. Shelby, of Kentucky, after their victory over the British and Indians, at the Thames River. Upon the conclusion of peace, in 1815, Brother Edwards went to England with his parents. At eighteen years of age he was licensed to exhort, and two years later began preaching among the Primitive Methodists, his first appointment being in South Wales, followed by a term in the city of Bath, England. In 1830 he was commissioned to come to the United States, to take charge of the Primitive Methodist work in New York and vicinity. Reaching that city he found the Primitives quarreling among themselves, which made it impossible to do any thing for their good. After laboring with them for a while, Brother Edwards withdrew, and in 1832 united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. In November of that year he received a local preacher's license from Rev. Heman Bangs, and preached on the Windsor Circuit, Conn., until the spring of 1833, when he joined the New York Conference. He received deacon's orders in 1835, at the hands of Bishop Emory, and elder's orders from Bishop Hedding in 1837. He remained in the New York Conference during his life-time, doing faithfully the work of a laborious and earnest minister of the Lord Jesus in the following appointments: West Point, Catskill and Saugerties, New Windsor, Ellenville, Spencertown, Hillsdale, Egremont, Cornwall; ill health compelled him to become supernumerary; West Point, Cortland, Putnam Valley, Pleasantville, Tarrytown, North Newburg, Fishkill West, Pleasant Valley, West Point, Whitlockville (now Katonah), North East. In 1835 he was united in marriage to the faithful companion who shared his trials and triumphs for almost a half a century, and who now, with two daughters, survives him. Failing health compelled him, in 1863, to take a superannuated relation. After two years' residence in Millerton, he fixed his home at Cold Spring, N. Y., where the last twenty years of his life were spent. His last illness, continuing about three weeks, was characterized by great pain and distress. Still his mind was clear through it all, and his spiritual experience bright and encouraging. Soon after his sickness had confined him to his room, and rendered him unable longer to conduct family worship, he said, "I am hungry for a prayer." As the days passed on, his sufferings and weakness increased, but his experience was full of hope and peace. He saw death approaching, and faced it without fear. Soon after he passed away, quietly and peacefully.

Alonzo Flack was born at Argyle, in the State of New York, Sept. 19, 1823. With his conversion came a great change in the temper and tone of his life. A new impulse was wakened in his soul, and moved him to a positive and unreserved consecration to Christ. He aspired for an education and a wider field for the exercise of his powers. He pursued an academic course, and entering Union College in 1848, he was graduated in 1849. It was during this collegiate term that he became acquainted with the Methodists, whose earnest zeal excited his enthusiasm and won his hearty admiration. With his usual promptness in deciding important questions he joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, and soon received a license as a local preacher. He afterward began a course of theology at the Concord Biblical Institute, in New Hampshire, fully expecting at its completion to join the ranks of the itinerant ministry. Among the earliest of the large popular schools was that projected at Charlotteville. Anxious to secure an efficient principal, the trustees consulted Osman C. Baker, then president of the Biblical Institute. Dr. Baker strongly commended Mr. Flack as a young man of scholarly tastes and marked administrative and executive abilities. Mr. Flack opened the school with some misgivings as to his special fitness for the work, in 1854, and during the first year enrolled 300 pupils, and in the fourth year there were registered 1,253 students, 759 of whom were higher English or classical scholars over sixteen years of age. Such a measure of success, without precedent or parallel in the country, gave great celebrity to the school. His marked ability as an organizer and instructor attracted wide-spread attention. Many came from far and near to study the methods by which this young man had attained pre-eminent power and usefulness. In the midst of this signal prosperity the seminary buildings were burned. This calamity seemed to contain a blessing, for it opened the way to another more central and commanding position, which he assumed when he became principal of the Hudson River Institute, in 1855. The Board of Regents of the University of the State of New York granted him a college charter in 1869, and in 1875 conferred upon him the degree of Doctor in Philosophy. In the institution at Claverack he has toiled for thirty years as the successful principal of the Hudson River Institute, and since 1869 as the honored president of Claverack College. It is estimated that nearly fifteen thousand students have pursued their studies under his care. What a life has he lived! Its actual results are beyond computation. Alonzo Flack, the devoted husband and faithful father, the earnest preacher and constant friend, the true reformer and the zealous educator, the generous citizen and the mature Christian, has gone.

New York East Conference.

ROBERT CODLING was born at Hutton, North Riding, Yorkshire, England, in 1818, and died at Helena, Fla., Dec. 3, 1874. Converted at nineteen, at Courtland Village, N. Y., under the labors of Rev. Henry J. Fox, when about twenty-five years of age he heard the call of God to "preach the word;" in 1843, at Yonkers, N. Y., was licensed to exhort by the Rev. Phineas Rice. In 1844 he received license to preach from the Rev. P. P. Sandford, in Greenwich Circuit, Conn. He was received into the New York Conference in 1845, and appointed to Greenwich, Conn.; Bethlehem and Watertown, Colebrook River, Rocky Hill. At the separation of the New York East Conference from the New York, his lot fell with the former, and his appointments were as follows: Wolcottville, Westbrook, Wilton, Smithtown, L. I.; Huntington, Cold Spring, Patchogue, Port Jefferson and Setauket, supernumerary, Islip, Moriches, Cornwall Bridge and Ellsworth, superannuated. After superannuation he made his home in Winsted, Conn. He spent March, 1884, in Florida, seeking relief from rheumatism, and received so great benefit that he desired thereafter to make that State his winter home. The way seemed providentially to open. He was invited to preach the Gospel to a colony at Helena, to form a society, and aid in erecting a small church building. He went to Helena in September, 1884, accompanied by his youngest son, and at once began regular Sabbath services, and preached every Sabbath until his death. On the last Sabbath of November, he preached as usual; on Monday he was taken very ill with symptoms of apoplexy; Tuesday, he seemed somewhat improved, but toward evening began to sink, soon became insensible, lingered until Wednesday, Dec. 3, when he passed peacefully and painlessly away from earth to heaven. His last words were, "Meet me in Zion!" Jan. 2, 1848, he was united in marriage to Matilda Bates, of West Hartland, Conn., who proved a true and faithful wife, and a most intelligent and efficient helper in his life-work. A statement from his own pen shows clearly his life and character: "In 1840 I received a clear baptism of perfect love, in the city of New York. This has been the constraining and impelling principle of my life for forty-four years. This brings joy and peace unspeakable in age and suffering and pain." Brother Codling prayed and preached and tolled to save men, and revivals usually attended his labors. After superannuating he continued to preach as strength and opportunity permitted, and his services in the pulpit around Winsted were welcomed by the people. In the social meetings of the West Winsted Methodist Episcopal Church he was a faithful and useful worker. For some months previous to his final departure for Florida, his prayers and exhortations in their wealth of thought and glow of spiritual fervor were a prophecy of the translation so soon to follow. "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors and their works do follow them!" His remains were interred at the place of his decease, Helena, Fla.

CYRUS SILLIMAN was born in Weston, Conn., Feb. 20, 1794, and died in Bridgeport, Oct. 14, 1884. At eighteen he was converted and received into the Methodist Episcopal Church, and was licensed to preach in 1814. Admitted into the New York Conference in 1818, he was appointed to Burlington, Conn., and the following year to Charlotte, Vt. In 1820 he married Miss Eunice Penfield, of Fairfield, a woman who cheerfully made the sacrifices and patiently endured the trials demanded by the itinerancy in those earlier days. Her simple faith, gentle spirit, and earnest Christian life has made her memory precious to all who knew her. She died in peace, June 1, 1872. During the year of Brother Silliman's marriage, he was ordained deacon by Bishop George, and appointed to Plattsburg, N. Y. His subsequent appointments were Warren, Vt.; Burlington, Conn.; Amenia, N. Y.; Delaware; Jefferson; Durham; Coeyman's; New Windsor; Sullivan; New Paltz; Weston and Newtown, Conn.; Westport; Clinton, Westport, Essex, and Saybrook; Brookfield and Southville. From 1842 to 1860 he was supernumerary, but continued to preach on the Sabbath, filling the appointments assigned him at Conference. At Milford, Fairfield, Trumbull, and East Village, he had pastoral charge, performing the entire ministerial work. He had a vigorous constitution, sound common sense, good business talent, and fair preaching ability. His sermons were plain and practical, sometimes forcible, with occasional passages of soul-stirring power. Some of the sermons preached by him in Milford, forty years ago, are still remembered with grateful interest. One of them, from Rom. iv. 25, was attended with thrilling effects. A person who heard him then for the first time, said, "That is the most wonderful sermon to which I ever listened." When asked the name of the preacher he replied, "I cannot tell, but I think it must be St. Paul." Possessed of remarkable vitality, he was never idle. He loved to work as well as preach He could do more manual labor in a day than any ordinary laborer, and preach and hold prayer-meeting in the evening, repeating the process day after day without apparent fatigue. It has been questioned whether his usefulness would not have been greater if less time had been given to secular interests. In view of the inadequate provision for the support of a preacher's family sixty years ago, an excuse—if not a justification—may be found for the independence, which sought by personal toil to provide for its own. With St. Paul he could say, "These hands have ministered to my necessities, and to them that were with me." He toiled and saved, but he was conscientious and benevolent. For several years he preached to full churches without compensation, and at the same time contributed from his personal resources to aid in securing houses of worship for the people he served. He was a trustee of three of the Bridgeport churches, and aided in their erection. While serving the churches without pay, and subsequently, when, through feebleness, he could no longer preach, he neither asked nor received aid from the funds of the Conference, though contributing liberally to the same from the fruit of his daily toil. He was superannuated in 1862, but continued to preach occasionally till 1877, when he began to fail, physically and mentally. For three years he was entirely blind, yet he never complained. Gradually sinking, he quietly entered into his rest. Thus passed away the last of the one hundred and seven preachers included in the New York Conference of 1818—a Conference distinguished for the long life granted to many of its members, one third of whom reached an average age of eighty years, and four—John Crawford, Aaron Hunt, Laban Clark, and the subject of this memoir—lived till they were ninety. He was buried at Fairfield, Conn.

JAMES WESLEY HORNE, LL.D., was born on the island of Jamaica, March 24, 1823. Without a moment's warning, by the stroke of a railway engine, on the afternoon of Saturday, Sept. 6, 1884, near his home, in Southport, Conn., while engaged in pastoral visiting, our brother was summoned to his reward. In 1855, at the age of thirty two, he married Miss Julia Stowe Tuzo, the cultured and helpful companion of twenty-nine years of his successful ministry, who now mourns his absence. Brother Horne was graduated from the Wesleyan University in 1852, at once joined the New York East Conference, and accepted the appointment of missionary to Africa, where he founded the Monrovia Academy, in Liberia, and continued to teach till 1857, when failing health compelled his return to the United States. From that time to his death, with the exception of the year 1870, when he visited Europe and the Holy Land, he was an effective member of the Conference, having filled usefully and acceptably the following appointments: East Pearl Street, New Haven; Redding; South Second Street, Brooklyn; Birmingham; Rockville Center; Willett Street, New York; Babylon, Greenport, Forestville, Clinton, and Southport. Brother Horne loved the work of a Methodist preacher. Almost every week-day afternoon was spent in visiting from house to house, and every pastoral call was ended with prayer if circumstances would permit. His labors and personal unseen beneficence among the poor will be held in everlasting remembrance. His preaching was marked by fluency and earnestness, as well as by weighty thought, and the results of hard study. A letter of condolence from an Episcopal clergyman to Mrs. Horne says, "Brother Horne was a workman who needed not to be ashamed, and he gave full proof of his ministry." For many years, and to the hour of his death, he enjoyed the blessing of "pertect love." His interest in the salvation of all with whom he came in contact, and especially of those committed to his care, was very great. He watched for souls, and it is a comfort to know that his translation occurred when he was out on his Master's work. His college roommate testifies that he was "a genial, pure-minded, intelligent Christian student;" and his wife, that "in his sermons all summer there had been much of heaven; that he had been growing in grace more rapidly than usual of late, and literally his conversation was in heaven." A peculiarity of Brother Horne's Christian character was the clearness of his inward witness that he belonged to Christ. Let God's will be made known to him, and no danger could hold him back. He was ever ready to cheer and instruct and encourage, though never obtrusive or officious. His earnest prayers seemed to enter at once the ear of God. His daughter remarked after his last church prayer-meeting that, as he rose from his knees, his face shone with holy joy. At the district camp-meeting, from which he came the evening before his departure, he offered two public opening prayers, which seemed to carry his audience into God's presence. His words in the love-feast on Friday were of the clearest ring, and of such a character as befitted a last testimony. His last sermon was from Rom. xiv. 7, 8, "None of us liveth to himself, and no man dieth to himself. For whether we live, we live unto the Lord; and whether we die, we die unto the Lord: whether we live therefore, or die, we are the Lord's." He was wont to say, "It makes no difference to me when death comes. It can't come too soon, so far as I am concerned." In public affairs he felt an intelligent and deep interest, deprecating, and doing all he could to remedy, the intemperance and other threatening evils of our time. He owed no man any thing. He was a very affectionate and devoted husband and father; and although he is to be felicitated on such a quick transfer to heaven, his bereaved family share our warmest sympathy.

George W. Hughes was born in Newark, N. J., Jan. 10, 1851. At the age of seventeen he was converted at Northampton, Mass. After a preliminary course at Northampton High School, he entered Wesleyan University, and was graduated therefrom with the class of 1875. In April, 1876, he was received on trial in the Troy Conference, where he continued to labor for seven years, receiving appointments as follows: Stephenstown, N. Y.; West Charlotte, Vt.; Panton, Vt.; Ellenburg, N. Y.; Schuyler Falls, N. Y. While at Panton, in January, 1878, he was married to Miss Hattie L. Curtis, of Bridgeport, Conn., who proved to be an efficient co-worker. Brother Hughes was transferred to our Conference by Bishop Warren, in May, 1883, and placed at West Goshen and Cornwall Center, which had been left to be supplied. He was returned in 1884, at the earnest request of the people, and continued to labor with great zeal in this discouraging field until two weeks previous to his death. He was a close student, and wholly devoted to his work. His sermons, though not written, were clearly thought out, and abounded in forcible expressions that gave evidence of painstaking preparation. Pastoral service was not much enjoyed, but was cheerfully and faithfully rendered. Being a beautiful singer, and gifted in exhortation and prayer, he was popular and successful in social meetings. For several years Brother Hughes, though always able to work, had suffered at times from what was believed to be malarial trouble, that would yield to a change of climate; hence the transfer to our Conference. Never had any of his friends considered him seriously ill. On July 10, however, alarming symptoms appeared. He was at once removed to the house of his father, in Bridgeport, where he could have more ready medical treatment. Sunday, July 20, a council of physicians decided that he had Bright's disease, which had so far developed that it must soon terminate fatally. His wife and parents were overwhelmed with grief at this announcement, but Brother Hughes, though surprised, received it calmly, and without a murmur prepared to die. His experience for the three days that remained was wonderful, and at times ecstatic. When his mother told him what the doctors thought, he replied, "Well, it is all right. Tell my friends I have Christ in all his fullness." To Dr. W. W. Clark, who had called at his request, he said, "I have not sent for you because I wanted courage, but that I might tell you how happy I am. I should like to live for the sake of my wife and parents, but the Lord knows best." Many times he spoke of his happiness, and said he would like to live to preach, but that the prospect was beautiful. Near the close, in response to an inquiry about his physical condition, he said, "I am almost well;" and later, "The doctors are of no avail now — 'The passage is near, and Christ is here.'" Thursday July 24, 1884, our brother was translated from scenes of death to a world of life.

Julius Field was born April 2, 1799. In 1821 he entered the itinerant ministry, and was appointed to Burlington Circuit. In 1820 he was stationed at Goshen, Conn., where he met Miss Minerva Kellogg, whom he married May 4, 1824. She was a member of the first Methodist family in Goshen Circuit, and her father's house was the home of the early itinerant. Her husband was accustomed to speak of her as his "memory," so exact was her mind in retaining all that reached it. From the beginning of his ministry to 1839 Brother Field labored within the bounds of the New York Conference, and with great success as pastor and evangelist. In 1839 he was transferred to Wisconsin Conference, and became presiding elder of Milwaukee District when that district covered the entire State. He afterward was engaged in planting Sunday-schools, and also acted until 1844 as Agent of the American Bible Society for Wisconsin and Iowa. In 1845 he was pastor at Racine, Wis., and in 1846, returning to New York Conference, was stationed at White Plains. He continued in active pastoral work until 1856, when he took a superannuated relation, and continued therein for four years. In 1861 he was made effective, and so remained until 1866. From that time he held a superannuated relation. From his last superannuation he resided in Durham, Conn., where one of his daughters had married, and where he received from his children and neighbors the attentions which were no more dear to his heart than they were enthusiastically paid. He was honored in the place as a man of spotless integrity, brotherly instincts, and humble piety. He was a man of great simplicity of character, and yet in his prime had a large degree of mental strength. As a preacher, he was eminently scriptural. Few men have equaled him in the power of apt and exact Scripture quotation. His sermons were always well arranged, and he sometimes attained impassioned moods, in which his utterances approached eloquence. He was a most true and loving friend, a firm, watchful, and tender father. As a pastor, he was faithful in visiting his flock, and successfully supplemented his pulpit labors by private entreaty. In his later years the religious welfare of the young constantly occupied his thoughts, and he composed several tracts on the religious training of youth, some of which were printed by the Tract Society. On the completion of his fiftieth year in the pastorate he delivered, at the request of his brethren, a semi-centennial sermon, rich in historical fact, excellent in style, and hopeful in spirit. The religion of the Lord Jesus Christ was so deeply imbedded in his nature that his latest utterances were intelligently Christian. During the last month his physical strength rapidly waned, and he died of old age, Sept. 22, 1884, in his eighty-sixth year. He was followed to the grave by a large concourse of neighbors, who had long known and loved him.

Kansas Conference.

Brabazon B. Dundas, son of John and Catherine Dundas, was born in Drum, Ireland, Oct. 20, 1843. He was converted at Peterborough, Canada, Dec. 4, 1861, and joined the Wesleyan Methodist Church. He was licensed to preach in Lindsay, Canada, in 1865; was received into the Conference in June, 1869; and was ordained at London, Ontario, June, 1873. From 1869 to 1876 his appointments were as follows: Smithville, Bolsover, Clarendon, Romney, Streetsville, Shelburn, Yonge Street North. On account of failing health, he went to Colorado in 1876. In the following year he was married to Miss Mary E. Dunn, in Denver. In the same year he became a member of the Colorado Conference, and was appointed to Lake City. In 1878 and 1879 he was stationed at Bald Mountain; 1880, at Castle Rock; 1881 and 1882, at Plattville. In 1883 he was transferred to the Kansas Conference and stationed at Morganville. He was re-appointed in 1884, but in July of that year he was compelled to abandon his work because his health had again given away. He returned to Colorado and died at Denver, Feb. 14, 1885. As a soldier of Christ he was "without fear and without reproach." Whatever duty indicated that he ought to do, that he did. His work abides. He suffered patiently, and died in triumph. His last words were full of joy.

Saint Louis Conference.

Green Van Cleve Houts was born in Scott County, Mo., Nov. 25, 1837, and died at Butler, Mo., April 13, 1884. His father was a local preacher in the Methodist Episcopal Church for several years, but died when Green was but three years old. Brother Houts obtained a good common-school education, and then received instruction under the principal of the high school in Warrensburg, and by teaching and close study he obtained a fair knowledge of all the academic branches. He was converted at the Chalybeate Camp-ground, September, 1855. In August, 1861, he went to Kansas, and, on the 9th of March, 1862, he married Miss Mary A. Thornton, of that place. In 1865 he was licensed to preach, and the same year he moved to Missouri, and settled on a farm in Johnson County. As a local preacher, he labored very successfully. In 1874 he was received on trial in the Saint Louis Conference, and was sent to the Clarksburg Circuit. From here he was sent to the Warrensburg Circuit, thence to the Mecklin Circuit, and thence to Butler Circuit. In each of his charges, except the last, he remained three years. As a preacher, Brother Houts was biblical, true to Methodism, earnest, impressive. He was a man of great faith and fervent prayer. His administrative faculties were good. He looked after all the interests of the Church in his charges, and every department of work felt his touch and grew. His domestic relations were most happy. He was present at the last session of his Conference, enjoying, apparently, good health; but he returned home to spend but one Sabbath in his pulpit. The latter part of that week he took to his bed to get up no more. From the first he anticipated an early departure. He said to his wife on the Sabbath preceding his death, as the second bell was ringing for service: "One week from to-day, while that bell is ringing, if not before, I shall go home." One afternoon, observing that he was suffering a good deal, a by-stander said: "Brother Houts, now in your severe affliction, do you feel that Christ is with you, and that his grace is sufficient for you?" Said he, with great composure: "I have trusted him too long for him to desert me now. O how could I endure this great suffering if it were not for his presence and his grace!" On Sabbath morning at three o'clock he was found to be rapidly sinking, and his brother, sitting by him, said: "Do you suffer much?" "Yes," said he, "but it is all right." "Have you given all into the hands of your Saviour, and can you trust him?" "Yes; I am just resting in Christ." "Can you trust your family with him?" He hesitated a moment, and then remarked: "This is the hardest trial—to leave my family; but Jesus will take care of them." Just as the second bell for church was ringing, his happy spirit went home.

Arkansas Conference.

William J. Dodson was born at Bellefonte, Boone County, Ark., Feb. 13, 1856. He was converted to Christ and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in September, 1876. He was licensed to preach in 1878, and was admitted on trial in the Arkansas Conference held at Harrison, Boone County, Ark., 1879. He traveled the Hackett City, Waldron, and Magazine Circuits. He was married to Miss Laura Robinson July 2, 1880, who loyally stood by him in all his work. Feeling the need of a higher education, that he might be more useful both to God and the Church, he took a supernamerary relation to the Conference in February, 1884, and entered the Little Rock University, and, with more than usual zeal, pursued his studies through difficulties, overcome only by those who know no failing. He was soon seized by typhoid fever, and, after some eighteen days of extreme suffering, on the morning of Oct. 3, 1884, at four o'clock, God said, "It is enough, come up higher," and thus his soul passed into the heavenly land, to be with the Saviour that he so faithfully preached. Brother Dobson was a good and an acceptable preacher, a loving father, and true companion. He was held in the minds of the Conference as one of her future men, beloved of all, but in the prime of his life, and at a time when there was a need of strong, active workers in the vineyard of the Master, the summons of death came for him.

Reuben Bowen was admitted on trial in the Arkansas Conference held at Little Rock, Ark., February, 1883. He was sent to Jasper Circuit, and did a faithful year's work, God giving him many conversions and accessions to the Church. The people whom Brother Bowen served desired very much that he be returned another year. So at the Conference, held at Little Rock, February, 1884, his report, his zeal, and love for the people that he had served, showed that he was the man for the place, and he was returned to Jasper. With renewed zeal for the Master and Church, at the close of the Conference, he started for his work. He was soon on it, and resumed his responsibilities again as pastor. But the Lord called for him. He was taken with fever early in the year, and in a short time death released him from his ministerial and Christian responsibilities. Brother Bowen was a very religious man. He was wholly given to God and the work of the ministry, and he faithfully did the work of a Methodist preacher. He was loved by all who knew him. While relatives and many true and warm-hearted friends sadly deplore his departure from among them, angelic spirits stand ready to welcome him into that heavenly abode where he shall rest from his labors and await the arrival of those he left behind.

JOHN W. SKELTON was born in Washington County, Ark., August 24, 1860. He was converted to Christ and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1875. He was married to Miss Benety W. Hatly Feb. 17, 1878, who died Jan. 16, 1880. Aug. 16, 1881, he was married to Miss S. E. Rynols. He was licensed to exhort in 1880, and faithfully discharged the duties of that office for three years. He was licensed to preach in 1883, and admitted on trial in the traveling connection of the Arkansas Conference at Little Rock, February, 1884, and assigned to the Ada Circuit. He was soon on his work; and, with great hope of future usefulness, love for souls, and zeal for the Master, he faithfully discharged the duties of a Methodist preacher, until the third Sunday in October, at which time he preached his last sermon, not being able to be up all day. He was seized with kidney and liver troubles, which soon resulted in his death. His father took him to his house the last day of October, 1884. He bore his sickness with great patience, and, Dec. 7, his soul went home to God. Brother Skelton was beloved of all who knew him. He bade fair to serve the Church a long time in the ministry, and thus do a great work for our blessed Master in saving perishing souls; but God, who doeth all things well, called for him, and thus he went home to receive his crown of rejoicing. The whole Conference join in sympathy and prayer with his bereaved widow, and, while a large company of relatives and friends mourn because of his death, there are many dear ones in heaven to shout his welcome home.

OBITUARIES.

Indiana Conference.

William Vaughan Daniel was born in Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 17, 1801. In 1817 he was brought with the family of his father, Aaron Daniel, to New Albany. He was licensed to preach in 1829, and in the summer of 1833 was appointed to fill a vacancy in the ministerial force for New Albany and Jeffersonville Charge. Being admitted on trial at the following session of the Indiana Conference, he was appointed to Wesley Chapel, New Albany. His appointments afterward were Jeffersonville, Madison, Corydon, Salem, New Albany (Wesley Chapel), Jeffersonville, New Albany District, Bedford District, Indianapolis (Wesley Chapel, now Meridian Street), Evansville (Locust Street, now Trinity), Mount Vernon, Paoli, Greenville, Bloomington, Salem, Princeton, Redford, New Albany (Roberts Chapel, now Main Street), chaplain United States Hospital in New Albany, supernumerary, Petersburg, and New Orleans. In 1868 he accepted a superannuated relation and took up his residence in New Albany, spending some time in pastoral and mission work, for which he received compensation from a friend. He died Feb. 7, 1885, at the age of nearly 83 years, having been a member of the Methodist traveling connection for over half a century. He was of studious habit and an able and scriptural preacher, filling the leading charges in his Conference, and meeting with the greatest success in those that rank highest. The old brick Wesley Chapel, on the Circle, in Indianapolis, was erected, and Centenary Church, in New Albany, was completed and dedicated, during his pastorate. In demeanor he was courteous, modest, and unassuming. While he hesitated to press his own claim, he urged the people to contribute for connectional benevolence, and set a forcible example by himself giving all he had. He was a devoted Christian, almost seraphic. Many years ago he professed to enjoy the blessing of perfect love, and he was ever careful persona ly to exemplify and adorn the doctrine of Christ. On the morning before his death he said to his son, in conducting family devotion: "There are two creeds—one in the Old Testament, the Twenty-third Psalm, read that; and the other, the prayer Jesus taught his disciples, pray that." During the reading and prayer he frequently responded, "Yes, yes. Amen!" and at the end of the prayer exclaimed, "Amen, and amen forever!" The funeral services were held in Centenary Church, New Albany, all the Methodist pastors of that city and Jeffersonville, with others, taking part in the exercises.

Asa Beck was born in Warren County, O., June 24, 1801. He was converted in boyhood, joined the Church, kept the faith, felt the "woe is me," and entered the ministry in 1828. His first circuit was Columbus. It had thirty-three appointments. At each of these he preached every four weeks and traveled three hundred and fifty miles in making the rounds, and for one year's work he received about sixty dollars. Beginning in this way Brother Beck devoted himself exclusively to the work for nearly half a century. In 1822 he was married to Ann Purcel, who died in 1829. To them were born three daughters, one of whom is yet living. In 1830 he was again married to Martha M'Laughlin. To them were born nine children, five of whom are living and attended the funeral. About ten years ago he became partially blind and retired from the active work. His sense of hearing also greatly failed, and death did not come to him until he had communed with God in darkness and silence for years. In the world, shut out from it, alone with Christ, he entered the valley in great composure, giving to his faithful wife, with whom he had lived fifty-four years, the assurance that he knew that he was dying, and that all was well. In the eighty-fourth year of his age, and fifty-seventh of his ministry, this servant of God crossed the death line. He was not in extreme suffering, and apparently not sick. The lamp of life simply burned low and went out. Time and grace did a perfect work for heaven, and gave to the world a great example of patience. For years it has been that Brother Beck's presence in the house of God was a benediction to all the people, although he had to be led or conveyed there, and could only hear an occasional word. He was conscientious to the last degree, and withal of so pure a character that, though blind and deaf, he was an eloquent preacher of that Word which is life. The silence of his old age was as the voice of a trumpet to men.

William Wyatt Rundell was born in Tompkins County, N. Y., Nov. 23, 1824, and was married, March 11, 1847, to Miss Harriet H. Holton. It was through the influence of his pious wife that he was brought to Christ. In 1854 he was licensed to exhort. He was then living in the bounds of the Sandusky District, North Ohio Conference. In the fall of 1856 he came to Morgantown, Ind. In the spring of 1857 he was employed by Rev. W. C. Smith to supply Morgantown Circuit until the meeting of Conference the following September. In the fall of 1857 he was admitted on trial into the Indiana Conference, and was appointed to the New Albany Circuit; thereafter his appointments were as follows: Belleville, Monrovia, Jonesville, Erie, Booneville, Spencer, Corydon, Fort Branch, Kingsley, Evansville, and Centre Point. From 1875 to 1883 he was located, but in that time supplied Hayesville and French Lick Circuit three years, and Wickliffe Circuit one year. In 1883 he was re-admitted to Conference, and appointed to Gentryville Circuit, to which charge he was returned in 1884. While stationed at Kingsley Church, in Evansville, he suffered the loss of his faithful wife, Dec. 9, 1873. His health began to decline soon after Conference, in 1884, and thereafter failed steadily until his death, March 24, 1885. Brother Rundell was a preacher of more than ordinary ability. His intellect was robust, his convictions deep, and his opinions decided. He was a careful reader, a close thinker, a logical reasoner. In preaching he frequently rose to the plane of real eloquence. By temperament he was far removed from enthusiasm; but his Christian convictions were simply immovable, while his religious experience was definite and cheering. A few hours before his death he received the sacrament of the Lord's Supper from the hands of Rev. M. J. Talbott, joining most devoutly, though in a feeble voice, in portions of the service.

Colorado Conference.

John Wilson was born in Esquesing, Ont., Canada, May 6, 1843. At the age of fourteen he was converted, and soon after commenced preparing for the work of the ministry, to which he felt himself so powerfully called, that he trembled at the consequence should he refuse to obey. "Woe is me if I preach not the Gospel," was his experience in a marked degree. His adaptation to the work of the ministry being generally recognized by his immediate fellow-Christians, he was soon licensed to preach in the Canadian branch of the Methodist Episcopal Church. A wider field of usefulness seeming to present itself, he joined the larger Canadian branch of the great Methodist family—the Wesleyan Methodist Church. The union of the Wesleyans with the New Connection made him a member of the Methodist Church of Canada. Among his appointments were Point St. Charles, Montreal, and Waterloo. One of his circuits was fifty miles long. He was a zealous worker, and had the respect and love of the people. The failing health of his wife brought him to Colorado in 1880. The pastor of Georgetown, Rev. O. L. Fisher, having been made presiding elder in Dr. Crary's place, Brother Wilson was sent to that work. The next session of the Conference met there and Bishop Warren regularly appointed him to that church. The readiness with which he adapted himself to his new field, the abundance of labors, his ability as minister, and, above all, his beautiful Christian spirit, speedily gave him the confidence and hearts of his brethren. The death of his accomplished wife, which occurred during the year, drew all hearts closer to him in bonds of sympathy. At the following Conference he was appointed to the important pulpit of Leadville. He threw his entire energies into the work. Every interest of the church prospered during his pastorate of three years. But his physical strength began to decline, and his third year was one constant struggle with the disease which finally terminated his life. While at Leadville he was united in marriage to Miss Ella M'Davitt, who survives him. His labors began in California Street congregation, Denver, last August. The appointment was a welcome one to him and to the congregation, and the relation of pastor and people has been uniformly pleasant; but soon his disease re-asserted itself and summarily ended his work. Brother Wilson was a good scholar and a diligent student. His sermons evidenced careful preparation. They were thoughtful, logical, scriptural, evangelical. His manner was earnest and impressive. He believed, and therefore spoke. His Christian experience was deep and his piety pronounced, though tentative. His influence was always and every-where wholesome and ennobling. He was naturally conservative, and yet fearlessly aggressive when any principle was involved. Converted in early youth he believed that the "Suffer little children to come unto me" of Jesus was their indefeasible charter right to the Saviour; hence, also, his fervent labors in the Sunday-school. The prayer-meeting afforded him a cherished opportunity to instruct and edify his people. But in his sermons, all his solemn convictions, deep experience, sublime faith, and radiant hope were manifested. As you listened, you no longer heard the man, but God speaking through him; you saw not the preacher, but Christ. If you heard the ominous thunderings and saw the fateful lightnings of Sinai, it was only that you might turn for refuge and rest to Calvary.

Cincinnati Conference.

Jesse M. Robinson was born near New Burlington, O., Dec., 17, 1826, and died Oct. 11, 1884. He was licensed to exhort in March, 1851; to preach, June 23; and was received on trial in the Ohio Conference in September, 1851. He was ordained deacon and elder in due time. His first field of labor was Aberdeen Circuit, at the close of which he was united in marriage with Mary M. Kitterman, his now bereaved widow. The following were his subsequent charges: Sinking Springs, Winchester, Milford, Goshen, Sinking Springs a second time, Concord, Addison, Urbana (Second Church), Cincinnati (Asbury Charge), Union, and New Carlisle, when he was transferred to the Des Moines Conference and stationed at Fort Dodge, and subsequently at Greenwood, when he was re-transferred to the Cincinnati Conference and appointed successively to Amelia, Mingo and Mount Tabor, Moorefield, and Lynchburg. In these several charges he continued from one to three years laboring with general acceptability and usefulness. Seven years ago he took a superannuated relation, and with his family removed to Melvern, Ia., laboring with general acceptability from time to time as health would permit. Last spring he took work under a presiding elder in the North-west Kansas Conference, and recently in the Nebraska Conference, to the bounds of which he was on his way to convey his family when he was found a corpse at Peoria, Ill., on the morning of Oct. 11, at about seven o'clock. The deceased possessed a critical mind and was of studious habits, ever bringing into the sanctuary beaten oil. While the spiritual element was not wanting in his discourses the intellectual sometimes predominated. He was an able, sound, and eminently evangelical minister of the Gospel of Christ. His final disease was heart trouble. A critical examination by a competent physician, some eight months before his death, admonished him he was liable to die at any moment, and more likely when asleep than when awake, and so it proved. He chose, however, to meet this solemn event in the path of duty, and so bade his family a cheerful adieu to go on his ministerial tour, to meet death possibly at the midnight hour, when he ceased at once to work and live. In a late letter to his family he spoke of his great enjoyment of the Conference love-feast, and Bishop Mallalieu's sermon following it, at the late Nebraska Conference. "This," he writes, "has been to me one of the grandest days I ever witnessed at an Annual Conference. I felt shouting happy there and all the way from Conference, and am happy and light-hearted as I write because of this day. Tell my friends I am in the harness again, and happy." Thus did grace prepare for sudden death and a blissful immortality.

James Francis Chalfant was born in Augusta, Bracken County, Ky., Jan. 20, 1821. He was received into the Church by the Rev. Wesley Rowe, then pastor at Felicity, and he at once supplied himself with a carefully-selected library, and industriously pursued a well-chosen course of study. His exercises in the meetings attracted attention, and his spiritual counselors began to converse with him about taking a more public part in the services. He then revealed his own convictions of a call to preach, and in due time was licensed, first as an exhorter, and then as a local preacher. Being duly recommended, the Rev. Wm. H. Raper presented the case of Brother Chalfant to the Ohio Conference, at its session held in Chillicothe, Sept. 27, 1843, and he was received into the traveling connection. His first charge was Lewisburg Circuit, and the following year he was appointed to Fletcher Circuit. While in this charge, July 17, 1845, Mr. Chalfant was united in marriage to Miss Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. John F. Talley, of Batavia, Ohio, the marriage being solemnized by his first presiding elder, Rev. Wm. H. Raper. Mrs. Chalfant entered heartily into sympathy with her husband in his plans of work, and successively they served the Church in the following pastoral charges: Troy Circuit, North Bend Circuit, Wilmington, Maysville (Ky.), Covington (Ky.), Oxford, Ohio, and Columbia Street, Springfield. At the next session of the Conference, the Second Church, Urbana, was organized, and Mr. Chalfant was appointed its pastor. From Urbana he was sent to Park Street Church, Cincinnati. Brother Chalfant was next appointed to Day on District. From this he was transferred to Springfield District, on which he had served but one year, when he was appointed pastor of Trinity Church, Cincinnati. Under his pastorate the final indebtedness on this costly building was paid. In the summer of his third year at Trinity he was appointed by the Bishops and commissioned by Bishop Clark to go into the South as superintendent of our mission work, which was then so rapidly developing. After spending two years in this work Dr. Chalfant returned, and was appointed presiding elder of the West Cincinnati District. Having served a full term on this charge, he was transferred to the East Cincinnati District, of which he was for the next four years the successful presiding elder. He was elected a delegate to the General Conference of 1872. This was the General Conference that admitted lay delegation. His mind was of a high order and under excellent discipline. He was fond of nature, and greatly interested in matters of religion, commerce, science, and government; literature, science, and nature were full of interrogation points to his mind, and his investigations brought him such stores of information as made him an instructive and entertaining preacher, and an interesting and ready conversationist. He excelled in administrative ability. He was a good presiding officer, a good judge of men and of character, an excellent manager of the business of the Church, and of the institutions of which he was trustee. During the last session of the Cincinnati Conference the ministers did not know of his sickness, but on subsequently learning of it, the Cincinnati Ministers' Meeting appointed a committee, consisting of W. I. Fee, W. L. Hypes, and D. J. Starr, to visit Dr. Chalfant on a mission of sincere sympathy and brotherly-love and service on its behalf. To these brethren, to his wife, and to other friends who visited his bedside, Brother Chalfant gave strong and repeated assurances of his spiritual triumph, his resignation to the will of God, his soulful trust in Christ, and his good hope of everlasting life. In this blissful assurance he sweetly fell asleep in Christ, Oct. 5, at 6 A.M., at his residence in Springdale, O.

Andrew Murphy was born in Wilmington, Del., Nov. 28, 1796, and died in New Carlisle, O., Feb. 4, 1825, aged 88 years. When he was eighteen years of age he was converted and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, in Chester County, Pa. Nov. 20, 1817, he married Miss Mary Mercer. That faithful wife and mother laid down her life-burden in the parsonage, in Madisonville, O., on March 11, 1858, in the sweetly consoling hope of eternal life. June 16, 1859, Brother Murphy closed his year and a quarter of widowhood by marrying Miss Elizabeth Leeper, an excellent lady and faithful helpmeet. She also preceded him to the spirit land. July 3, 1870, in New Carlisle, O., where, as a superannuate, our brother had settled, and where he ended his own long pilgrimage. As a Methodist traveling preacher, he was a representative man of a type of itinerants of whom few now remain. April 15, 1832, he was ordained deacon by Bishop Hedding. In 1837 he was received into the traveling connection, in the Ohio Conference; and at Cincinnati, Sept. 2, 1839, he was ordained elder by Bishop Soule. His appointments were as follows: Worthington, Granville, Somerset, Rushville, French Grant, Barton, Coolville, Georgetown, Winchester, Highland, Clarksville, West White Oak, Williamsburg, Miami, Madisonville, Venice, Jamestown, Fletcher, Winchester, Port Union. In 1865 he took a superannuated relation, and purchasing a house and lot, he moved to New Carlisle, O. Brother Murphy's memoranda of his work were carefully preserved by him, and indicate the most careful and painstaking method in every part of his work. He was a model circuit man, and as a preacher in charge with one or more junior colleagues, did much to build up the Church, enlarge his fields of labor, and teach young ministers how to be successful pastors, sound theologians, and efficient evangelists at the same time. He was a close Bible student all his life, and in his memorandum book he has carefully collated texts of Scripture, which he entitled "A list of texts embracing the principal doctrines in theology, and experimental and practical godliness." On Monday morning, Feb. 2, he was seized with paralysis, and it was apparent that the end was not far away. After being placed upon the bed he rallied a little, and was able to speak some words intelligibly. He stated that he was not suffering much pain. Although he was quite restless for about twenty-four hours, he did not rally, but continued to sink, being unable to swallow any thing. On Wednesday night, a few minutes past ten o'clock, he ceased to breathe, and his tired spirit passed to the rest prepared for the people of God.

M. G. Baker was born in Kentucky, Dec. 31, 1815. In 1819 his parents removed to Georgetown, O., where he grew to manhood. In 1833 he was converted to God and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. He at once gave himself diligently to the study of Methodist theology, and became proficient in the great fundamental doctrines of the Church, and especially in those relating to the believer's privileges in Christ, embracing a deep, comprehensive religious experience. While in college, he first received the great blessing of perfect love. Before this he was impressed that he was called to the office and work of the ministry, but from this period his convictions became settled that this was to be the work of his life. His modest, retiring nature shrank from the responsibility, but his strong convictions held him fast. In 1843 he accepted a recommendation and was admitted on trial in the Kentucky Conference. His first and only appointment in this Conference was at Georgetown, Ky. At the end of one year, through the efforts of the presiding elder, he was transferred to the Ohio Conference, and appointed as junior preacher on Lewisburg Circuit. At the close of the year the Conference met in Cincinnati, where he was ordained by Bishop Hamline, who appointed him junior preacher on Tremont Circuit. It was during this Conference year, May 5, 1846, that he was united in marriage to Miss Kezia Lamme. His first appointment was Middletown and Franklin. At the end of one year on this charge he was ordained elder by Bishop Janes, and appointed to Clarksville. At the close of his first year on this charge his health failed, and he was compelled to rest for a year. He then resumed effective work, and was appointed to Washington Court-House, where he remained two years. His next charge was Greenfield. At the end of his first year at this place, in 1852, the old Ohio Conference was divided, and Brother Baker, much to his gratification, fell into the Cincinnati division. He was invited to return to Greenfield, but, at his own request, was removed, being appointed to Lexington. He preferred circuit work on account of his health; but at the end of this year his health again forced him into retirement, and he remained supernumerary for five years, living in Yellow Springs. In the fall of 1858 he was again made effective, and appointed to Highland Circuit, remaining two years; he received other appointments as follows: West Union, Enon, New Burlington, Jamestown, Vienna, Winchester, Camden, North Bend, Union, Moore. This year closed his active itinerant work; at the following Conference, held in Xenia, he superannuated. Before his death he removed to the city of Xenia, where he reached life's close at eight o'clock, on the evening of Sept. 26, 1884. Brother Baker's mind was clear, incisive, logical; he possessed a large fund of general information, which he used to profit. He was thoroughly Wesleyan in his theology. He had a great love for the Church, and greatly admired all our denominational peculiarities. He believed in Methodism, rejoiced in its history, and by faith anticipated for it a glorious destiny, yet he was no bigot, but catholic in his spirit toward all Christians. As a preacher, he was clear, instructive, eminently practical, and spiritual. His manner in the pulpit was generally pleasing; his style of delivery was his own, animated, but not vehement; it was pervaded with a spirit of deep solemnity that often made his utterances very impressive. He excelled as an expounder of Scripture; as a pastor, he was conscientious, faithful, laborious; doing his work well, he was successful. God used his ministry to save men. In every charge he served he had more or less revival influence attending his ministry. At Washington Court-House he had his most successful pastorate. During the two years he served this charge five hundred souls were converted and added to the Church. Within the territory then embraced in this circuit there are now five pastoral charges. He was of an humble, unassuming spirit, not much inclined to contend for his own rights, but in defense of the truth he was brave and fearless, a pure-minded, devout, holy man.

John Newton Irvin was born, April 20, 1847, in Mount Solon, Augusta County, Va., and died March 6, 1885. In 1858 his parents removed to and settled upon a farm in Allen County, O. When ten years old young Irvin read a book, called "Come to Jesus," that made a great impression on his religious nature. At fifteen he was converted and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, in May, 1862, at a meeting conducted by Rev. A. C. Barnes, D.D., of the Central Ohio Conference, in Wesley Chapel, Elida Circuit. "His conversion was clear as a sunbeam, full of joy." This was the beginning of a singularly simple, earnest, and devout Christian life. His piety was characterized by American simplicity and Oriental spirituality. He possessed a broad catholic spirit, evinced by his custom, while visiting the cathedrals of the Old World, of uniformly entering reverently and worshiping with the devout. Rev. Franklin Marriot, of Elida Circuit, licensed him to exhort, Aug. 4, 1866, and Rev. A. Harmount gave him license to preach, June 20, 1870, at Delaware, O. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Ames, March 17, 1872, and elder by Bishop Foster, Aug 30, 1874. He entered the Cincinnati Conference at Eaton, O., in the year 1872, and served the following-named charges: Fairmount, Mount Auburn, Lebanon, Trinity, Cincinnati; Grace, Piqua, and Raper, Dayton. Mr. Irvin had a high appreciation of the office and duties of the pastorate. It opened to his ardent nature rare opportunities for reaching the minds and hearts and influencing the lives of the masses; and it should be said he occupied the large sphere of usefulness his position opened to him. Gladly did he embrace these opportunities with all the enthusiasm of a strong, manly, intense nature. With him this work was an inspiration. His rare culture gave him great influence over the more intellectual of his audiences: his genial nature, earnest sympathy, and high social qualities called around him those who loved a pure social life; while his great simplicity of character and his unaffected fellowship with the worthy poor and humble drew to him these classes. He preached to all classes because he loved humanity. Without the grace of oratory, his natural and acquired abilities made him an able preacher. He was united in marriage to Miss Mary Humphreys, of Delaware, O., Oct. 9, 1873, who, with their two boys and little daughter, survives to mourn his early death. In his last hours he was conscious, but so prostrated that he was unable to speak, even to his wife. He passed calmly into the unseen world. Without a message from him, the memory of his manly, courteous, and kindliest fellowship still abides.

North-west Indiana Conference.

Daniel Shonkweiler was born in Sciota County, O., Nov. 20, 1815, and died at his home in Putnam County, Ind., Aug. 30, 1885. He came with his parents to Putnam County, Ind., in 1827, where he remained until his death. He was converted and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church when he was about eighteen years of age, and for more than a half-century maintained a consistent, upright, and pure Christian character. He was licensed to preach on the second Saturday in September, 1845. He was married to Miss Ruth Spergeon in 1838. She died Feb. 14, 1877; he was again married to Mrs. Maranda A. Thompson, March 21, 1878. He was admitted on trial in the North-west Indiana Conference, Sept. 6, 1854. His appointments for ten consecutive years were: Coal Creek, Eugene, Otter Creek, Numa, Sandford, Bellmore, Montezuma, Annapolis, and Greencastle Circuit. In 1864 he took a superannuated relation, which continued until his death. He had but few early advantages, and began the work of the ministry late in life. He was, nevertheless, a diligent student, a clear thinker, and a forceful, efficient preacher. In all his relations to the Church, he was ever true and faithful. He had charge of the little country church, where he held his membership after retiring from the active ministry, for years past furnishing most of the fuel, and paying more than half of the assessments to the society for the minister's salary. When the Master's summons came, he was ready. To his pastor, and others who were with him in his last sickness, he expressed his implicit confidence in God. Calmly and confidently he entered the shadowy valley, and passed triumphantly to his home and reward. His remains rest in the quiet country cemetery near his home.

James Johnson was born in Clark County, Ind., Jan. 21, 1812, and died Nov. 11, 1884. At the last session of his Conference, on account of failing health, he asked, and was granted, a superannuated relation. In a few days afterward he went to Kansas, in the hope that a change of climate would benefit him. He rented property and began arrangements to settle for the winter in Topeka; but finding that he was rapidly failing, and believing that his time had come to die, he determined, if possible, to reach the home of his only son in Plymouth, Ind., and die surrounded by his children. With this purpose he and his wife and daughter left Topeka, Nov. 10. They had been on the train but a short time when he was attacked with hemorrhage of the lungs. This was repeated at intervals of about two hours, and he sank rapidly; and about two o'clock on the morning of Nov. 11, while the train was in rapid motion, he sweetly fell asleep in Jesus. Brother Johnson was awakened, converted, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, at Logansport, Ind., in the spring of 1835, under the ministry of Rev. Edwin Ray. About midnight, while lodging with a strange family, his faith took hold upon Christ as a personal Saviour. Such joy filled his soul that he shouted the praise of God, awakening the family, who rejoiced with him in his new-found peace. He was married in 1836 to Miss Eliza J. Montgomery. To them were born seven children, three of whom are now living. He was admitted on trial at the first session of the North Indiana Conference, held at Fort Wayne in 1844. In the division of the North Indiana Conference, in 1852, his lot fell in the North-west Indiana Conference, of which he continued an active member until its last session. The forty years he spent in the work of the itinerant ministry were divided as follows: North Salem, Frankfort, Independence, Harrisonville, Cambridge and Dublin, Montgomery, Westville, South Bend, Westville, Waveland, South Bend, Crawfordsville, South Bend, La Porte, Rockville, Brazil, Monticello, Attica, Plymouth, Valparaiso, Delphi, Battle Ground, and La Porte. He was on the superannuated list about two months when the Master bade him come up higher, thus he ceased almost at once to work and live. As a preacher, he was sound, clear, logical, pleasing, and at times captivating. There was a vein of originality in his sermons, full of pleasing surprises; and while he might not be ranked as a great preacher, his sermons always gave evidence of careful preparation, and were never dull or uninstructive. He was a close observer of men, and was sure to win the confidence, esteem, and love of the people he was called to serve. Nature endowed him with the elements of a perfect gentleman, and he never compromised the easy, graceful dignity of the Christian minister. His last appointment was Monticello, where he served his full term of three years with great acceptability to the people. He was elected a delegate to the General Conference in 1860. He was twice honored with an election on the Board of Triers of Appeals.

California Conference.

John H. Bacon was born in Moorlinch, England, Nov. 5, 1844. At the age of eighteen he was born again, and for a time preached the Gospel in the Congregational churches of his native land. In 1869 he came to America and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. For several years he supplied charges under presiding elders in the Rock River Conference; and in 1879 was received by that body as a probationer. His health failing him, in 1880 he determined on coming to California. In 1881 he took up his abode in Livermore, Alameda County, and manifested much interest in having the fires of Methodism rekindled in that place. The following year, when appointed to San Ramon and Pleasanton, his heart still yearned over Livermore, and, though feeble in body, he included that point in his work, having to travel at least twenty-two miles and preach three times each Sabbath. During this year he did much to prepare the way for the erection of Asbury Church. Indeed, it is doubtful if Methodism in Livermore to-day would not be as it had been for years previous, but for the heroism and indomitable perseverance of this man of God. The following year he was re-appointed to San Ramon and Pleasanton. During this year Brother Bacon labored incessantly, though greatly afflicted. Last year he was appointed to Hayward's, where he was highly respected and much loved. In the spring of the year he realized that his work was about done. He preached his last sermon on Easter Sunday, with a voice so feeble that he could scarcely be heard. In April his physician informed him that his days on earth would be few. In May he, with his family, started for the home of Mrs. Bacon's father, Mr. Still, in Woodstock, Ill.; and here, surrounded by friends, he died on June 18. Brother Bacon was a man of fine intellect and deep piety, an earnest student, a hard worker, an excellent preacher, and a conscientious, pure man. During his last days he was for the most part delirious; but his last hours were bright and clear, and his last words were: "I'm going home! I'm going home!" His funeral sermon was from a text he himself had selected, and he was buried by his brethren in the cemetery at Woodstock.

David Deal was born in Pennsylvania, Feb. 24, 1820, of Methodist parents. His father was a recording steward in the Methodist Episcopal Church for forty years. Converted early in his youth, he entered the ministry in 1849, in the Indiana Conference, and came to California in 1852. He was married in early life. The faithful companion of his youth still survives him, in feeble health, and well deserving the sympathy of the Church she has so well served. There is something better in some men than appears in any thing they have said or done. There was a great amount of latent power in Brother Deal—a kind of power that cannot be formulated in words. There was determination in his eye, emphasis in his speech, a power in his gesticulation, a force of spirit which gave him a great influence over men. He knew the business of the Conference and was always on some committee. No man in his Conference was more widely known in the mountains, valleys, and cities of our State, and none more greatly respected than David Deal. He died suddenly at his house in San Rafael, Aug. 13, 1885. He died—as he always desired to—at his post. "A good man and full of the Holy Ghost."

Isaac B. Fish was born in South-western Ohio, near Cincinnati, June 30, 1824, and was converted in 1839. In 1844 he entered as student in Augusta College, Ky., where he pursued his studies preparatory to entering the ministry, which he did in 1848, joining Ohio Conference. He was a faithful, zealous, young pastor; so diligent in his pastoral work he shrunk not from the house of pestilence and death. It was during one of these visits to a small pox patient that he caught the frightful disease, which brought him to death's door, and the marks of which he carried to the grave. When a call was made for volunteers to pioneer work in California, Brother Fish took a transfer, and in the autumn of 1851 entered with spirit upon his labors in this Conference, of which he continued a member until the end of his life. Among the various charges he served successfully and efficiently was the Marysville District, during the term of four years. Upward of four years ago increasing debility led him to ask a superannuated relation, which was granted to him, when he retired to a quiet, pleasant home in Watsonville, being afflicted with softening of the brain, which terminated in paralysis of that organ; and, on Dec. 24, 1844, he calmly passed from the toils and trials of earth to the blessedness of immortality. Appropriate funeral services were conducted by his pastor, and others. His remains were laid to rest in the beautiful cemetery at Watsonville, and his devoted wife erected a tasteful monument to his memory.

William Gafney was a class-leader in Powell Street Methodist Episcopal Church, San Francisco, during the years 1851 and 1854. A lady, who was at one time a member of his class, pronounces him the best leader she ever knew. He studied class-leading, studied the members of his class, and studied the word of God. Brother Gafney was engaged in business with Mr. Genella, a brother-in-law; was extremely reticent; almost painfully diffident, and was listening with amazed incredulity to a call sounding in his heart to enter a wider sphere of teaching, when the lady above alluded to said to her husband, "Brother Gafney has a call to the ministry, and is resisting it." Careful inquiry made it clear to his brethren in the Church that the call from Heaven ought to be seconded by a recognition on the part of his brethren, and he was urged and gently forced into the ministry in 1855. As a preacher, this excellent man was eminently Wesleyan. He studied the standard authors of the Church with great diligence, and his sermons were clear, logical, convincing. In his manner there was a solemnity which sometimes wore the face of austerity, and his faith in the inherent power of truth appeared to restrain the manifestation of fervor. Those who came near to him found a warm heart beating beneath a cold exterior, and he must rank among the most faithful and conscientious of men. In him were the elements of a heroism as true as any which the world has praised in its conspicuous dead. Brother Gafney's appointments were of the poorer class, financially, and he never stooped to urge his claim for support. Consequently, after his marriage, his savings gradually melted away; his health, never robust, became still feebler. He suffered considerable anxiety for the comfort of his family, and yet went bravely onward in the path of the itinerant, until, at the Conference of 1883, he was granted a superannuated relation. His superannuation was a deep affliction to him. He still continued to supply his former charge at Sonoma, as far as failing health would permit, until last May, when God took him. On the 7th day of the month of sunshine and roses he fell asleep, with barely time to call to his wife and say, "Good-bye! I am happy! hallelujah!"

Central German Conference.

JOHN BAHRENBURG was born, Oct. 3, 1814, in Seehausen, Saxony, Germany, and entered into his heavenly rest, March 6, 1885, in Saint Louis, Mo. The son of Christian parents, he was trained to early piety, and was powerfully converted to God in the city of his birth, in the eighteenth year of his age. He at once began to labor for the conversion of souls, having promised God to devote himself to his service if he would accept him. He did so with great success, though under many persecutions and trials. In 1839 his parents emigrated to America, settling in Marietta, O., where he labored with great zeal for the Lord, and succeeded in bringing forty souls to Christ. In 1839 he united, together with the converts God had given him, with the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was married in Marietta, April 27, 1840, to Larbara Bohl, who still survives him. In 1842 he was admitted on trial to the Pittsburg Conference, in which he remained thirteen years, serving the following appointments: Capitan, Sandusky, Portsmouth, Cincinnati, Louisville, and Indianapolis. In 1854 he became presiding elder of the German work in the South-east Indiana Conference, but was obliged, much to his sorrow, to step out of the effective ranks in the autumn of the following year on account of throat trouble. Graduating in a medical college in Louisville, in 1856, he practiced medicine a few years in Indianapolis, and then removed to Saint Louis, Mo., where he united with the Wash Street German Methodist Episcopal Church, where his name is held in affectionate memory. He used his opportunities as a physician of men's bodies to point them to the Lamb of God, and was thus instrumental in the salvation of many souls while pursuing his medical profession. He was a friend of the poor, and universally esteemed and loved. He was for twenty years a class-leader. His relict wife, while feeling her loss deeply, is resigned to God's will. She and her five children rejoice in the hope of everlasting reunion beyond the grave. The funeral services were held, March 9, 1885, in the Wash Street German Methodist Episcopal Church, Saint Louis, Bishop Bowman participating therein, with the pastor, Rev. P. W. Jacoby, and seventeen ministers, and several prominent physicians being present.

West Virginia Conference.

DAVID M. HEASTON was born, Nov. 7, 1846, near Mastersville, Harrison County, O. His death occurred at Buckhannon, West Va., Nov. 11, 1884. He was the subject of converting grace at the age of sixteen, and three years after joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. In 1875 he was licensed to preach, and in 1877 was admitted on trial in the West Virginia Conference at its session held in Grafton. From this session of the Conference he was appointed to the Randolph Mission, where he remained two years. On this work he did heroic service, meeting opposition before which an ordinary spirit would quail. From this field he went, in 1879, to Webster Circuit, where he remained one year, proving himself to be a true workman. From Webster he was sent to Canaan, where his pastorate continued three years, characterized by numerous conversions of souls and by many accessions to the Church, as well as by other results of faithful work. His last charge was Buckhannon Circuit, to which he was appointed in 1882, and again in 1884. Here, as elsewhere, he gave full proof of his ministry, in his ardent zeal and incessant work, securing on this account, as also on account of his genial manners and sympathy with his parishioners, their high esteem and strong affection. In his initial work the third year on this charge he was stricken down by typhoid fever, of which he died at the date before given. His remains were conveyed to his native place, and by the associates and friends of his youth were tenderly laid away to await the resurrection mandate. From expressions that escaped his lips during his sickness and just before his departure, it was plainly evident "his life was hid with Christ in God." He quit the world, with the accents of "Jesus" lingering on his lips.

Nebraska Conference.

SAMUEL WOOD was born in Tyrone County, Ireland, in May, 1840. He was converted at the age of twenty-two, and was licensed to preach a year later. He came to America in 1867, and was received into the Church at Morristown, Ill. He was admitted into the Central Illinois Conference on trial in 1868, and ordained elder in 1873. In April of the same year he was joined in marriage to Gertie E. Reeder, of Kansas. Brother Wood was transferred to the Nebraska Conference in 1878, and passed to his final home, in great peace, Jan. 3, 1885. He was a faithful Methodist preacher, of more than ordinary ability; clear, forceful, and deeply pious, and always successful. He served acceptably the following charges in the Central Illinois Conference: Snatchwine, La Fayette, Elmira, West Jersey, Whitefield, and Chatsworth. In the Nebraska Conference the following charges were served by Brother Wood: Sutton, Central City, and Tecumseh. He was in the midst of his second year's labor on the last-named station when the Master called him. His last sermon, "Coming to God," was one of great power. He said to his wife, "I was so filled with its importance that my whole being quivered with the inspiration." Just before the end came he said, "Since coming here my religious experience has been growing; with me it is all settled. It is all joy, joy, joy!"

North-west German Conference.

J. L. RISER, after a short sickness, died Feb. 15, 1885, aged twenty-nine years. His earthly career was very short, and his service for the blessed Master comprised but a few years. Under the work of Brother F. Schmidt and the influence of the Holy Spirit, Brother Riser was converted to God. Since then he always tried to be active in the service of his Master, as singing teacher, instructor of the youth in our public schools, and minister of the Gospel. He labored at Decorah, Danville, and Nora Springs missions. From the latter place he was called to rest from all earthly labors. As a true unpretending servant, he performed his work to the best of his ability. He was united in matrimony to Miss E. Amilia Radhammel, Sept. 6, 1883, an only child passed on before, and the young wife, with a sad heart and a blessed hope, looks forward for a happy reunion.

West Wisconsin Conference.

JOSEPH J. AUSTIN died in Sechlerville, Wis., May 23, 1885. He was born in Brooklyn, O., Feb. 18, 1838. He was married, Dec. 4, 1869, to Miss Clarissa N. Newell, who, with her dependent children, survives him. When about seventeen years old he was happily converted, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was licensed to preach, and was employed for four years as a supply by Bennett Eaton, a presiding elder in the Troy Conference. Uniting with the same Conference afterward, he received the following appointments: East Pittsford, Clarington, Addison, Monkton, Bloomingdale, Knox, Mineral Springs, and Minaville. In the fall of 1882 he was transferred to the West Wisconsin Conference, and stationed at Greenwood in 1883, then at Sechlerville, where he died. His death was sudden, caused, no doubt, by overwork. He fell from the wagon in which he was riding, without speaking, simply recognizing those who came to him by a look only. Brother Austin was truly a good man in all the relations of life. He was devoted to the work of the ministry, and ready to make sacrifices for the sake of Christ. He loved his family, and it was with the hope of improving their health that he came with them to Wisconsin. He died in blessed hope.

Erie Conference.

John K. Hallock was born in Peru, Clinton County, N. Y., Feb. 2, 1798, and died in Conneautville, Crawford County, Pa., April 3, 1885. In 1826, at a camp-meeting held by Rev. William Swazey, he was awakened to a sense of his lost condition, and after returning home, while engaged in prayer with his family, found pardon and peace. He was licensed to preach in 1828, employed two years by the presiding elder, and in 1831 received on probation in the Pittsburg Conference. After eleven years of very active service he received a supernumerary relation, and was four years without an appointment. His health being restored he was again made "effective," and continued in the pastoral work twenty-five years, making, in all, an active ministry of thirty-six years. In 1869 he was superannuated, and so remained to the last.

G. M. Eberman was born in Columbia, Lancaster County, Pa., Nov. 25, 1817, and died in Centreville, May 7, 1885. He was converted in 1842, and immediately appointed class-leader. He served with fidelity and great usefulness in this relation until urged to enter a wider field and assume weightier responsibilities. With a deep sense of his personal insufficiency, but satisfied that God called him, he answered promptly. His social qualities and habits were excellent, cheerful without levity, cordial and sincere, a man without guile, he affected nothing and had nothing to conceal. The beauty and transparency of his life and character readily won the confidence of all, and gave force to his words of entreaty and persuasion.

E. A. Johnson, D.D., was born in Gowanda, N. Y., Oct. 30, 1829, and died at his home in Allegheny City, June 30, 1885. When but eleven years of age he united with the Church, and was esteemed as a most conscientious and thoroughly consistent young Christian. His gift, grace, and usefulness being recognized by the Church, in his twentieth year he was licensed to preach, and in 1852 admitted to the Erie Conference. Modest and unassuming, though always ready for any work assigned him, he grew rapidly in favor with God and man. In society and the families he visited he was ever most welcome because of his gentlemanly habits and intelligent conversation. In the pulpit his manner was graceful, and his well-prepared sermons, always clear and forcible, often brilliant, showed the impress of a workman that needed not to be ashamed. In 1868 he was elected assistant editor of the "Pittsburg Christian Advocate," and served with ability four years in that capacity. During all his successful pastorates he had been a sufferer from asthma, frequently unable to lie down at night, and after hours of much distress, finding relief only when the time came for the public service, but seldom having any asthmatic trouble when speaking. When he assumed his editorial duties in Pittsburg, through some peculiar influence of the atmosphere of the place, he most unexpectedly found entire relief and enjoyed excellent health. If out of the place for only forty-eight hours the trouble returned; while there he seemed safe. As a man and Christian minister our dear brother was a model of excellence to be admired and imitated, one whose life was not marred by faults or inconsistencies, and in whose spirit there was no guile. Scrupulously honest and sincere, those who knew him best delighted in his society, and found it not only pleasant but elevating.

Joseph Leslie was born in East Liberty, Fayette County, Pa., July 28, 1812, and died in Cattaraugus, N. Y., March 13, 1885. Blessed with Christian parents he was brought to the Saviour in his fifteenth year. In his twenty-fourth year he was licensed to preach, his license bearing the signature of Ira Eddy. In August of the same year he was admitted to the itinerant ministry. This was at the first session of the Erie Conference, and for forty-nine consecutive years he received his appointments from the Bishop, remaining in the effective ranks without a break. In that time he served twenty different pastoral charges, three of them two terms each. He also served three districts as presiding elder, passing twelve years in that office. It was a cherished wish of his later years to round out a full half-century in his divinely appointed work; but the Master said: "It is enough." Twice he represented his Conference in the General Conference. For several years he served the Church as a member of the publishing committee of the "Pittsburg Christian Advocate." On Feb. 3, 1836, he was united in marriage to Miss Hannah Gibson, who survives him. As a preacher, Joseph Leslie was able, forcible, and true to the Church of his choice; as a pastor, he was so kindly as to make him a welcome visitor at every home, and at the same time so faithful as to be a very efficient worker for Christ. These are some of the last sentences that fell from his lips: "I realize that religion is no cunningly devised fable." "I have felt like the child of a King." "Through Jesus I have all things and abound—abound!"

John R. Lyon was born in Brighton, Canada West, Feb. 25, 1823, and fell asleep in Jesus, March 15, 1885. He was converted and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church at the age of fourteen. On May 16, 1842, he was married to Mary L. Lu Roy, of Youngstown, O., who survives him. He was admitted on trial in the Erie Conference, July, 1846, and continued in active service for thirty-five years. During those years he served some of the best charges in the Conference. Many souls were converted through his agency, and the charges were blessed by his labors. He presided over the Clarion District for four years. He was honored by his Conference with a seat in the General Conference of 1876. About seven years ago his health began to fail; he and his friends thought this would be only temporary, but in this they were disappointed. Three years ago the Conference gave him rest. He remained in his last charge to suffer and to die. After the singing of the hymn "Jesus, lover of my soul," he said, "What a refuge! I say, what a refuge!" and his soul went out in praise to God. His body sleeps in the cemetery at Sheridan, N. Y., awaiting the "voice of the archangel and the trump of God."

John Perry died in the early morning of Nov. 7, 1884, at his home, near Clarksville, Mercer County, Pa., after an illness of a few days, in the sixty-seventh year of his age and the seventeenth of his itinerant ministry. He was born in Wolverhampton, Staffordshire, England. In 1853 he came to this country, and shortly afterward was received and licensed to preach in the Methodist Episcopal Church at Johnstown, Pa. In 1867 he was received into the Erie Conference, and appointed to North Washington Charge. His appointments after that were nearly all within New Castle District. At the last session of Conference he was appointed for the fifth year to Clarksville, it being the third of this pastoral term, he also having served a term of two years in 1872 and 1873. Brother Perry was of positive character; though firm and sometimes apparently severe, but really of great tenderness and Christian love. An unswerving fidelity marked his course in all he conceived to be good and right, both in private and public life. A very marked point in his Christian and ministerial life was a clear consciousness of personal acceptance with God thorough faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. This point he ever aimed to have fixed definitely in himself, and also to impress in its real importance most emphatically upon others, both in his pulpit and other labors. Many souls were saved through his instrumentality. He died in the clear consciousness of an intelligent, calm, and triumphant faith in the living Redeemer.

Upper Iowa Conference.

LANDON TAYLOR was born in Central New York, in 1813, and died April 19, 1885. In Methodist circles of the North-west, few names are more familiar or more redolent of pleasant memories than his. He was not a stranger in Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, or Colorado, and in Iowa he was to multitudes a familiar friend, and to many like one of their own family. Attaining his majority in 1834, Landon left the old home in New York and followed an older brother, who had preceded him to Ohio and settled on the banks of the Little Scioto, near where Wheelersburg now stands. In May, 1837, he and some young companions were spending an evening over "a friendly game of cards." The clock struck ten; every stroke seemed to each a voice of final warning. God's Spirit spoke to all. In a moment they were on their feet, and joined in a solemn pledge to play no more. They at once entered upon a life of prayer, and the following Sabbath, at a quarterly meeting held in Wheelersburg, having passed from death unto life, Landon Taylor united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. Within a week he was appointed leader of a neighboring class, and entered upon a life of usefulness to others. Shortly after this he was joined in marriage to Miss Jane Vincent. Two sons were the issue of this happy union. One of the children died in infancy, the other grew to manhood, and cared for his father through the closing months of his life. In June, 1842, he was licensed to preach. The next two years he traveled and preached as a supply on the Burlington Circuit. In August, 1845, he removed to Iowa, and was admitted on trial in the Iowa Conference at its first session held in Burlington. His first appointment was to Mount Pleasant Circuit; in 1846, Clear Creek Mission; in 1847, Dubuque Circuit. He here labored two years, and nearly all of his subsequent ministry was in the northern part of Iowa. In 1849 he was stationed in Dubuque City; in 1850, Davenport; in 1852–53, "Old Zion," Burlington, where he gathered much fruit unto eternal life. In 1854 he was again stationed in Dubuque, in Centenary Church. In 1855 he was appointed Sunday-school and Tract Agent. In 1856 the northern half of the State having been set off as the Upper Iowa Conference, Brother Taylor was chosen its first secretary, and was also presiding elder of Sioux City District and pastor in Sioux City. In 1858 he was appointed to Maquoketa. In the early spring of 1860, his health being seriously impaired, he crossed the plains and sought restoration in the mountains of Colorado. Here he engaged in manual labor during the week, and preached in the miners' camps on the Sabbath, often walking many miles to respond to the numerous calls for his services. At the Conference of 1860 he was placed, for the first time, on the list of superannuates, but returning with improved health he was assigned to the care of Iowa City. In 1861 he was restored to the effective list and appointed to Cedar Falls, but his health again failed, and in 1862 he took a superannuated relation and sojourned in Vineland, N. J. With health again improved by change of air and healthful exercise he returned to Iowa, and in 1863 was restored to the effective ranks and stationed in Clinton. In 1864, with health again impaired, he became supernumerary. In 1865 he was superannuated. In 1866 he accepted an appointment as Agent of the American Bible Society. He continued in this work two years. In 1868 he was again entered supernumerary. In 1869 he was changed to effective and appointed to Le Claire, and in 1870 to Low Moor. In 1871 he again took a supernumerary relation. In 1872 he was changed to effective and stationed at Wyoming. In 1873, for change of work, travel, and liberty, he was appointed Conference evangelist, and did such work as he could, making his home at Benton Harbor, Mich. Since 1874 he was continued on the superannuated list until 1883, when he was changed to supernumerary, in which relation he continued until his death.

Detroit Conference.

JOHN MOTTE ARNOLD, D.D., was born in Acra, Greene County, N. Y., Oct. 15, 1824, and, without a moment's warning, passed to his heavenly rest from his family residence, in the city of Detroit, Dec. 5, 1884, in the sixty-first year of his age, leaving a wife and four children to mourn his departure from the incessant activities of a useful Christian life and from the dear society of those whom he loved so well. Dr. Arnold's religious life had its beginnings in his childhood, under the influence and teachings of his pious mother, but his serious impressions and convictions seem to have been overborne by the frivolities of life, for he himself says of his boyhood that it was "wild and passionate and desperate." His awakening from this condition is ascribed to a sermon preached at midnight at a camp-meeting near Romeo. From that time his career as a Christian was one of undeviating fidelity to truth and duty, and was marked by zealous efforts for the cause of Christ. In 1848 he was received on trial in the Michigan Annual Conference, and appointed as follows: Port Huron, Saint Clair, Flint, Corunna, presiding elder of Owasso District, Dexter, and Woodward Avenue Church, Detroit, then (as now, under its designation of Central) the most responsible Methodist pulpit and pastoral trust in the whole State. One year more of pastoral labor in the Walnut Street Church, Detroit, completed his regular ministerial work. From the year 1863 up to the time of his death, comprising nearly twenty-two years, Dr. Arnold had charge, at first of the Methodist Book Depository in Detroit, and later of the "Michigan Christian Advocate" as business manager and assistant editor, and finally as editor-in-chief. As a preacher of the Gospel, as a minister of Jesus Christ, he has greater claims to our attention and regards than when viewed in any other light. The best years of his life were those wholly given to the work of the ministry, and this in all probability is true of every man called of God to preach the Gospel. He was useful in the ministry in the highest sense of the term, in that God blessed his labors in the conversion of sinners, in that revivals of religion attended his efforts. His force of character, his persistency in securing results, were here seen in bold relief. Dr. Arnold's preaching was the ministration of knowledge on all the themes of current pulpit discourses. It was practical rather than theoretical. He attempted no profound theological speculations in the pulpit. The last few years of his life, devoted to editorial labors, to ministerial services in the pulpits of his brethren, and to the private as well as public duties of the religious profession, command our unqualified approval and admiration. His growth in Christian life and usefulness during this last period of his history brought him into the warmest sympathies of his brethren. His mind reached that grand elevation so eloquently described by the great philosopher, where it "moved in charity, rested in Providence, and turned on the poles of truth." The strength of his character never before appeared in such outlines of meekness and tenderness and spiritual beauty. He was really a new personality in the proceedings and history of our last Conference. He had reached that stage where he had power with God; his petitions partaking of the ardor of the seraph and lifting the soul into the awful Presence as with the strength of the archangel. What then seemed to awaken a species of wonder was soon made plain by the interpretations of Providence. He was at that time walking with God in the land of Beulah, and already in sight of the celestial city. In less than three months, while sitting in loving converse in his family circle, he instantly sank from his seat, and as she who had been his devoted wife for thirty-four years inclosed him in her arms of affection, he was not; God had taken him.

IRA H. CAMBURN was born in Niagara Co., N. Y., June 1, 1815, and removed to Franklin, Lenawee County, Mich., in his youth. He was converted and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1843, when he was twenty-eight years old. He served the Church as class-leader and exhorter, and in 1854 was licensed to preach the Gospel, and in September of that year was received on trial in the Michigan Annual Conference and appointed to Liberty Circuit. His subsequent appointments were as follows: Henrietta, Fort Sanilac, Brockway, Memphis, Columbus, Saint Mary's, Lambertville, Fairfield, Macon, Tittabawassee, Tuscola, Cass City, Mayville, and Dayton. Here, after twenty-two years of hard service in the itinerancy, his health failed, and he was compelled to superannuate. He spent the remaining eight years of his life at Denton, Wayne County, in feeble health, when, on the morning of Jan. 20, 1885, he died in peace, in the seventieth year of his age. Brother Camburn was a man of stately presence, his countenance and bearing indicating candor, sincerity, quiet temperament, and his daily life evincing singleness of purpose and principles of uprightness. His plainness of manners, freedom from all pretensions, and uniform consistency of character, commanded the respect and confidence of his friends and acquaintances. He was a steadfast member of the Church, a useful member of society, a substantial citizen in the community, and, passing into the ministry at the call of God and his brethren, his qualities and attributes as a man gave emphasis and character to his preaching, and made his influence as a friend and pastor among the people a permanent blessing. "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord."

CURTIS MOSHER was born in Ira, Cayuga County, N. Y., April 14, 1815. His religious inclinations appeared in his childhood. He always supposed that he was converted at the age of fourteen, but, not being in good religious associations, he made no public Christian profession until he reached his twenty-fourth year, when, in a very memorable revival at Pokagon, Cass County, Mich., in 1840, he was powerfully reconverted, when he immediately received an impression that he was called of God to preach the Gospel. At the end of three weeks he was appointed a class-leader, and soon after was authorized to officiate as an exhorter. In a few months, on account of sickness in his family, he returned to the State of New York, purchased his mother's farm, and during his four years' residence there was unremitting in his efforts to save souls, in which he was eminently successful. Returning to Michigan, his great usefulness as a local preacher led to his employment as a supply on Allegan Circuit in 1847. In 1848 he was received on trial in the Michigan Annual Conference, and appointed preacher in charge of the circuit, and was continued in the same pastorate the next year. Brother Mosher's fields of labor were: Climax, Burlington, Manchester, Oakville, Wayne, and Farmington, where he had the most powerful revival in the history of that appointment, the Rev. Jacob Horton, one of our honored ministers in this Conference, being among the converts. In 1857–58 he was stationed in East Saginaw, after which his appointments were: Hartland, Napoleon, Clarkson, Hadley, superannuated, Grand Blanc, Chesterfield, South Saginaw, and Swartz Creek. In 1871 he was made a supernumerary, which relation he sustained four years, when his final superannuation occurred, which terminated with his decease on Sept. 20, 1884, during the session of the Annual Conference, in the seventieth year of his age. Brother Mosher was married to Miss Julia A. Brown, in Hannibal, Oswego County, N. Y., Sept. 12, 1838. He was blessed with a family of two sons and two daughters. His sons preceded him to the spirit world, both dying in their manhood. His wife and daughters live to mourn their loss and to bless his memory.

Central Ohio Conference.

SAMUEL M. ALLEN was born in Luzerne County, Pa., in 1793, and died in West Liberty, O., July 14, 1885. In early life he gave himself to God and to the Methodist Episcopal Church. He moved to Ohio in 1833, and the same year was admitted into the Ohio Conference. Mr. Allen was a well-developed man, a loyal citizen, a sound and earnest Methodist, a devout and zealous Christian, and he died in holy triumph.

ROLLA H. CHUBBS died Nov. 8, 1884, in the seventy-fourth year of his age, and the forty-sixth of his ministry. He was born in Poultney, Vt., but went to Michigan when fifteen, and was there converted and joined the Michigan Conference in 1838. Subsequently, on the division of the Conference, he fell into the North Ohio Conference, and in 1864 was transferred to the Central Ohio. He was a man of varied talent and labors, as a missionary among the Indians, a pastor, agent of the Tract Society, and superintendent of the Seaman's Friend Society. In all these fields he was unwearied and successful, and had many seals to his ministry. For the last sixteen years he was superannuated. Brother Chubb was a preacher of more than ordinary ability, and his sermons were clear and convincing. He understood the doctrines and economy of his Church, and was able to maintain them in public debate as well as in the pulpit.

JAMES S. G. REEDER was born at West Cairo, O., Sept. 17, 1845, and died June 15, 1885. He was converted in his eighth year, and in 1874 was admitted into the Central Ohio Conference. He was an active and successful minister until the failure of his health from exposure while building a new church. In 1884 he was placed on the superannuated list. His death was victorious, the fitting end of a good life.

East Ohio Conference.

GEORGE CROOK was born of religious parents in Bradford on Avon, England, Oct. 26, 1823. In 1847 he came to this country, and was converted in the spring of 1848. In the fall of 1849 he was called to labor on the Richmond Circuit. In the fall of 1850, being recommended by the Quarterly Conference, he was received on trial in the Pittsburg Conference, where his appointments were: Smithfield, Cadiz, Sandyville, Canton, New Somerset, Manchester, Columbiana, Sewickley, Findleyville, Peter's Creek, twice to Fayette City and Belle Vernon, Somerset, Dravo and Greenock, Enon Valley, Liverpool, Leesburg, Brush Valley, Mechanicsburg, Livermore, Damascoville, North Jackson, Southington, Braceville, Irondale, Waynesburg, Pleasant Valley. On April 7, 1885, he passed gently and peacefully away at his home, in Salem, O., and three days after was laid to rest in Allegheny Cemetery. Thus, for thirty-four years, without interruption he continued in the work of the ministry. The Gospel he preached so faithfully to others sustained him in his last affliction, and in it he possessed that peace of mind that passeth all understanding. Having fought the good fight he finished his course and entered into the joy of his Lord. Great was his love to the Church, to his family, and to his fellow-men.

S. W. Ingraham was born in Bristol, R. I., Feb. 8, 1795. In his early childhood his parents moved to Dutchess County, N. Y. Here he grew to manhood, and at the age of twenty-one years was married. About nine years after this he removed with his family to Chautauqua, in the more western part of the State. He was converted when about twenty years old, but did not enter upon the work of the ministry until nearly thirty-eight years of age. Among the charges to which he was assigned we name Lowville, Sandy Creek, Franklin, Shippensville, Williamsfield, Salem, Pa., and New Castle Circuit. On the charge last named his health failed, and the Conference following granted him a superannuated relation. In this relation he remained four years, when he was again made effective, and sent to a charge near Brady's Bend; thence to Deerfield and Parkman Circuits, on the last of which he ended his effective work as a Methodist minister, and died Aug. 17, 1885.

John Wesley Fouts was born, March 26, 1826, in M'Connellsville, O., and died, April 2, 1885, at Belmont, O. In 1846 he was married to Elizabeth Ann Grubb, who died Jan. 17, 1884. In 1861 he entered the Union Army as captain of Company D, Sixty-third Regiment of Ohio Volunteer Infantry. He was afterward promoted to the rank of major, and during the last year of his service was commander of the regiment. In the army he was efficient and popular. He served for three years and four months. At the age of seven he sought the Lord and desired to unite with the Church, but this was not consummated until three years later. He subsequently filled the offices of steward and class-leader very efficiently. He also served the Lord and the Church as a local preacher for twenty years, and as such was ordained to both deacons and elders' orders. In 1870 he made application and was admitted on trial in the Pittsburg Conference. He served the following pastoral charges: Senecaville, Rich Hill, Plainfield, Bethel, Deersville. In all these charges he did faithful work, and was highly appreciated in the churches he served. On Nov. 6, 1884, he was united in a second marriage to Miss Emma Welsh. In his last sickness he suffered much, but could say, "If it is the Lord's will to call me away I am ready to go."

L. B. King was born Dec. 30, 1838, and died July 24, 1885. He was converted and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1858. He was received on trial in the Pittsburg Conference in 1868. He was ordained deacon in 1870, and elder in 1872. He was a member of the East Ohio Conference since its organization, in 1876. He was effective in the ministry thirteen years. Our departed brother suffered much in his last sickness. He did not murmur. He met death with a holy triumph. He called his weeping wife to him, and said: "This room is full of angelic beings. The angels have come, and I want you to know that, when you cannot administer to my wants any more, I am not alone. The angels will come nearer and nearer, till they bear me away to be with the redeemed." His last words were: "The Saviour is precious." He died to live forever. Our brother was a consistent Christian, a thoughtful, prudent, and practical preacher. His sorrowing wife and children mourn their loss.

Leroy S. Johnston.—[Obituary not received.]

Alabama Conference.

John W. Jones, a superannuated member, died suddenly, from the effect of burns, in the eighty-fifth year of his age. He was converted to God while young, and licensed to preach in the Methodist Episcopal Church, of which he remained a member until the organization of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in 1845. Having been a member of the Holston Conference, and doing heroic work among the mountains of Tennessee and North Alabama, he cast his lot with the Southern Church, and continued in the itinerancy, traveling on various circuits until 1869, when he joined the Alabama Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. His first circuit was Kelley's Creek, which he served in 1869–70; his second being Montaralto, which he served in 1870–71. In 1872 he was presiding elder of Huntsville District, and was in charge of Irondale Circuit in 1874–75. In 1879 he was granted a supernumerary relation, which he held until 1880, when he was granted a superannuated relation, which he sustained at the time of his death. Father Jones did heroic work in the Alabama Conference. He was a faithful pastor, and possessed great intellectual power; was a good preacher, full of faith and the Holy Ghost.

J. D. Edwards.—[Obituary not received.]

Iowa Conference.

John S. Freeland was born in Mapletown, Green County, Pa., August 23, 1845. He was converted when eighteen years of age, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. On his nineteenth birthday he enlisted in Company D of the One Hundred and Fifty-fifth Pennsylvania Infantry to defend his country against the armed rebellion that was then seeking to disrupt it. He was in the battles of Hatcher's Run and Five Forks, witnessed the surrender of General Lee, and was honorably discharged at Washington, D. C., June 12, 1865. On returning home, he attended college for a time at Waynesburg, Pa. In 1869 he was licensed to preach, and for two years traveled under the supervision of Rev. J. B. Blakeney, then presiding elder of Morgantown District. In 1871 he was admitted on trial in the West Virginia Conference, and for five years labored with great acceptability and usefulness. While on the Williamstown work he married Miss Mary L. Kinnaird, of that place, in 1872. The charges served by him while in the West Virginia Conference were Brandenville, Point Pleasant, Clifton, Williamstown, and Burning Springs. In 1876 he was transferred to Iowa Conference, and was appointed successively to Moulton, Farmington, Pella, Granville, Rose Hill, and Salem. Toward the close of last year his health became so impaired as to render him unable to do full work. But the brethren on the Salem Charge, thinking that a few weeks' rest would restore his health, insisted on his re-appointment. Instead of reviving he continued to decline, until Jan. 2, 1885, when he closed his eyes in great peace and went up to join the white-robed throng in the heavenly city, where there is no death, neither sickness, pain, nor sorrow. He left four little ones to the care and guardianship of his affectionate and bereaved companion. He was buried at Salem by the order of Odd-fellows, of which organization he was an honored member. An able and appropriate funeral sermon was preached by Rev. J. B. Blakeney. Brother Freeland had clear views of Bible truth and preached from the heart, with much acceptability and efficiency, the doctrines of the Gospel. He was a faithful pastor, a good organizer of church work, a judicial administrator, and indefatigable in promoting all the interests of the Church. He was a warm-hearted and faithful friend, a real Christian gentleman, and in every sense true to all the relations he sustained to God, his family, his country, and his fellow-men. In his death the Church has lost a faithful and able worker.

L. C. Woodford was born in Candor, Tioga County, N. Y., May 31, 1813. He was educated at Cazenovia Seminary. He was converted and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church in Candor in August, 1833. He was licensed to preach in October, 1836. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Roberts, at Cazenovia, in August, 1840, and supplied the Speedville Circuit that year. He was admitted on trial in Oneida Conference in September, 1841, and for three years served respectively Pagebrook, Windsor, and Bristol Circuits. In 1844 he joined the Iowa Conference, of which he remained a member until called to his reward above, having been fifty-one years a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and forty-eight years an itinerant minister. His appointments in Iowa were as follows: Mount Vernon, Tipton, Grandview, Crawfordsville, and Richmond. Although his effective relation to the Conference was only about fifteen years, he was active in the work of the Church and his divine Lord as long as his physical strength would permit, often, indeed, going beyond his strength in his love and zeal for the cause of God and humanity. He superannuated because of weakness of the lungs soon after coming to Davenport, where, by his loving and gentle spirit, he endeared himself to all who knew him, and from where he went to his reward on Sept. 13, 1884. Father Woodford was one of the most unselfish of men, and was always deeply interested in the success of the Gospel of the blessed Christ, and particularly within the bounds of the Iowa Conference. The time of the Conference session was always a time of deep interest to him, and when he could no longer meet with his brethren he watched eagerly for any and all accounts of their annual meetings. About a year before he died cancer developed, so located as to cause intense and constant suffering; yet all was borne without a murmur, and most of the time with cheerfulness. His death was a happy illustration of the power of Christian faith. His funeral took place from the Fourteenth Street M. E. Church, Davenport, conducted by the pastor, unto whom Brother Woodford had said, when arranging for it (as he did minutely), "I do not want you to eulogize me, but preach so as to touch the heart of some poor sinner." On Feb. 18, 1836, he married Miss Maria Howel, of Spencer, N. Y., who has shared his labors and triumphs, and who, with a daughter and son, all worthy members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, survives him.

Eben Cornell Berry was born at Portsmouth, N. H., Oct. 6, 1845, and died June 30, 1885, at Kingston, N. H., aged thirty-nine years. He was converted at Boston, Mass., in 1867; was baptized in Rochester, N. H., in 1868, by Rev. L. P. Cushman, and was received into the Methodist Episcopal Church the same year. He was licensed to exhort in 1869, and to preach in 1870, at Rochester, N. H. He joined the New Hampshire Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church in April, 1876, and was ordained local deacon at the same Conference. He was ordained elder in April, 1880. Brother Berry was married in Dover, N. H., Oct. 6, 1870, to Miss Clarissa A. Buzzell. He was twice married. Brother Berry was graduated at a business school in Concord, N. H. He was a student of the New Hampshire Conference Seminary and Female College, and lacked but two terms of graduation. He was also a student at the School of Theology, Boston University, in 1878. His stations were as follows: Groveton, N. H.; Seabrook, N. H.; Salem, Kingston, Gilford Village. On account of poor health, Sept. 22, 1884, he went West, and was transferred to the Iowa Conference in April, 1885. His last station was New Sharon, Iowa. A severe chill brought on a relapse of his former complaints. Failing rapidly, he and his wife started for the former home of Mrs. Berry, in Kingston, N. H., which they were barely able to reach a few days before his death. He was completely and gloriously sustained in his last days and hours by the comforts and hopes of that Gospel which he so much loved to preach. His funeral was attended, July 3, at the Methodist Episcopal Church in Kingston, N. H., by a goodly number of his kindred and the loved parishioners of other days.

Ohio Conference.

Andrew B. See was born of Christian parents in Butler County, Ohio, in 1817. He was converted and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1840. Not long after his connection with the Church he was licensed to preach, and served the Church for seven years in this relation, all the while impressed that it was his duty to give himself wholly to the work of an itinerant minister. In 1848 he was received on trial into the Ohio Conference and filled the following appointments: Royalton, Baltimore, Dublin, Washington, London, Newark, Portsmouth, Athens; Chillicothe, Main Street; Portsmouth, Bigelow Church; Portsmouth District; Portsmouth, Sixth Street; presiding elder of Marietta District; Trenton, Wesley Church; presiding elder of London District, presiding elder of Columbus District; Zanesville, Seventh Street, and agent of Preachers' Mutual Relief Society. He was taken ill at the Ohio Conference Camp-meeting a few weeks before the Conference session, and lingered until the middle of November, when he passed peacefully from labor to reward. Brother See was a most amiable Christian gentleman—modest, unpretentious, devout. As a minister, he was fully consecrated to his work. His sermons were carefully prepared, and his zeal was with knowledge, and his utterances gave evidence of a loving heart. He always, by God's help, gained the affections of the people of his charge; nor was he unsuccessful in winning souls to Christ. He rendered invaluable service to his brethren of the Preachers' Mutual Relief Society. And he was also an honored and useful member of the board of trustees of Ohio Wesleyan University. He filled up the measure of his days in getting and doing good.

Ezekiel Sibley was born at Westfield, Mass., Oct. 22, 1814, and died of paralysis of the throat at Racine, Ohio, April 15, 1885, in the seventy-first year of his age. October 29, 1834, he was united in marriage to Miss Phebe Simmons. From this union there were born to them seven children—four of whom, two sons and two daughters, together with their mother, survive. In 1855 he was admitted into the traveling connection in Ohio Conference. His first charge was the old Letart Circuit, on which he labored two years, residing at Racine. His second charge was Plymouth Circuit, Washington County. To both of these charges he was returned in later years. He also served as pastor Nelsonville, Royalton, Canal Winchester, Tarleton, Cheshire, and Stewart Charges. During a considerable portion of his ministerial life he was compelled to hold a superannuated relation because of ill health. This relation he took for the last time in 1881, continuing till death. As a Christian man, Brother Sibley had few superiors. His piety was deep and genuine. He loved the Church and the cause of God as he loved his own soul. In his faith, experience, and hope, he was as unshaken as the hills. His experience was so deep, clear, and satisfactory, that it seemed to be without a shadow. In his faith and fidelity to God he stood like a rock. There was nothing sour or morose about him. He was sweet spirited, sweet tempered, full of sunshine, and full of cheerfulness. He was a grand specimen of a true and noble Christian man. As a preacher, he was earnest, interesting, and convincing. His ministerial labors were wonderfully blessed in the conversion of souls.

Levi Cunningham was born in Wood County, W. Va., Jan. 8, 1812, and died in Westerville, O., July 17, 1885, aged seventy-three. In 1830 he made a profession of faith in Christ and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was received on trial in Ohio Conference in 1842, and for thirty-six consecutive years he faithfully and efficiently performed the work of an itinerant preacher. He occupied the following fields of labor: North Bend, New Haven, Clarksville, Ravenswood, Barlow, Deavertown, Amesville, Rushville, Irville, Hebron, Groveport, Worthington, presiding elder of Portsmouth District four years, London, Gallipolis, Newark, Harrisburg, Hilliard, presiding elder of Zanesville District four years, Westerville. In 1878 he asked for and obtained a superannuated relation. He remained in Westerville, and when occasion required preached there and in the churches round about, with great acceptability. His love for the Church and its work continued ardent and strong to the last. In 1846 he was married to Miss Isabel Chetely, who, with five daughters, mourns her loss. In all the relations he sustained to others he evinced the character and life of a Christian. He was divinely honored in the tranquillity of his last days. He had no fears, no hesitations, no gloomy uncertainties. His death was serene.

Michigan Conference.

WALLACE S. FOSTER was born in Alexandria, N. Y., Oct. 9, 1851. He was converted at the age of nineteen. He was for some time a student in the Ives Seminary, Northern New York Conference. After he was converted he was impressed that God called him to preach the Gospel. He at first hesitated and refused to go. He believed he was unworthy such a prominent position, and not properly qualified to render service in such a responsible station. He was married to Miss Emma Crowley in May, 1877. He moved to Michigan and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church on the Butler Charge, Coldwater District. Soon after he was licensed to preach, recommended to the Annual Conference, and received on trial. His first appointment was at Ransom Charge, which he served two years with a fair degree of success. In the fall of 1883 he was appointed to the Kinderhook Charge. Nearly all the winter following he was in revival meetings, and reported as the results of his efforts a hundred conversions. His health was somewhat impaired by preaching in a warm room, and then riding seven or eight miles in the cold night air. Brother Foster's appointment at the last session of Conference was made in reference to ease in labor, and convenience to the physicians of the city of Hillsdale. But all served no purpose. The foundation of a fatal disease had been laid, and the work of breaking and crumbling the strong iron constitution was soon accomplished. He died in great peace, his last utterance being, "My work is done."

WILLIAM DOUST was born in Kent County, Eng., Feb. 22, 1828, and died in Paw Paw, Mich., May 20, 1885, at the age of fifty-seven years. In 1856 he resolved to come to America. He landed in New York on the first day of June, 1855. In the fall of the same year he was received into the Michigan Conference, his first charge being Osseo Circuit with its seventeen appointments; Rev. Isaac Finch was the preacher in charge. Here these ministers, who worked in great harmony, were blessed with a gracious revival of religion. In 1858 he was ordained deacon by Bishop Ames, and in 1861 elder by the same Bishop. The following were his appointments: Osseo, Reading, Quincy, North Adams, Burr Oak, Sturgis, Hillsdale, Ovid, Pentwater, Eaton Rapids, Charlotte, Mason, Saint Joseph, Paw Paw. Brother Doust was no ordinary person, no matter from what stand-point we look at him. He was blessed with remarkable brain power. God gave him capital to commence life with, and he did not "waste his Lord's goods." He improved his time, cultivated his gifts. His large and costly library showed him to be a man of research and deep thought. He was naturally kind hearted. He not only had brain power but heart power, two things necessary for a successful minister. He was an evenly balanced character, one part of his nature did not excel at the expense of another. On all moral questions he took a front seat and stayed there. He did not ask the question, "Will the crowd come?" and he did not expect them to come immediately. Ever since Christ called twelve men to reform the world majorities have often been on the wrong side, but they never changed right and wrong, and never will. There were many sides to his nature. He had a strong side for humanity; he loved man as man and labored for his welfare. His preaching was practical and always evangelical; his desire was to do good, he aimed directly at the heart, and felt that his commission was to preach "the word" and not the theories of men. He had no faith in old errors coming under the title of "advanced thought." But he had faith in truth, and did not believe that man had got in advance of the God of truth. Brother Doust was a man of prayer. He prayed well; for directness, appropriateness, and comprehensiveness, he had few equals. He was a true, loyal Methodist preacher, doing faithfully all the work that belonged to a pastor. He took his appointment from the Bishop; if it was a small one he said, "It is my duty to make it large," and if it was a large one, he went to that also and proved that no mistake was made by the appointing power.

Central New York Conference.

WILLIAM A. ELY was born at East Haddam, Conn., Nov. 1, 1846, and died at Mansfield, Pa., June 4, 1885. He had just completed a few months of especially severe labor in revival work, when his health, which for years had not been firm, suddenly gave way under the grasp of typhoid fever. From this he found no release until upon that morning of June, while the shadows were yet heavy upon earth, his spirit entered into the brightness beyond. Brother Ely joined the first fall session of the Central New York Conference in 1872. He was soon after married to Miss Maggie Lewis, of Clayville, N. Y., who admirably supplemented his work by an unselfish devotion to the interests of her husband and the churches where he was appointed to labor. He served successively and honorably the following charges: Fairville, Marion, Wellsburg, Groton, Oneida, Phelps, and Mansfield, where he was pastor when God called him. Brother Ely's work was well done. Conscientious fidelity was a marked trait. There was nothing showy or sensational about him. He detested shams. He did not, perhaps, build as rapidly as some, but what he constructed was strong and safe. Wherever he was pastor the church was educated to work systematically and after disciplinary plans. He was thoroughly and constantly devoted to the conversion and culture of souls. He thought that revivals were the logical result of a consecrated church; the members were taught how to work, and the spiritual children were healthy and trained for usefulness. He gave special attention to the Sunday-school and the Christian education of the young. He organized young people's associations and church lyceums, and gave personal attention to their management. All his sermons were carefully written. He allowed nothing to interfere with his preparation for the pulpit; and this labor he continued, during years of frail health, until God said, "It is enough." He was an ardent admirer of the beautiful in nature and art. He was an enthusiastic lover of books, and had a carefully selected library. He was somewhat reserved in temperament, but was warm in friendships, and as true as the tempered steel to every person and interest where his faith was plighted. Every one who knew him would say of him, he was a manly man. True to his convictions, at whatever cost, he won and held the respect and confidence of all; and those who began to respect soon learned to love him.

EBEN L. NORTH, a venerable and widely known minister, generally spoken of as Father North, died on July 27, aged nearly ninety-two years. He was born in Granville, Washington County, N. Y., Nov. 15, 1793, and two years later came with his parents to Onondaga County. He was fairly educated for the times; converted and called to the ministry early. After a few years of usefulness as a local preacher he joined the old Oneida Conference in 1833. Brother North, years ago, formed the first Methodist class in what is now the city of Syracuse. His fields of labor, as a member of Conference, may be stated briefly as follows: Lenox, Slaterville, Cortland Circuit, Greene Circuit, Westford, Sharon, Canajoharie, Litchfield, Springfield, Decatur, Otsego, Westford, Cardiff, Amboy, Tully, and Scott. Here his effective relations to the Conference closed. From 1858 to 1868 his relation was that of supernumerary, and from 1869 to the time of his death that of superannuation. During this long period he resided where he died, and was a helper and a comfort to the ministers succeeding to the charge. For many years he held the office of postmaster at South Onondaga. Three sons and one daughter survive him. One of his sons, John E. North, Esq., is a much esteemed resident of Syracuse. The surviving daughter, Miss Eliza North, has the sympathy of a numerous circle of friends in her debility and loneliness. The first wife of our brother died early; his second, a worthy woman, died some thirteen years ago. The last days of Brother North were days of usefulness to the extent of his strength, and, as his end approached, he was most wonderfully filled with joy and triumph. The Church will long cherish his memory.

M. Z. Haskins was born at Keene's Settlement, N. Y., June 20, 1843, and died at Cincinnatus, Oct. 16, 1884. He was converted in his youth, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, and from the time of his conversion he had strong convictions of duty in the direction of the ministry; but for a long time he shrank from the responsibility. In the fall of 1869 he attended a camp-meeting at M'Lean, and there, after a severe struggle, he yielded to his convictions, promised God he would do the work he required, and found peace. In the spring of 1871 he was sent by the presiding elder to Union Valley as a supply, and at the next session of the Conference he was appointed to East Homer, and in succession to New Woodstock, Preble, M'Grawville, and Cincinnatus. Brother Haskins was a beloved and successful pastor on all his charges, on all of which souls were converted as the result of his labors. He was a thorough Methodist, a sound theologian, an acceptable preacher, a sympathetic pastor, a kind husband and father, and an honest man. His sickness was of short duration, only thirteen days, and his death was one of great peace.

Kentucky Conference.

Miles Dye Murphy was born in Mason County, Ky. Of the time of his birth we have no certain knowledge. In the year 1871, being then a resident of Lewis County, Ky., he married Miss Sarah F. Burris. It was not long after his marriage that he became deeply convinced of sin, and was received on probation in the Methodist Episcopal Church by Rev. J. W. Muse. In the winter of 1873 he applied to the District Conference for license as a local preacher, and was recommended to the Annual Conference for admission on trial. In March, 1874, he was received into the Conference as a probationer, and appointed to the Fox Springs Circuit, of the Maysville District. On this circuit he remained two years and did effective work. Among other things he secured the building of a good, substantial church. At Conference in 1876 he was received into full connection, ordained deacon, and appointed to Sherburne Circuit, where he remained one year. In 1877 he was appointed to the Nicholas Circuit, and remained two years, at the close of which he was ordained elder, and appointed to Germantown Circuit; re-appointed at the Conference of 1880, and remained six months. At the Conference held in October of 1880 he was sent to Foster Circuit, and at that of 1881 was sent to the Crittenden Circuit, and remained one year. He was appointed to the Concord Circuit from the Conference of 1882; was superannuated at the Conference of 1883, but was afterward appointed by the presiding elder to supply Fox Springs Circuit. For several years before he superannuated he suffered severely from rheumatism and neuralgia. During the summer of 1884 his mind became so seriously impaired that he was relieved by the presiding elder of his pastoral work; and continuing to grow worse in his mental and physical condition he was sent to the asylum at Anchorage, Ky., where, on Feb. 24, 1885, he died, without having recovered from his mental malady. Brother Murphy was a true man to his convictions, an earnest, faithful, and successful pastor. He built up the Church by conversions and additions, and continued to labor when labor was to him a cause of excruciating pain. His experience in spiritual things was sound and clear. The last time he spoke to his presiding elder on the subject he expressed himself as resting on Christ and enjoying a present salvation.

William B. Edmunds was born in Amherst County, Va., March 5, 1806, and died Sept. 30, 1884. He was converted in September, 1833, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, being then a resident of Kentucky. In 1834 he was married to Miss Mary Hawkins, who lived only two years, and in 1837 to Miss Martha W. Bates, who survives him. Soon after his conversion he felt called to preach the Gospel, and was licensed to preach in 1843. In 1850 he was appointed a supply and junior preacher on Greensburg Circuit, under Rev. James Penn. In 1851 he joined the Louisville Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and served in its bounds some years. In 1867 he united with the Kentucky Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and afterward traveled successively the following circuits: Bowling Green, Marion, Scottsville, and Little Barren. Feeling unable to do further effective work, owing to age and poor health, he took a superannuated relation, and for some time was a great sufferer. Shortly before he died he was told he would soon be in heaven. He answered, "Yes! Yes!" So passed away a faithful minister of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Zachary M. Taylor, son of Rev. George W. Taylor, a very distinguished Methodist preacher of the Kentucky Conference in its earlier history, was born in Adair County, Ky., in 1815. His conversion occurred when quite young. He united with the Methodist Episcopal Church about the same time. October 14, 1840, he was admitted on trial into the Kentucky Conference, and appointed to Glasgow Circuit as junior preacher. At the Conference of 1841 he was made preacher in charge at Bowling Green. He was received into full connection and ordained deacon in 1842, and appointed on the Taylorsville Circuit. In 1844 he was ordained elder, and sent to Brook Street Church, Louisville. In the following spring, 1845, he adhered to the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and from 1844 his name no longer appears in our General Minutes. Having no access to the Minutes of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, we cannot give any thing definite of his fields of work, until he was re-admitted to the Kentucky Conference, which took place in the spring of 1874. At the session of 1874 he was made presiding elder of the Louisville District, and continued in that relation for four years. At the close of this term he received a supernumerary relation, and in 1882 he was by this Conference placed in a superannuated relation. The last work he did was to travel on the Hopkinsville Circuit while supernumerary. In a very feeble state of health he accepted the kind offer of a home from a venerable member of our Church on Hopkinsville Circuit, where he remained until death released him from the sufferings of life.

Hartwell J. Perry was born in Shelby County, Ky., Nov. 1, 1806. April 16, 1826, he, with his mother, united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. He at once became an earnest and active worker in the vineyard of the Lord. He received license to preach, March 13, 1830, and on Oct 14, 1830, was received on trial in the Kentucky Conference, at its session in Russellville, and appointed to Cumberland Circuit. There were twenty-three preaching places to be visited once a month. The people were poor, rides long, fare meager, and compensation so insignificant, that at the end of six months, having traveled more than thirteen hundred miles, and preached one hundred and fifty times, he had received one dollar and fifty cents traveling expenses, and sixty-eight and two thirds cents as salary. In 1831 he was appointed to the Danville Circuit, and successively to Greensburg, Danville, Newport and Covington, Cynthiana, Bowling Green, Georgetown, New Castle, Nicholasville, Harrodsburg District, Mount Sterling, Soule Chapel, Covington; Salvisa, Woodford and Jessamine, Versailles and Georgetown, Washington and Germantown, Flemingsburg, Millersburg, Newport, and Oxford. At the Covington Conference in 1865 he severed his connection with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and connected himself with the Methodist Episcopal Church, and was successively appointed to Nicholas, Maysville, Lexington District, Danville, Dayton and Belleview, Harrodsburg, Nicholasville and Buena Vista. At the Barboursville Conference in 1883 he was placed on the superannuated list, which relation he sustained to the Conference at the time of his death, which occurred at the Kentucky Central Camp-ground, Sept. 7, 1885. He was a man of the tenderest affection. No man was a more affectionate husband or father, training his children for the Church and for God. He was in full sympathy with his race; whatever concerned men concerned him. He exercised a large charity, and went about doing good. True to his friends, he was generous to his foes. As a preacher, his sermons were carefully prepared and often very impressive. His death was sudden, and a painful surprise to his family and friends. On the morning of Aug. 27, 1885, he, with his family, drove to the camp-ground. When they reached the gate leading into the grounds it was locked. While waiting for its opening a passing train on the railroad frightened his horse, Brother Perry being out of the carriage, and in his struggle with his horse he was thrown to the ground and trampled on. His right leg was broken, his face and head bruised and cut. Medical assistance was called, and for several days he was quite comfortable; then new and quite alarming symptoms developed, and the case passed beyond the control of physicians and the power of medicine. Perfectly self-possessed, and clearly understanding the result, he was not appalled, but quietly submissive. When it was said to him, "You are crossing the river," he replied, pleasantly, "Yes, but it is rough, hard rowing." Then to the question, "Are there any clouds or storms?" came the answer, "No, all is calm." When asked if he had any word to send to the Conference he said, "No, only that I love the brethren, and tell them to love one another."

Rock River Conference.

James Adams Kerr was born in Kingston, Canada, June 9, 1845. When about fifteen years old he removed to Iowa. In 1872 he was united in marriage with Miss Lois O. Hess. In the Upper Iowa Conference Brother Kerr served the following appointments: Parkersburg, Clarence, Lansing, Ackley, Iowa Falls, Wyoming, West Union, and M'Gregor. Two years ago he was transferred to the Rock River Conference, and stationed at Grace Church, Elgin. Here he held almost continuous revival services. He was very busy also planning and pushing forward to completion the church building. The church membership doubled the first year, and increased in like ratio afterward. His health began to fail under this strain, but he was not willing to give up. He kept working on until forced by weakness to let go his hold. Five years ago he was suddenly overwhelmed by suffering in the death of his entire family of children. From this terrible shock his nervous system, notwithstanding his absorption in hard work, never fully recovered. Yet to the last he bore untold sufferings with the patience and cheerfulness born of unfaltering trust in God. He went South in search of health. Here he found a true friend in Rev. Mr. Crawford, who, learning that a fellow-preacher was in his neighborhood, possibly near death, found him out, ministered to every want with the fidelity of a brother as long as life lasted, then closed his eyes in death. He yielded up his spirit to God, March 30, 1885, at Mobile, Ala. His body was brought North and laid among his children in the cemetery at West Union, Iowa. Brother Kerr was a very excellent preacher, abreast of the times, alert to the movements in society, firm in the advocacy of reform, and true always to the great central and absorbing theme of the Gospel minister, "Christ the Alpha and Omega." As a pastor, he excelled because of his gentlemanly bearing and his great sympathy. Brother Kerr leaves a wife and daughter to mourn their loss.

John H. Reeves was born in Gloucestershire, England, Aug. 13, 1835, and died Feb. 13, 1885, in Harvard, Ill. In 1857 he came to Rockford, Ill. At nineteen he was converted and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. In 1862 the Quarterly Conference of the Court Street Church, without his knowledge, voted him a license as a local preacher, and in 1863 he was admitted on trial in the Rock River Conference. After serving the churches on the Lena and Nora Circuits, and for a few months laboring with the Second Church at Freeport, his health failed. He was not admitted into full connection in the Conference until 1867, and until 1875 his name was on the supernumerary list. In 1872, and three years thereafter, he filled the pastorate at Harlem, doing noble service. In 1875 his health had become sufficiently restored and he was stationed at Roscoe. That pastorate of three years was followed by pastorates of like duration at both Marengo and South Belvidere, in each of which his labors were abundant and his success cheering. At the late Conference he was stationed at Harvard, but had hardly entered upon his work when he was stricken with fatal disease. In January, 1869, he was married to Fannie Milton Reeves, who, in deep bereavement, survives him. Brother Reeves possessed a peculiarly tender heart, refined sentiments, and ardent temperament, and in his home found his earthly type of heaven. He was eminently emotional, ardent, and affectionate. His last sickness was a spiritual triumph. One day he put his hands together, and, with a beaming face, said: "It is all clear."

Augustus C. George was born at Avon Springs, N. Y., April 22, 1824. He entered Genesee Conference in 1847. For eighteen years he served important charges in Western New York, and as presiding elder of Rochester and Elmira Districts. In 1865 he went to Saint Louis, serving as pastor of Union Church and of Central Church. In 1872 he was pastor of First Church, Elmira. In 1875 he went to West Virginia, and was stationed first at Wheeling and afterward at Parkersburg. From this place he was transferred to Centenary Church, Chicago. After three years of arduous toil he was stationed at Langley Avenue, Chicago. But, alas! his work was done. The achievements had already been too crowded for the years. In spite of better climate and highest medical skill the tall, spare, commanding form bent and broke. He died at Englewood, Aug. 7, 1885, and after appropriate services at Centenary Church, was borne by loving hands and laid away in Rose Hill Cemetery. His sermons were clear, carefully prepared, and convincing, filled with clear analysis, pertinent illustrations, and effectively delivered. He was a decidedly positive man. He instinctively found a place on one side of every important question. He was ever definite in aim, clear in defense, persistent until the accomplishment, as a student in boyhood, as a preacher at twenty-three, as a partisan in reform, as a patriot in the peril of his country, and as a saint until his blessed coronation. He allowed no great movement, good or bad, to spring up into power without his investigation. He took a firm Christian position in each right to be defended, and against each wrong to be denounced. This was his manner from his youth up, but especially we rejoice in his warrior's struggle and victory in molding the new and nobler sentiment in Church and in State during his residence in the South. If his most vigorous efforts were expended here, it was the field prepared to give greatest harvest to the good seed. Dr. George was an active worker in three General Conferences, being elected in 1864 from the East Genesee, in 1872 from the Saint Louis, and in 1876 from the Central New York, in which he presented and advocated the plan of the Ecumenical Conference. He had a peculiar power in seizing the general and comprehensive truths of each subject or situation presented. He had, also, what is rarely combined with this wide grasp of thought, the power to be a laborious delver in details. His favorite motto was, "If a man is engaged in mining he must keep digging." By this he was able to do a vast amount of writing. Besides a great number of essays, editorials, and reviews, he has produced excellent books: "Counsels to Converts," "The Satisfying Portion," "Short Sermons on Consecration." His work in Chicago is a remarkable illustration of this view of his work-life.

Frederick R. Mastin was born in England in 1809. At an early day he came to this country and settled in the State of New York. Thus he labored both in that State and in Illinois until 1866. He was received into our Church in 1866, and into the Rock River Conference as an itinerant preacher. For seven years he did effective work among us, and then, because of physical disability, superannuated and settled with his family at Lanark, Ill., where he spent the remainder of his days. For several years after he retired from the active work he was still able to render valuable services to the Church where he worshiped, both in pulpit ministrations and in the social meetings. Our brother was not a scholar trained in the schools of learning, yet he was an earnest student of the word. He had also a deep insight in the things of God; hence his preaching was eminently scriptural, and was wrought out of a deep spiritual experience. On Nov. 17, 1884, the Master called him home. His end was peace.

Leander S. Walker was born in Claremont, N. H., April 24, 1809, and died at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. J. W. Stark, Rock Island, Ill., Dec. 13, 1884, aged nearly seventy-six years. He was born again and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, February, 1828, in Michigan, to which place he had removed with his father's family. He removed in 1830 to Indiana, where, in September, 1833, he was licensed to preach, and a few weeks later admitted on trial in the Illinois Conference, after which he received successively the following appointments: Johnsborough, Peoria, Iroquois, Vermillion, Somonauk, Rockford, Crystal Lake, Sycamore, Buffalo, Mount Morris, Daysville and Light-house, Princeton, Roscoe, Chemung, M'Henry, Roscoe; there his health failed, and from 1854–58 he held a superannuated relation. In 1859 he was appointed to Winnebago, then to Marengo, Durand, Rochelle, agent of Rock River Seminary, Bethel, and Prophetstown. Here his health failed, and he received a superannuated relation which he retained until the close of his life. The circle of his ministerial life covered a period of fifty-one years. In the pastorate he was much beloved and uniformly successful. His love for the institutions and doctrines of the Church was deep and abiding. He labored in company with the heroic band of pioneer ministers that constituted the Rock River Conference at its organization in 1840. In 1871 he removed to Clarendon Hills, and in 1878 to Rock Island. The Gospel he preached to others sustained him in protracted suffering. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Robert R. Roberts in 1835, and the same year was married to Miss Miriam Palmer, of Ongon, Ill., a Christian lady eminently worthy his companionship. For nearly forty-eight years she nobly performed her part, entering heartily into all his plans, and enduring patiently the privations incident to pioneer life in the itinerancy, and preceded him to glory about two years and a half. He was ordained elder in 1838 by Bishop Joshua Soule. As a minister, he was sound in theology, clear in statement, pathetic in appeal, and earnest and impassioned in applying truth to the conscience. Grace did much for him. His last years were spent in great feebleness, but his mind was too well poised to admit a murmur or a doubt. He had learned the greatest lesson of human life—how to labor and to wait. He was conscious to the last, and rejoiced in his preparation to die.

Samuel Gurdon Lathrop was born in Sharon, Schoharie County, N. Y., March 24, 1820. When twenty-one he entered Cazenovia Seminary, and in six months entered the Oneida Conference, and was appointed to Warren, Oneida County. July 17, 1843, he was married to Cynthia C. Clery. While a member of Oneida Conference he occupied pulpits at Clinton, Andover, Vernon, Madison, Deansville, Earlville, Manlius, and Seneca Street Church, Ithaca, besides serving one year as superintendent of Oneida Conference Tract Society. In 1857 he was transferred and appointed to Indiana Street Church, now Grace Church, Chicago. During Brother Lathrop's pastorate his labors were crowned with great success. From this church he went to Dixon, Ill., where he labored three years, and saved the church's property, which was nearly overwhelmed with debt. While at Dixon the war came. He was elected chaplain of two regiments. He submitted the case to the church, which determined that his duty lay in the pastorate. While serving the church at Joliet he became interested in the prisoners in the penitentiary. He determined to bring about a reform by which a prisoner could have the benefit of sincere Christian teaching and advice, and be encouraged to an honest life. In 1869, Corresponding Secretary W. L. Harris (now Bishop Harris) asked him to become superintendent of missions for Montana Territory. He accepted and immediately went to the new field. He was always self-sacrificing, and had he been solely dependent upon the appointed means and agencies of the Conference he would not have been free from troublous anxiety concerning the comforts of life after his strength failed for active work. By generous arrangement made with one of God's noblemen he was relieved of all care touching these matters. He was a loving husband, an indulgent father, a genial companion. He saw all of life's sunshine. No one ever saw him angry, or heard him speak ill of another. He was tender-hearted as a child, yet in reserve he held the nerve to do his duty under whatever trying circumstances. There were born to him eight children, four of whom passed on before, his wife and four children surviving.

Henry Whitehead was born in Chatham, England, June 17, 1810, and died April 10, 1885. He emigrated to America and settled in Chicago as early as 1832, where he preached to the soldiers and the trader populations. A document still exists which names him as the contractor who erected the first Methodist church building in Chicago. He was admitted into the Rock River Conference on probation in 1840, and was appointed to Root River Mission, where he remained two years; he was admitted a full member of the Conference, ordained a deacon, and sent to Troy, Wis., in 1842, where he also preached for two years; he was ordained an elder, and appointed to Sylvania, Wis., in 1844; he was sent to Elk Grove, Wis., in 1845, and on account of exposure to severe cold while performing the arduous duties of a faithful itinerant, he contracted a spinal affection which compelled him to take a superannuated relation in 1846. For many years subsequently Brother Whitehead, though physically unfitted for the active work of the itinerancy, was identified with the Chicago Book Depository, where his services were valuable in the establishment and development of that concern. His last business connection, which continued until his death, was with the firm of Biglow & Main. Father Whitehead was widely known in Chicago by Christians of all denominations, and his business integrity, religious zeal, and Pauline charity commanded the respect and won the love of all who knew him. His death was mentioned with profound regret by very many of the foremost citizens of Chicago, as his praises were in all the churches. For forty years this saintly spirit dwelt in the midst of us in a frail body, which was subject at times to most severe attacks of pain, but that spirit never lost its devotion, patience, and exultant experience. So powerfully would he at times be baptized with the Holy Ghost that his frail body seemed too weak to stand the glory, and groans of physical agony often attended his shouts of triumphant spiritual joy. Often, after having experienced a divine visitation of blessing, he had to suffer great physical pain, but he looked forward with holy faith and delight to, and frequently spoke of, the day when he would be clothed upon with a body able to endure the spiritual experiences of his redeemed soul. Though he had suffered much for many years, his final illness was brief; it continued from midnight until morning, and when the morning came, to him it was morning forever.

Illinois Conference.

Benjamin Barthelow was born near Baltimore, Md., Sept. 22, 1823, and died at Philo, Ill., Feb. 16, 1885. He was converted and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church when but eleven years of age. In his twenty-first year he married Miss Mary Heller, of Old Town, Tuscarawas County, O. In 1854 he moved to Illinois, and entered upon the active work of the ministry in the Illinois Conference. He performed thirty years' efficient service to the Church in the ranks of the ministry. During this time he was pastor of the following charges: Randolph Grove, Waynesville, Mount Pulaski, Martinsville, Charleston, Leroy, Mount Pleasant, Mason City, Philo, Camargo and Newman, Urbana Circuit, Ogden, Seymour, Atwood, Cisco. Notwithstanding he was born where slave sentiment prevailed, he was opposed to slavery from his youth. As a patriot, he did all he could to crush out rebellion. Kept at home by an invalid wife, he sent two sons to defend the Union. His eloquence was the means of rousing others to a high pitch of enthusiasm for the country's safety. Brother Barthelow was a Christian gentleman wherever he was. As such he was in the confidence of all who knew him. He was a man of great faith, possessed of a sweet spirit, and knew his Father's will and did it. As a preacher, he was instructive, sound in doctrine, and betrayed much earnestness of soul under a calm demeanor. He held exalted views of the work of the Christian ministry. Whatever the Church committed to his oversight was carefully looked after. His end was in keeping with his life. When visited by Rev. R. Stephens, of Philo, toward the close, he gave repeated assurances of tranquillity of spirit. When asked, "What shall I say to the Conference?" he replied, "If there be an opportunity, tell my brethren in the ministry that my love for them is abiding." When told that he was weak and could not remain long, he said, "It is all right. I am not disappointed. Christ is so precious. The best of all is, God is with us."

James C. Finley, M.D., was born in Somerset County, N. J., Oct. 10, 1802, and died in Jacksonville, Ill., July 27, 1885. He was converted at eleven years of age. He went to Cincinnati, O., where he married Miss Margaret Smith, a most estimable lady, who preceded him but four years to her heavenly home. Soon after his marraige he removed to Jacksonville, Ill., and engaged in the practice of medicine until 1835. Believing that God had called him to the ministry, he gave up his profession and was admitted on trial into the Mississippi Conference in 1837. The following is a list of the appointments filled by him during his ministerial life: Port Gibson and Grand Gulf, Saint Helena, Feliciana, Corrington; transferred to the Illinois Conference, president of M'Kendree College, Lebanon, Ill.; transferred to Rock River Conference, Grand Detour and Oregon; located and returned to Jacksonville, and engaged in the practice of medicine; re-admitted into the Illinois Conference, Randolph Grove, Island Grove, Naples, Franklin, agent of the Colonization Society, superannuated, remaining in that relation until 1864. He was then transferred to the Southern Illinois Conference, and appointed professor of Greek in M'Kendree College, he having occupied that chair for two or three years previously; 1865, professor in Olney Seminary; 1866, professor in State Agricultural College, at Irvington; 1867, superannuated, in which relation he remained until his death, being transferred to the Illinois Conference in 1871. He lived at Richview, Ill., until 1881, when he returned to Jacksonville, residing with his daughter until his death. Dr. Finley was not a man of great deeds, but he was nevertheless a great man—great in his subjective life, in the qualities of his character. Judged by external appearances, his life seems a comparative failure; but by internal quality, wonderfully successful, and the outward seeming failure arises from his internal greatness. He saw truth so clearly that it fascinated and absorbed his entire being. His moral convictions, because of this intensity and clearness of intellectual vision, were most profound and overmastering. His loyalty to what he believed to be right was supreme. During his illness of two years—in which he was confined to his room and bed—his faith in God was constant and invariable. "I am the happiest man in the world," he would often say. "I have all attention and kindness from my friends, and Christ for my Saviour, and I shall have everlasting life hereafter. I am ready to go at any time, and am anxiously waiting the Master's call." His last words were in answer to his daughter's question, "How are you, father?" "Very comfortable, I thank you," he said, and fell asleep to wake in heaven. As a man, he was honest; as a citizen, public spirited; as a husband and father, kind; as a friend, true; as a writer, able, chaste, and elegant; as a preacher, practical, and sometimes overwhelmingly eloquent; as a teacher, dignified and luminous; and as a Christian, humble, trusting, and joyful.

Des Moines Conference.

William F. Hestwood was born in Delaware County, O., July 4 1836. He was converted at the age of ten years, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church soon after. He came to Iowa in the fall of 1850; was licensed to exhort, August 14, 1859, and licensed to preach in 1860. He was admitted on trial in the Upper Iowa Conference in 1860, was ordained deacon in 1862, and elder in 1864. His first appointment was Maysville, Upper Iowa Conference. He was appointed to Ewing, Liberty, Webster City, Des Moines, Leon, Corydon, Newbern, and De Soto. His health failing at this point he was compelled to take a superannuated relation. Having somewhat recovered in the fall of 1883, he was appointed to the Ohio Circuit, where he remained in charge until his death, March 21. He leaves a wife and eight children. Rev. W. D. Bennett writes: "I have known our brother for ten years, and some of that time under circumstances which gave me knowledge of his inmost character. For two years I was his near neighbor, pastor, and intimate friend. His religion was ever an anchor that held in the storm and sustained him in every hour of trial. His life always seemed to me one continuous self-sacrifice to the Church and his family. His life was a constant exemplification of the fact, that nothing preaches like holy character."

Oscar E. Moore died suddenly, at Coin, Iowa, Dec. 15, 1884. He was blessed with a devoted Christian mother. At the age of nineteen he was converted and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was licensed to exhort in 1868, and in 1869 he was licensed to preach. This year he supplied the Mount Blanchard Circuit, Central Ohio Conference. At the close of the year he was admitted on trial at the Annual Conference held in Toledo, O., and was appointed to the Patterson Circuit, and the next year to William's Center Circuit, and thence to Tontogany Circuit. At the close of this year he was admitted into full connection in the Conference, and ordained a deacon. He had a strong desire to secure a better education, and located for the purpose of going to school. In 1874 he was readmitted, and afterward traveled the following circuits: Leipsic and Deshler, Benton and Kalida, remaining at the last place two years. In 1875 he married Miss Sarah E. Clark, of Tontogany, Ohio. She now survives him with three children. At the Conference of 1876 he was ordained elder. In 1877 his health failed and he moved West. In 1878 he supplied the Exira Charge, Des Moines Conference, and the next year was appointed to Stewart. In 1880 he was transferred to the Des Moines Conference, and in 1881 was appointed to the Lewis Circuit. In 1882 he had charge of Northborough Charge. At the Conference of that year he took a supernumerary relation with the Conference, and settled with his little family at Coin. His health was precarious, but he had a great desire to preach the Gospel. He supplied a part of the Coin work during the latter half of last year. Rev. A. C. Barnes, D.D., of the Central Ohio Conference, his first presiding elder and confidential friend, writes: "I have had many pleasant hours in his society, and when he went West the last time I could not refrain from tears. Somehow I felt we had parted for the last time." Brother Barnes very justly and discriminately says: "The work of his life was the Christian ministry; for this work he had many natural gifts: the grace of pleasing conversation and attractive address, a native oratory, an excellent power of song." His death was very sudden. He retired on Sunday evening in his usual health, after twice participating in the service, of the sanctuary that day. Apparently, after going to sleep that night, he never woke to consciousness again in this life. About one o'clock his wife was awakened by a peculiar sound, and before he could be aroused or medical aid summoned he was gone.

Joseph Warren Coe was born in Beallsville, Monroe County, O., May 17, 1842. When he was converted he first joined the Presbyterian Church with his parents, but afterward joined the Church that had been instrumental in his conversion. He was married to Miss M. J. Taylor, May 21, 1865, in Wheeling, W.Va. He served in a Virginia regiment in the Union Army for thirty-nine months, and was wounded. He joined the Central Illinois Conference in 1866, and in that, and in the Des Moines Conference, he labored faithfully until a very few days before his death. He served the Wataga Circuit, Hopper's Mills, Roseville, Bigsville, Bostwick, Roseville (second term), Cameron, Sunbeam, and Sheffield. He then removed to Iowa and supplied Panora Circuit, Astor, and Griswold, and at the last session of the Des Moines Conference was appointed to Brooks, Adams County. He then removed his family to Indianola to enable his children to enter Simpson College. While holding a protracted meeting on his circuit, in January, he was suddenly taken sick, after having preached from the text: "This year thou shalt die." Acute pneumonia soon developed and he was removed to his family in Indianola, Jan. 20, and on Sunday at noon, Jan. 25, 1885, he departed this life. He was buried at Indianola, Ia., Jan. 27.

Wisconsin Conference.

Alexander C. Huntley was born in Canandaigua, Ontario County, N. Y., Dec. 27, 1819. At the age of thirteen he removed to Ohio with his parents, where in 1837 he was converted, after which he returned to Canandaigua and lived with an older brother. He was married in the spring of 1842 to Miss Agnes Thompson. In September, 1845, he joined the Genesee Conference on probation, and was stationed at Loyalsock. Here he remained two years. Many souls were converted, and forty-seven were received on probation. At Geneva, N. Y., Aug. 29, 1847, he was ordained deacon by the late Bishop Hamline. He received his elder's orders at the hand of the same Bishop at Elmira, N. Y., Aug. 27, 1849. He remained a faithful, earnest, and successful member of the then East Genesee Conference until 1857, when he was transferred to the Wisconsin Conference, and stationed at Watertown. Here his record with us as a Conference begins. Almost twenty-eight years of uninterrupted labor he has given to this Conference. Hartford, Byron, Palmyra, Oconomowoc and Whitewater, Manitowoc and Waukesha are among the places which have felt the influence of his devoted life, his pastoral work, and pulpit efforts. Scores and hundreds of souls have been brought to Christ under his ministerial labors, and will rise up at the last day to call him blessed. At the last session of this Conference he received his fortieth annual appointment as a minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church. On Jan. 4, of the present year, while suffering intensely from bodily ailments, he preached his last sermon. In the month of March he removed from his late charge to the city of Fond du Lac, and for six months he was a most patient sufferer in our midst. During the last few weeks of his sickness his disease was such that for the most part he talked but little, but his friends were always greeted with a smile and some kind word. He died Sept. 7.

Joseph M. Walker was born among the hills of Greene County, Pa., in the year 1823. He grew to manhood in the Old Dominion, where, after a good academical education in Brook Academy, he prepared himself for the legal profession. Before he had entered upon the law, a Methodist recruiting officer, Bishop Hamline, met him. Impelled by his new-found love for the cross, Brother Walker gave his name and was enrolled in the Rock River Conference in 1845, and stationed at Elkhorn, Wis. His earnest devotion and intelligent zeal won immediate and continued success. In January, 1848, at the altar of Waukesha church, where he had so often officiated, he was united in marriage with Miss Alma C. Taylor. His earlier appointments included Waubasha, Delavan, Waukesha, Geneva, Beloit, Whitewater, and Beaver Dam. For four years he presided over Beaver Dam District, and subsequently filled Spring Street, Waukesha, and Beaver Dam for the second time, also Oshkosh and Green Bay. For a year at le st he was an efficient army chaplain. From Omro he was made presiding elder of Waupaca District. So well did he perform his duties that, at the end of two years, Bishop Harris placed him in charge of Appleton District. After four years of wise and laborious administration he left the district in fine condition, and, with the zeal of youth, took up the pastoral work at Ripon. He was conquering difficulties and conjuring success out of ruin, when the Master invited him into the mansion prepared for him. He served his Conference as delegate to the General Conference in 1876 and 1884. His sufferings during his last illness were extreme. He often wondered uncomplainingly at the mystery of suffering. Yet faith triumphed. His frequent exclamations were: "All is bright beyond the river." "I am at the brink, waiting." "I have many friends to hold me here, but many beckon me over."

James Richardson was born in Cavan, Canada, Nov. 18, 1841. He was converted when quite young In 1873 he was married to Miss Cornelia Adaline Sowle. He was admitted into the Wisconsin Conference at Fort Atkinson in 1878, and served the following charges: Jefferson and Oakland, Footville, Emerald Grove, Frankville, and Salem, where he labored faithfully until December, 1883, when his health failed and he was compelled to resign his charge, which was a sore trial to him. He attended the Janesville District camp-meeting, and there testified to the power of Christ to sustain him in his affliction. His words made a deep impression upon the audience. This was his last opportunity to testify publicly for Christ. In the fall he began to decline. For two weeks before his death he was a great sufferer. On Monday evening, Dec. 29, at eleven o'clock, his spirit passed to the better land, there to meet his beloved companion who had gone before. In all his sickness Brother Richardson was patient and cheerful, always having a pleasant smile and a cheerful word whenever we met him.

Southern Illinois Conference.

Joseph B. Reynolds was born at Franklin, Morgan County, Ill., April 14, 1834. When twenty years of age he embraced religion, and entered heartily into the service of God. In 1856 he was licensed to preach, and the same year was admitted on trial into the Illinois Conference. In 1858 he was received into full connection, and ordained deacon by Bishop Morris, and two years afterward was ordained elder. The same year he was united in marriage with Miss Prudence Taylor, daughter of Rev. W. H. Taylor, of the Illinois Conference. In 1861 he asked for and obtained a transfer to the North-west Wisconsin Conference. He made this change in the hope of improving his wife's health. He labored faithfully and effectively in that Conference for fourteen years. Four years he was presiding elder of the Eau Claire District. In 1872 he was a delegate to the General Conference. Soon after he was transferred to the Southern Illinois Conference, and stationed at Salem, where he labored with marked acceptability and usefulness for two years; then he was stationed at Brighton three years, and was afterward presiding elder of Vandalia District for a term of four years, after which he was again stationed at Salem, where, in the second year of his pastorate, May 8, 1885, he closed life's labors and entered into rest. He died at his post, in great peace and holy triumph, trusting the Saviour that he had preached. He was an able minister of the Gospel, an earnest worker in the vineyard of the Lord. As a preacher, he was original and eminently practical. He was a safe, judicious administrator of the Discipline of the Church, and as a pastor he excelled. He was genial in companionship, abundant in sympathy, and in his fields of labor he was popular. He died in the vigor of his manhood, in the midst of his usefulness. There is a mystery in this providence; but God rules. The mantle of the deceased will fall upon another.

Oliver V. Jones was born in Caldwell County, Ky., Dec. 28, 1824. While a youth the Spirit of God reached and affected his heart. Born into the kingdom, his life was thenceforward projected upon the plane of harmony with God. Years ago he entered into the experience of that love that casteth out fear. Often, yet modestly, did he testify to the continued application of the blood of Jesus Christ, whereby he was cleansed from all unrighteousness. His daily life was illustrative of his profession. In 1847 he entered M'Kendree College, and was graduated in 1853. He was at once appointed tutor, and soon afterward adjunct professor of Mathematics and English Literature. In 1866 he was called to the chair of Mathematics and Astronomy, a position which he retained until 1879. He was received into the Southern Illinois Conference in 1866, was ordained deacon by Bishop Ames in 1867, and elder by Bishop Janes in 1868. In consequence of his connection with the college, his ministerial labor was nearly all performed in Lebanon and vicinity. Only in one instance did he sustain the relation of pastor, in 1880, when placed in charge of Wisetown Circuit. As a preacher, he was interesting and able, his sermons evincing thorough acquaintance with the word of God, and experience of its power. He leaves a wife, son, and daughter, sadly bereaved by their loss, but rejoicing in the excellence of his character as shown by the record of his life. For several months it was evident that his physical strength was abating; but the severe illness which terminated fatally was but of a few days' duration. He endured his sufferings in the spirit of sweetness, patience, and resignation, giving occasional notes of progress as he passed by the mile-stones marking his pathway of affliction. All was well with his soul as he entered the valley.

Tennessee Conference.

John Seay was born Oct. 9, 1794, and died Feb. 8, 1885, at his home, near Lebanon, Wilson County, Tenn. He never married. In a letter, dated March 10, 1868, to a friend, he says: "I embraced religion on Sabbath night, Aug. 20, 1820, at old Ebenezer, Wilson County, Tenn. I hope I shall never forget that blessed night, when God, for Christ's sake, spoke peace to my soul. I joined the Tennessee Conference in 1821, and traveled eight years, the happiest days of my life." He was among the first ministers who preached in Memphis. His circuit extended over the territory now occupied by nearly a whole Conference, and his appointments were nearly a day's ride apart. The roads were blazed through unbroken forests. He often rode a whole day without seeing a human being. Brother Seay recognized the fact of his stewardship for God. He had long planned to give all his property to the Church for benevolent purposes, and executed a deed in 1883 to the trustees of the Tennessee Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church of all his property in Lebanon, and left by bequest at his death his home-place to the Church South, and to the Methodist Episcopal Church the other half of his farm, about one hundred and fourteen acres. In 1867 the Quarterly Conference to which he belonged, in the Church South, refused to pass his character because he had received and entertained the preachers of the Methodist Episcopal Church. In consequence of this he presented his certificate of location to the Tennessee Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, at Shelbyville, and was placed upon the supernumerary list, and his last request was that his name might remain at the head of the list, and be called from year to year. He lived a very retired life at his home, to which he was closely confined for over three years, as the result of a fall. He was an extraordinary preacher at camp-meetings, and an earnest seeker after the souls of men at all times. He was a slave-holder, and lost his slaves by the emancipation; but he never seemed to feel otherwise than that God had wrought a great deliverance for the country in giving the slaves their freedom. He was a man of great integrity, scrupulously honest, a great friend to the poor, a strong helper of the Negro, a true lover of preachers, and a devout Christian. His end was one of great peace.

Braxton James was converted early in life, and, though a slave, was a useful preacher among his fellow-servants. In 1866 he was received into the Tennessee Conference, at its organization in Murfreesborough, as an elder from the Missouri Conference of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, and appointed to Murfreesborough, which charge he served for three years very acceptably. He was then made presiding elder of the Murfreesborough District for four years. At the end of this time his appointments were Murfreesborough, Stone River, Spring Hill, Columbia, Murfreesborough again, Stone River again, Lebanon, Woodbury, again to Murfreesborough, and Woodbury. His health had been feeble for several years, but he was so full of the desire to work that he could not be persuaded to take any other than an effective relation to the Conference. He continued to serve his appointments even after he had to be helped into the pulpit. He quietly and peacefully fell asleep in Jesus Sept. 7, 1885. He was a good man, an earnest preacher, a faithful pastor, a lover of his Church and his people, and a devoted Christian, rich in the experiences of grace.

Stephen P. Bell was born a slave in Saint Mary's Parish, La., in 1853, and died at Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 1, 1885. He early embraced religion, and devoted himself to duty as a Christian. He was licensed to preach, and evinced more than ordinary ability. He entered the Central Tennessee College in 1879, and devoted himself to the study of the English branches and theology. He was an earnest student. He was admitted into the Tennessee Conference in 1880, and received several appointments, attending school whenever his duties would allow. His last appointment was M'Minnville and Brentwood. He excelled as a pastor and as a director of church work. As a preacher, he had few superiors among the young men in the ministry. He was finishing the theological course in the college, and would have graduated in May. God called for him before he received his college diploma, for his work on earth was done.

Ephraim M. Manson was born in Rutherford County, Tenn., in 1854. Although born a slave, he knew nothing of slavery, as he was too young at the time of the emancipation to know what it really was. He is said to have been the subject of religious experience very early in life, and to have had very clear convictions of his call to the Gospel ministry. He was received on trial in the Tennessee Conference in 1879, and stationed at North Lebanon, and returned to the same charge the next year. In 1881 he was sent to Waynesborough, and in 1883 to Brownsville, where his labors gave such satisfaction that he was returned in 1884. He entered on the year's work with zeal, and in addition to his pastoral work, he engaged in holding Sunday-school institutes. He was engaged in this work when taken sick, on July 28. He lived about two weeks, constantly triumphing in Christ as a present Saviour. He was a student in the Central Tennessee College, and had a fair education. He was a good preacher, a careful pastor, and a prudent man. He was successful in the ministry, and many have reason to rejoice on account of his work. He seemed to be just entering on a life of great usefulness when he was called home.

South-east Indiana Conference.

Albert E. Walker was born in Ashton, England, Dec. 29, 1851. He came to America when a boy. He was married to Miss Emma Gaddis, of Ripley, O., Sept. 23, 1874. He removed to Indianapolis in May, 1875, and was admitted on trial in the South-east Indiana Conference Sept. 5, 1879, and appointed to the Bean Blossom Circuit. In 1880 he was on Holman Circuit, and from 1882 to 1884 served on Asbury Circuit. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Andrews in 1881, and elder by Bishop Foss in 1883. He was a conscientious worker for the Master. Soul-saving was his mission. He was always devoted to his work, and never ashamed of his business. To him the King's business was above all other interests. Brother Walker was an able and successful minister. On Asbury Circuit he built a parsonage, in which he died. When Pleasant Grove Church was torn to pieces by a cyclone, he said, "It must be rebuilt," though others said, "It cannot be done." With courage and faith in God he rallied the people to the enterprise, and came to the dedication with a complete house free from debt. Brother Walker's influence in families where he tarried was excellent, and he was always a welcome guest. His high moral character, fund of knowledge, and religious fervor won for him many steadfast friends. No minister need be more beloved than was Brother Walker on Asbury Circuit, and none need desire to be more deeply mourned. In the midst of usefulness he was stricken down with typhoid fever. After four weeks it was believed that he would recover; but on Sunday morning a sudden change took place, which speedily culminated in death.

Genesee Conference.

John Reed Cathin was born in Seneca, Ontario County, N. Y., April 21, 1840. He was converted at the age of nineteen. July 29, 1863, he was married to Miss Carrie H. Laman. In 1873 he was employed by the Rev. A. F. Morey, presiding elder of Bath District, as a supply for Wayland. He was blessed with a powerful revival, and greatly advanced the Church in all its interests, but would not consent to be recommended to Conference until the expiration of his third year. In 1876 he was received on trial and appointed to Jasper, and re-appointed in 1877. In 1878 he was sent to Clinton Street Church in Lockport, and in 1879 he was admitted into full connection, being a deacon, and was returned to Lockport. In 1880 he was made a General Tract Agent for the Conference, continuing his residence in Lockport. In 1881 he was appointed to Allegheny; in 1882 and 1883 to Sardinia and Protection. At the Conference of 1883 he was elected and ordained an elder. He was prostrated by typhoid pneumonia Feb. 3, 1885, and died Feb. 10, 1885. John R. Cathin was a man of marked characteristics. He was intense in his zeal for God and the salvation of men, in his friendships, in his energy, and in his love for truth. Direct, veracious, transparent, earnest—he had the love of all good men and the respect of all bad ones.

Isaac Everitt was born at Norwich, Chenango County, N. Y., Feb. 5, 1823, and died at Westfield, Pa., Sept. 21, 1885, aged sixty-two years. At the age of twenty-seven years he was married to Miss Amanda Wilson, of East Troupsburg. He was converted in 1841. In the spring of 1857 the presiding elder being in need of a supply at Hammondsport, N. Y., sent him to fill a vacancy, and so creditably were his services rendered that he was recommended to join the East Genesee Conference, which convened at Canandaigua, N. Y., and was ordained deacon at the hands of Bishop Beverly Waugh, August 16, 1857. Five years afterward, in the city of Rochester, N. Y., he was ordained elder in the Methodist Episcopal Church by Bishop Levi Scott, and for more than a quarter of a century Brother Isaac Everitt has stood faithfully at his post diligently performing his allotted task. He was a comparative stranger in the northern part of our Conference, having spent his entire ministry in southern New York and northern Pennsylvania; but all who knew him very soon learned to love him. After his ordination his appointments were Caton, Thurston, Whitesville, Canisteo, supernumerary, Whitesville, Knoxville, Mainsburg, Westfield, Burlington, Lindley, North Cohocton, Hammondsport, and superannuated. During the last year of his stay at North Cohocton, his health, which heretofore had been so robust, began to fail him, and, had he taken the needed rest, it might have added to the years of his life; but feeling some solicitude not to be laid aside, he took work at Hammondsport, which taxed his strength beyond all power of endurance, but not until the next session of the Conference did he request a superannuated relation. Often during the last few months of his illness, when asked about his health, he would say: "I am quite well myself, but the house that I live in is quite feeble." Once a friend said to him, "I see you are still in the land of the living." "Well," said Brother Everitt, "I must answer you as one of my parishioners did Judge Huntington, who called to see him: 'Judge, not quite yet, but almost there. I am now in the land of the dying.'" A little later he was questioned regarding his prospects for the future, and he thoughtfully remarked: "I can see no reason why the God whom I have loved and worked for so earnestly, and who has cared for me thus far so tenderly, should desert me in such an hour as this." At another time, when visited by one of his brethren and asked what word he would like to send to his brethren in Conference, he replied: "Tell them I am all packed up, waiting for my next appointment, and probably shall receive it before they receive theirs;" and all agreed it was the best one he ever received. His death was sudden and unexpected, and yet all who saw him had good reason to know that the end could not be far distant.

James Elijah Latimer, D.D., was born at Hartford, Conn., Oct. 7, 1826. He was graduated from Wesleyan University in 1848. The same year he became Professor of Ancient Languages in Newbury Seminary, Vermont. In 1849 he was elected Professor of Latin and Geology in Genesee Wesleyan Seminary; in 1851, Principal of the New Hampshire Conference Seminary; in 1854, Principal of Fort Plain Seminary, N. Y.; in 1858, Professor in Elmira Female College. In 1858 he joined the East Genesee Conference. In 1861 he was appointed pastor of the First Church, Elmira, which position he ably filled for the full legal period of two years. In 1863 he was stationed at Asbury Church, Rochester. After two years of successful administration over that society he was appointed to the First Church, Rochester. He visited Europe in 1868 to study methods of instruction in England and on the Continent. On his return he was stationed at Penn Yan, N. Y., but at the end of his first year he was called, in 1870, to the professorship of Historical Theology in Boston University. After eight years he was transferred to the chair of Systematic Theology in the same institution, and became Dean of the Faculty, in which position he continued till his death. Dr. Latimer was a man of rare talents and attainments. He was gifted with a mind of unusual keenness and strength. To remarkable quickness of perception he united that readiness of utterance that made him a facile writer and a brilliant conversationalist. His social qualities made him a great favorite with his associates, and gave him commanding power over his students. As a preacher he was always instructive, and as a teacher remarkably successful. His clear-cut utterances and thoroughly studied methods left deep impressions on those who were so fortunate as to be his pupils. Probably for few instructors have young theologians entertained a more hearty affection or retained a more pleasing recollection. He was stricken down in the meridian splendor of his usefulness, and while busy in preparing a work on Systematic Theology that all hoped might rank as a standard authority in the Church to which he has so steadily and lovingly given the loyalty of his heart and the labor of his life.

Central Illinois Conference.

George W. Burns was born in Wheeling, W. Va., June 20, 1834, and died at Kewanee, Oct. 14, 1884, where he had gone to attend the session of his Annual Conference. At the age of nineteen he made a profession of faith in Christ and united with the Methodist Protestant Church, of which his father was, for many years, a prominent minister. At the age of twenty-two he was graduated at Madison College, and at twenty-three he entered the itinerant ministry of that Church. When the Methodist Episcopal Church incorporated lay representation into its polity, it became the Church of his choice, and he legally and honorably changed his ecclesiastical relations, and was admitted into this Conference about twelve years ago. He had rendered about eleven years of efficient service among us, and had been re-appointed to Chenoa Charge for the second year. Brother Burns was highly esteemed among his brethren as a Christian gentleman, a companionable brother, and an efficient Gospel minister. For several years he was the authorized Conference reporter, and one of the most competent we ever had. He had been in feeble health for several weeks before the meeting of his Conference, and was scarcely able to attend the session of that body. He grew very much worse after attending one or two days. It was on Saturday afternoon of the Conference that he took to his bed and sent word to Dr. Adams, of the "Illinois Wesleyan," that he was very sick, and for him to come and see him. The doctor went, and found him, as he had said, very sick indeed, and when he took final leave of him, on the following Monday afternoon, Dr. Adams said he had the impression somehow that he was shaking hands with him for the last time. He tried to repel the thought, but it would obtrude itself into his mind. Brother Burns was called from labor in the meridian of his usefulness, when he was best qualified, by ripe experience and culture, to do the most efficient work. For about twenty-seven years it had been his privilege to be present to answer to his name at roll-call. He literally fell at his post, with his face Zionward. That same Gospel which he had recommended so faithfully to others, and which he had found to be so full of comfort to his own soul while living, was the same unchangeable, all-sufficient reality when the closing hours of life came.

Uriel Joshua Giddings was born, March 16, 1813, in Coos County, N. H. He was converted when sixteen years old. He was licensed to preach, August, 1840. A part of the year following he supplied Monmouth Circuit. In November, 1844, Rev. Luke Hitchcock, presiding elder of Ottawa District, Rock River Conference, employed him to take charge of Mercer Circuit. In 1845 he was received on trial by the Rock River Conference, and ordained a deacon by Bishop Morris. He was returned to Mercer Circuit, which was put into Peoria District, Rev. Richard Haney presiding elder. He served successively the following charges: Mercer, Marietta, Farmington, Middleport, Brimfield, La Harpe, Carthage, agent Hancock County Bible Society, Camden Mills, Red Oak Grove, Victoria, Kewanee, and Port Byron, when he was transferred to the Missouri Conference. He was transferred back to the Central Illinois Conference in 1869, and appointed to Groveland Circuit, Spring Lake, Union and Towanda, Lexington, and Chenoa. Here he finished his pastoral work. In 1874 he superannuated, and continued in that relation until his death. Brother Giddings was twice married: first to Amanda M. Stafford, afterward to Martha E. Rose. Brother Giddings was a man of more than ordinary natural ability; he had a retentive memory, a quick perception, a ready utterance, and a clear ringing voice. As a preacher, he was practical, and sometimes truly eloquent; his aim always seemed to be to convince and instruct, and he succeeded to a creditable degree. He was gifted in prayer. He had a strong physical constitution, and most of his life enjoyed good health. About three years before his death he had a paralytic stroke, from which he never wholly recovered. About six weeks before his death he was seized with a trouble of the heart, something he had never known before; a few days later he was attacked with pneumonia, which terminated fatally April 29, 1885. "His end was peace."

William M. Clark was born in Bourbon County, Ky., July 26, 1805, and died at his home in Abingdon, Ill., Jan. 18, 1885, aged eighty years. He lived in his native State eighteen years, in Indiana twelve, and in Illinois forty-nine years. He was a professor of religion sixty-four years, and a Methodist preacher fifty-nine years. He was married to Lydia Carmichael, in Cook County, Ind., Sept. 3, 1826. He was converted in 1820, licensed to exhort in 1825, licensed to preach in 1826, received on trial in the Indiana Conference in 1833, and ordained elder by Bishop Roberts at Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 21, 1835. His first circuit was large, having twenty-eight appointments, requiring four hundred and sixty miles of travel in four weeks. He located and came to Illinois in 1836, and joined the Illinois Conference in 1838. When the Conference was divided, in 1844, his lot fell in the Rock River Conference; and when that Conference was divided, in 1856, he became a member of the Central Illinois Conference, of which he was a member at the time of his death. Among the circuits he traveled in this Conference were the following: Canton, Monmouth, Farmington, La Fayette, Mercer, Macomb, La Fayette, and Oneida. For several years before his death he was a superannuated member of this Conference. As a preacher, in the days of his efficiency, he was much more than ordinary, preaching the doctrines faithfully, expounding and aptly quoting the Holy Scriptures. He was not only a good preacher but a good hearer. There are members of the Conference who can never forget the inspiration that came from his earnest, tearful eyes, and his hearty responses to the truth. During much of his life he was subject to changes in religious experience, being sometimes jubilant and sometimes greatly depressed. A few years before his death he seemed to be ripening for heaven. Often during the last few weeks of his life he spoke of waiting to go, and of meeting the dear ones who had passed on before. On Saturday evening, Jan. 17, being in a state of stupor that required an effort to arouse him, a friend called to see him, and after being awakened he expressed his confidence in Jesus, then went to sleep, and awoke, as we confidently believe, in glory.

John Luccock died at Half Moon Bay, California, Sept. 9, 1885, aged eighty-one years. He was born in England, and converted in early life. Coming to this country, he was admitted as a probationer in the Pittsburg Conference in 1832, ordained a deacon in 1834, and an elder in 1836. At the formation of the Erie Conference, in 1836, he became a member of that body, and served in the best charges in the Conference with great acceptability and usefulness, showing himself to be an able minister of Christ. In 1846 he located, and in 1847 his name appears in the Rock River Conference, where he remained filling important charges until 1856. By the division of Rock River Conference he became a member of the Peoria (now Central Illinois) Conference, where he remained in active work, as a pastor and presiding elder, leading on the Israel of God to victory. In all his appointments he showed himself to be an able defender of the faith "once delivered to the saints. He felt that he was "set for the defense of the Gospel," and was ready to expose error in every form in which it appeared. No man ever labored more diligently to fulfill his ordination vow than he; always ready to drive away erroneous and strange doctrines from the Church of God, that the faith of the people might not stand in the wisdom of man, but in the power of God. Advanced in years, and worn by hard labor in the Master's work, in 1874 he asked and obtained a superannuated relation, in which he continued until death. Dr. Luccock was a good man, a true friend, an affectionate husband, and a kind father. In distant California Christian hands laid the faithful warrior down to rest, in sure and certain hope of a glorious resurrection at the last day.

Austin Conference.

Samuel M. Kingston was born in Ireland, and died in Waco, Texas, February, 1885, aged seventy-three years. He came from Tennessee to Texas several years ago. Like many others in the South, and especially citizens of foreign birth, he was, in heart, loyal to the Union. When the war was over he left the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, of which he was a member, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, whose work was at that time being organized in Texas. He remained in connection with the Texas Conference as pastor, presiding elder, and supernumerary for several years. In 1881 he was transferred to the Austin Conference, and remained in a superannuated relation until his death. While on the way from his home, at Milano Junction, to Eddy, on business, he was suddenly stricken down while on the cars, and was removed to a hotel in Waco, where he died without being able to communicate with those about him. Brother Kingston was a man of good natural endowments, genial disposition, and earnest piety. The very slight acquaintance the writer had with him made a most favorable impression, and he remembers with pleasure his fervent prayers, his earnest exhortations, and his emphatic testimony to the saving grace of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Holston Conference.

W. B. Ballenger was born June 25, 1825, in Blount County, Tenn. He professed religion in early life, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. After reaching manhood, being called to preach, he spent some time in school preparing himself for the work of the ministry. By close application to his calling he became an acceptable and efficient minister. At the commencement of the late war Brother Ballenger united with the Union cause, for which he was arrested and imprisoned by the opposite authorities, and subjected to many indignities. But after the cloud of war passed away he at once united with the Methodist Episcopal Church and her ministry, and wrought faithfully in the Lord's vineyard until Oct. 15, 1884, when he was called from labor to rest. He leaves a widow and an only son to mourn their loss.

[The following obituary from the East Ohio Conference was received too late to appear in its proper place.]

G. Dunmire was born near M'Veytown, Mifflin County, Pa., March 21, 1832, and died in Cortland, Trumbull County, O., May 20, 1885. He early became a teacher in the public schools. In the course of time he engaged in this profession in Punxsutawney, where he became acquainted with Miss Lucretia Drum, to whom he was married in 1854. In 1857 he was recommended to the Erie Conference, which held its session in Ravenna, O. At this point begins his itinerant career, which continued for a period of twenty-eight years. He filled the following appointments: Callensburg, Warsaw, Brady's Bend, Troy, Putneyville, Panama (N. Y.), Conneautville (Pa.), Wheatland, Portland (O.), Niles, Saybrook, Conneaut, Greensburg, Vienna, Orangeville, Sparta, and Jackson. Having early consecrated himself to the work of the ministry, he cheerfully accepted of these appointments, and resolutely went forward in the performance of the duties involved. His energies relaxed not, his zeal knew no languor till the task was done. Some two or three years ago Brother Dunmire purchased a lot in the village of Cortland, upon which he erected a dwelling, mainly with his own hands, which he expected would furnish a retreat for his family in case he should become disabled for work. In this he was by no means premature. Scarcely had the earthly house been completed when the house not made with hands was gained. Brother Dunmire appeared as a man of noble physical proportions and vigorous health; but an enemy was silently sapping the foundation of his strength, and brought the structure of his manly frame in ruin to the dust. He died of fatty degeneration of the heart. He was a man of most kindly nature. His heart seemed bubbling over continually with the sweetest sympathies. In the very tones of his voice was a gentleness which attracted attention. A mind well stored with biblical and theological knowledge fitted him for the work of the ministry. Faith, hope, love, zeal, and patience furnished him with weapons to encounter the foes of his calling, and gave him the final victory.
